MORNING ENTERPRISE. WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 10, 1912.

Cookery Points

Two Ways to Bake Cookies. Almond Cookies .- One-half pound of butter, one-half pound of sugar, three yolks of eggs, one-half cupful of milk. three cupfuls of flour, rind of one lemon grated, four teaspoonfuls of baking Mix, roll out thin and cut into powder. small cookies with the following on top, of each: Three whites of eggs beaten, three-fourths pound of pulver ized sugar, one-half pound of chopped almonds. Mix well together. Make this one hour before mixing cooky dough.

Oatmeal Cookies .- Cream one cupful of butter, one and one-half cupfuls of sugar till light. Add three eggs beaten light, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, one cupful of shopped nuts, one-half cupful of raisins blended with flour, two cupfuls of oatmeal. Put nuts, oatmenl and raisins through meat grinder. When thoroughly mixed add two cupfuls of flour sifted twice and one tenspoonful of soda dissolved in one tablespoonful and a half of boiling hot water. Drop on cooky pans by teaspoonfuls and bake

Sandwich Filling.

Cold ham and cold chicken minced together make a most delicious filling for sandwiches. Fried ham ground fine is always more savory than boiled ham for sandwiches. In fact, some persons fry the chicken which they are going to use for sandwiches in order to get the delicate browned flavor. The potted meats which come for sandwich fillings are more delicious if they are mixed liberally with mayonnaise dress ing. And these same potted meats are useful in croquettes, souffles and other made dishes. The smallest can of the highly flavored potted meat mixed with the minced meat of which such dishes are to be made is sufficient to give a rich flavor to quite a large amount. Half of a small can is abundant with the meat for croquettes or souffle which is to serve four persons. Most of these meats have a bit of garlic and other high seasonings which the American housekeeper is unwilling to test for herself, but which she is willing enough to use if some one else, like the canner. makes the blend for her.

To Bake a Turkey.

Bake it with the breast down. In this way all the fine flavoring of the turkey, the juice of the dressing and all the daintier julees flow down toward the breast of the fowl, and when the white meat is served you get the full benefit of every flavor added during the processes of preparing and baking the turkey, in addition to the dis- prettiest with the teeth showing a wee tinctive taste of the fowl itself. If you desire to place the fowl on the table but merely suggested." The woman before carving you will find that it will look quite as well as it would if baked and the pictures turned out to be the in the usual way, and certainly it will | most satisfactory she ever had posed taste much better.

Walnut Coffee Cake. of butter, one cupfu

SET IN SATIN AND MARABOU.

Turner began, glancing at the card It is very Frenchy and chic this which bore the young woman's name. season to have an ensemble set, con-Flora Cass. sisting of hat, cape and muff, made of Miss Cass proceeded to relate in a satin and marabou.

Such a smart little outfit is plctured of black satin and white marabou. The muff is an enormous confection of recommendation from the different resembling a big, loosely tied bow. And there is an air of newness about the shoulder cape, which is gathered of dispensing with the services of this in lamp shade effect. competent stenographer. The poke shaped bonnet is becom ing to a piquant face.

"Wear blue ribbons in your hair?" rasped Turner at length, turning his sharp eyes upon her. Parted Lips Soften Photograph. Miss Cass tossed her head defiantly. A woman was being posed for her "Well, nobody ever asked me that quesphotograph in a gallery the other day tion before," she uttered in an offend when a well known actress happened ed tone. in. She stood a few moments watching "Do you?" insisted Ralph Turner. "Sometimes," snapped Miss Cass the struggles of the sitter to assume a satisfactory expression. At last she rather impertinently. offered a small suggestion. "If you will "Well," remarked Mr. Turner, play moisten the lips and slightly part ing with an ivory paper cutter, "I will them," said she, "you will find the face make a note of your name and adtakes on a natural, unstrained expresdress and let you know within a day sion at once. When the photograph is or two whether you will fill our refinished the mouth will not appear to be open in the least, but there will be a quirements." "Old crank!" muttered Miss Cass as soft line where the lips meet. The teeth will not show unless the lips are sep she went down in the elevator. "I'd arated considerably. But as for that, she added, "many a face looks its bit-not displayed in a grin, you know. who was being taken took the advice.

