Cookery Points

Oysters Cooked in Paper Bag.

The following recipe for cooking oysters is declared by an English magazine to be excellent: Drain twelve large oysters on a cloth and egg them carefully. Roll them in fresh breadcrumbs and place in a thickly buttered paper cooking bag, fasten the bag and cook on a grid for eight minutes in a hot oven.

All forms of sweets, from steamed prunes to souffles, can be cooked in paper bags with equal success, and milk rolls can be prepared in fifteen minutes.

Cottage Cheese. Cottage cheese is so easily made at home when there is sufficient milk that it is a pity more housekeepers do not make it an item on the bill of fare.

Apple Pudding. Cover the bottom of a buttered pudding dish with a layer of fine bread crumbs dotted with bits of butter. Spread with a layer of thinly sliced apple seasoned with a sprinkling of lemon juice and a grating of nutmeg.

Tomato Bouillon. Take a clear meat bouillon, beef preferred, and when it is done strain into it a clear essence of tomato.

Fish Cakes. Pick the cooked fish apart, being careful to free it entirely of bones. Reject the skin. Add to the shredded flesh half its amount of dried breadcrumbs and season to taste.

Potatoes au Gratin. The usual way of preparing these much liked potatoes is by no means the best. Instead of sprinkling the cheese over the top when the potatoes are ready to be baked, grate it and blend it into the white sauce before pouring the sauce over the potatoes.

French Pancakes. Use a pancake recipe calling for very little flour, made principally of eggs and milk. Have the batter thin and bake in rather large circles.

Fig Sandwiches. Chop one-quarter of a pound of figs very fine, add one-quarter cupful of water and cook to a smooth paste; add also one-tenth cupful of almonds blanched, chopped very fine and pounded to a paste with a little rosewater.

Common Sense. To act with common sense according to the moment is the best wisdom I know.—Walpole.

Khedive. "Khedive" is the title that is given to the viceroy of Egypt. It means king or lord. A Drawback. Knicker—Do you like the revolving door? Bocker—No; you can't slam it when you are mad.—Judge.

Wanted—A Husband. A HURRIED MARRIAGE THAT WAS NOT REPENTED. By F. A. MITCHEL. Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

The landlord of the Antiers in the village of B., having finished his breakfast, sat him down before an open log fire to read the morning paper.

He was on the eve of a bustle of another kind. Down the road came a sleigh, the driver thrashing the galloping horses that drew it.

"What kind of a husband?" "Any one. Be quick about it or I am lost." The landlord, being a married man, was not himself eligible, much to his regret, for the lady was young and pretty.

Thurber was superintending the unpacking of some boxes of supplies when the landlord of the Antiers came rushing in, exclaiming: "I want a man."

"What for?" asked Thurber, looking up inquiringly. "To marry a young woman who is in a big hurry."

"You don't mean it!" "She says she'll make it worth any man's while to marry her."

"By Jove, I have a mind to go and take a look at her." There was more talk over the matter while the lady was impatiently stamping back and forth across the floor of the inn.

"I expected some ordinary man to give me the legal status of a married woman for a consideration." "I might fill the bill without the consideration."

out any reward except that you shall join a party to be given at my mother's cottage, the guests to arrive this afternoon." The girl thought a moment, then said: "I agree to the terms."

"I am free!" she exclaimed. Then, turning to her husband, she added, "I call upon you to protect me from this man."

The gentleman stood scowling at the two for a moment, then, turning, left the room, saying to Thurber: "You have wed one who has been declared insane, and I question if such a marriage is legal."

When Mrs. Thurber arrived that afternoon at her cottage her son informed her that there was a young lady at the village inn whom he had invited to join their circle.

"You are free to go forth unincumbered by a husband except under the law. But if you will remain with me as my wife I shall consider myself the most fortunate of men."

The lady in the case received the exposure with her eyes bent upon the floor, while the man looked for a moment as if he had been caught stealing.

"My friends, I owe you an explanation for introducing a lady to you as a spinster, she being really my wife."

This "proposal" of a man to his wife the wife took under consideration, promising to give her husband an answer the same evening.

The sudden wedding, which turned out so fortunately, attracted a great deal of attention among the friends of both parties.
