Northwestern Governors on Tour In a Special Exposition Train

WELVE million people will know a good deal more about the northwest when the 4,000 mile trip of the governors of ten states has come to an end. The Northwestern Development league, which was organized to further the interests of Minnesota, the Dakotas, Montana, Idaho, Oregon and Washington, conceived the idea of sending a special train, with cars containing exhibits of the products of the various states, to the great cities of the east and the middle west. The school children and the general public of the cities visited will be invited to pass through the cars and familiarize themselves with the exhibits. The governors will act as guides to the exhibits and will not lose opportunities to impress upon their visitors the advantages of living in the northwest. Among the members of the party are these executives: A. O. Eberhart of Minnesota, John Burks of North Dakota, R. P. Vessey of South Dakota, E. L. Norris of Montana, Oswald West of Oregon, J. H. Hawley of Idaho, M. E. Hay of Washington, H. W. Johnson of Califormin and J. M. Carey of Wyoming.

JUDICIAL TEMPERAMENT.

At the dedication of the statue of Abraham Lincoln that stands in Kentucky's new Capitol at Frankfort, President Taft made a point thus happily and memorably; "I don't think it too much to say that Lincoln had the most judicial temperament of sny man in history." In a time of the fiercest passion Lincoln personally lived, thought, and worked in a region above it, and reached his momentous conclusions unaffected by it. He was fair to others, held them in in a spirit of unfailing good temper. nothing sarcastic nor even satirical. His illustrations carried a laugh as well as arguments that could not be easiness. Perhaps to accommodate answered. His life-long aim was to him Mr. Taft will write them on anconvince, keeping all efforts to that bestos. end within the bounds of common intellectual rights and the restraints of kindly feeling. Electric Christmas Gifts Are Popular

They still possess that element of novelty dear to the American heart and thus solve the problem of giving Christmas gifts that are 'different."

Imagine how pleased most men would be to receive an electric shaving cup or electrc cigar lighter, instead of neckties, socks, and handkerchiefs, "as usual."

A tea kettle for grandmother, a samovar for Madame's five o'clock teas, a chafing dish for the college girl or bachelor maid, a disk stove for the bachelor, a flat iron or sewing machine motor for the practical housewife--all these novel and useful gifts will be appreciated by whoever receives them.

It should not be forgotten that these electric Christmas gifts are all USEFUL gifts. Each of these devices is designed to do some one thing better than it can be done any other way, whether it is to percolate coffee, toast bread or furnish the power for running a sewing machine. The line of electric Christmas gifts is so complete that in it will be found a suitable gift for every member of the family.