Care of Aluminium. nsils for the

for.

in College. Professor of English-Now, Mr. Twi-In response to his queries she briefly light, can you tell me what the poet set forth her experience in the work. means when he speaks of "the artiloffered her references and stated her lery of the skles?" Mr. Twilight (with price. happy assurance)-Why, the shooting stars, of course!-Judge.

A Man Becomes a Convert

to Its Charms

By CLARISSA MACKIE

Mr. Turner glanced listlessly at the latest applicant for the vacant position in his office. She was a rather tall girl, quite stout, with light hair and blue eyes. There were soft infantile curves to her features that suggested a sentimental disposition. Mr. Turner uttered a soundless snort of contempt.

"What experience have you had?"

monotonous voice that she had been employed by various concerns in the city, and she presented sundry letters establishments, which all appeared to be cheeerfully resigned at the prospect

Ribbon

The Blue

-Byron.

for a dentist."

Ralph Turner nodded his head approvingly as he listened to her recital. When she had concluded he asked with less confidence than he had inquired of Miss Cass.

Joy and Sorrow. Joy's recollection is no longer joy, "Do you wear blue ribbons in your hair?" while sorrow's memory is sorrow still. Hester shook her head, suppressing the smile that struggled to come to the surface. "No," she said gently. Dental Note. "What a big mouth Miss Gap has!" "Yes; I should call it a good opening "You may think it a peculiar question, but the fact is that I've lost five stenographers in the past two years all because they wore ribbons in their hair-married my clerks or my neighbor's clerks or bookkeepers until I've been continually breaking in new typists. I resolved never to hire another young woman who was addicted to the wearing of blue ribbons in her hair." "You may feel perfectly safe so far as I am concerned." assured Hester. "Will you be here tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock?" asked Ralph Turner. "Yes," she replied and went away happy as a bird at the idea of once more being among the workers.

The next morning when Ralph Turner passed through the outer office on the way to his sanctum he nodded approval with a good morning to the slender, dark eyed girl sitting at her desk. He noted that she wore a simple dress of some dark material and that she wore no jewelry, and her abundant bair was neatly dressed. He spent considerable time showing her what to do and explaining the nature of the work she was to perform. She was to be his especial stenographer, and instead of working in the large room where half a dozen other girls clattered away at as many machines Hester Dorman had a small private office near that of Mr. Turner. Hester soon fell in line with her new work and grew to like it. She grew to like Ralph Turner as well and to understand that his outward air of gruffness covered an unusually warm heart and a whimsical turn of mind that made him a most interesting companion.

It was easy to see that Mr. Turner was not interested in women. To him they lived and moved and had their being quite apart from him. The girls in the outer office chattered with their tongues, clattered at the type machines and coquetted with the callow clerks under his very nose, but he saw them not. So long as they turned out good work and obeyed the rules of the office he appeared satisfied. He accepted them as inevitable results of woman's hunger for a busier life. As for his personal stenographer, there it was particular to a fault. But he found little to criticise in Hester Dorman's exquisite neatness of attire and her faultless work.

Hester had been there three months before Raiph Turner looked up from his letters one day and really saw her. He started imperceptibly when he realized that she was pretty-nay, more than pretty; she was beautiful. To gaze at her was like looking at some lovely picture painted from life. Hester Dorman never knew when the transition from his indifference to had never been so contented and hap- to earn his salary tackled him.

ployed you I asked you if you ever

"It was merely a passing fancy on them pray do so. I would not place too many restrictions upon you," he said awkwardly and went into his of-

"How funny!" thought Hester as she resumed her work. "Why should he concern himself over the color of our

Indeed, why? Because Ralph Tur-

were younger and more attractive men

-if he had not demanded that she wish-perhaps her beauty would be bon sort," remarked one flippant youth.

"Because he'll be marrying Miss

The words sang themselves into Tur-

Hester might like him too. In spite of pretty ribbons in his office it was

"Like each other pretty well!"

wore blue ribbons in your hair?"

Ralph Turner paused.

wonderingly.

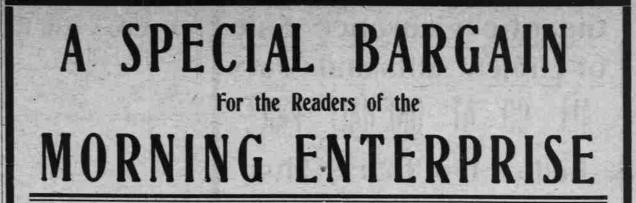

ribbons?"

clerks talking.

"Why?"

the first youth.

py in all her life before.

By special arrangement with the publishers we are able to offer our readers and patrons a most unusual opportunity to secure two of the leading magazines on subscription in connection with this paper at a most remarkably low price. This means a big saving to MORNING ENTERPRISE mail subscribers.

This Is The Offer

to undergo a very strict examination.

"I say, Walter, my boy," he began, in our means and all in the interest land avenue, through an open ditca of the people of the city. to the river interest took place in the breast of her employer. She only knew that she been noticing how little work he did be room for honest discussion and tablishing a sewer district of all that with open minds, and all the facts sugar, one-half cupful of strong coffee infusion, one and three-fourths cupfuls of flour, two and one-half level teaspoonfuls of baking powder, whites of three eggs, one cupful of wainut meats broken in pieces.

Cream the butter, add gradually the sugar, then the coffee and the flour sifted with baking powder Beat well and add the egg whites beaten stiff. then the nut meats. Beat again and bake in shallow pan in moderate oven for forty-five minutes. When cool cover with frosting.

Creamed Celery.

Take the white stalks and hearts of two bunches of celery and boil in sait ed water until nearly tender. Drain and put in a dish to keep hot while the sauce is prepared. Put into a saucepan two tablespoonfuls each of butter and flour and as soon as melted add half a cupful of the water in which the celery was cooked and a generous cup of cream. Cook until thick and smooth, season with salt and pepper, pour over the celery, grate a little nutmeg over the top and serve.

Creamed Oysters.

Splendid for lunches, teas, card partles, etc., a dainty and delicious way for serving oysters. Scald one pint oysters in one pint of boiling water. then drain. Put the water in the saucepan with two tablespoonfuls of butter. a little mace, two bay leaves and salt and pepper. Let it come to a boll and add a tablespoonful of cracker crumbs and haif a pint of cream. Let it come to a boil and add the oysters and then cook two minutes more. Serve on toast.

Molasses Candy.

One cupful of New Orleans molasses. one cupful of brown sugar, a teaspoon ful of vinegar, an ounce of butter. Mix together and boil, being careful not to stir until the sirup hardens in cold water. Stir in a teaspoonful of baking soda and pour into buttered plate, When cold enough pull with the ends of the fingers.

To Salt Almonds

Put the shelled almonds into boiling water to loosen the skins. Rub off the skins, dry the almonds and put them into a spider of boiling olive oil. When they have come to a nice brown drain. put on waxed paper and sprinkle with salt.

CHILD TRAINING.

Bring up a child to observe the ordinary usages of good society, to be careful of the feelings and rights of others, never to intrude, never to listen, never to tattle, always to consider others before itself, and show it by unfailing example that such behavior is expected.

A Good Rule A good general rule is not to neglect | which he evolved the reflecting lightyour work to watch for opportunity .- | house as built in Liverpool. Atchison Globe are becoming daily more popular on ac count of their light weight and clean liness. They must never be washed with soda, soap and water being all that is required, with a little powdered whiting for polishing.

Ready For the Ball.

Chiffon cloth as a material for the evening frock has lost none of its well earned popularity. It lends itself beautifully to draping and is light and at the same time durable. The cut displays another variant of the ubiquitous black and white crea

PARTY PROCE OF CHIFFON CLOTH.

tions which this winter are to be seen

The black velvet sash and wide bands of white cluny lace give the trock on air of exclusiveness and style apart

in all modish attire.

BIBBONS. like to see the man who can dictate bon in my hair or not!" As she stepped into the street she bowed to a tall, pretty girl who paused for an instant beside her. "I haven't seen you for some time, Miss Cass," said the pretty girl pleasantly.

"I've been working right along," explained Miss Cass hurriedly. "Are you working now, Miss Dorman?" Hester Dorman shook her head. "You know the firm I worked for went into bankruptcy. Except for some stray work at home, I haven't anything to

"Want a position?" Miss Cass grinned impishly.

reply. "They want a first class stenographer and typist up there in the Ralph

Miss Dorman."

puzzled.

so he didn't engage me."

from the average magple party dress. Hester Dorman smiled as she went Reflecting Lighthouses' Origin. up in the elevator to the second floor. Accident, not necessity, was the par-Work had been very dull in her field, ent of the invention of reflecting lightand it seemed as if every business firm houses. During a meeting of a mathein the city was retrenching in office matical society at Liverpool some expenses and that there was no room years ago one of the members laid a for her anywhere. She needed the wager that he could read a newspaper work too. Her father was not very paragraph at ten yards distance by well, and she longed to be of some as-the light of a farthing candle. This listance in sharing the wage earning so that he might take a hard earned he succeeded in doing by covering the inside of an earthen dish with putty and much needed vacation. If she could get this position at $12 a week and sticking bits of looking glass on it she knew she could persuade her faand then placing his reflector behind the candle. . Captain Hutchinson, a ther to rest for a couple of months. At the door of No. 212 she paused, dock master, was present, and from and a brief prayer fluttered on her this experiment gained the idea from lips before she entered. An office boy took her card in to Mr. Turner, and a moment later she was sitting before more apparent to the other chaps. to me whether I shall wear a blue rib-Hester ought to have her chance. He waited several weeks, and Hester Dorman never wore a blue ribbon in her hair. But she wore pink signals in her cheeks whenever she spoke he accidentally overheard two of his Dorman before long. They certainly like each other pretty well," grinned do."

"Of course I do," was Hester's eager of his grouchy ways and his banning

Turner Insurance company, room 212. don't suit because 1 wear blue ribbons in my hair. Perhaps you'd do,

"Blue ribbons? What has that got to do with it?" Miss Dorman looked "Hasn't got anything to do with it that I know of, only he asked me if I ever wore blue ribbons in my hair. and I told him that I did sometimes,

going by mail"-Evchange

Gerald-I have my faults. Geraldine -What a group picture they would makel-New York Press

The Macaroni Record. "macaroni record" stands at The present at 2,160 yards (just under a mile and a quarter). This is the exact mileage of macaroni swallowed by a Signor Sporeogambi, in an eating duel with Signor Bevere a few years ago.

"you don't perform a great deal of la bor, do you?" "Miss Dorman"- He hesitated.

"No, I don't have to." "You will recollect that when I em-

"Aren't you expected to work?" "Of course not." was the candid reply. "It takes so much hard work to "Yes, Mr. Turner." she answered get a job like this that the authorities haven't the nerve to ask a man to do anything more to earn his salary after my part that my stenographer should he gets it."

A Cruel Question

Skeezick's car had turned turtle, and the bids have not been satisfactory as he sat gloomily contemplating the situation Uncle Silas reined in his nag and stopped outside.

"Turned over, bain't she?" he observed.

"Yep," said Skeezick shortly. "Want to sell?" asked Uncle Silas, "Yes," said Skeezick. "T'll sell out cheap."

"What's your upset price?" asked Weekly

Read the Morning Enterprise.

GLADSTONE FIGHTS FOR LOWER FARES

(Continued from page 1.)

to him, and he was too obtuse to un- Property, Parrish, Nelson, Wilkinson, derstand their significance. One day Fire and Water, Williams, Howell, stall the plant within our bond issue, Hammerle; Health and Police, Nel- providing due care is observed on son, Hammerle, Parrish; Cemetery, "Old Turner will be advertising for Williams, Wilkinson, Nelson. another stenographer of the nonrib-

The Mayor in his message called attention to the $20,000 issue provided by a vote of the people, and it was decided to ask for bids at once. Mayor Cross' message to the Coun- year.

Second-A petition is on file for cil follows: In assuming the duties of Mayor of Gladstone for the ensuing term, a few and a street grade therefor has been suggestions may be pertinent at this established. been suggested or adopted, which has ner's heart. That must mean that time. Our election and continuance in come to my knowledge, providing for

NOT EXPENSIVE

Treatment at Hot Lake, including medical attention, board and beths, costs no more than you would pay to live at any first class hotel. Rooms can be had from 75 cents to $2.50 per day. Meats in the cafeteria are served from 20 cents up and in the grill at the usual grill prices. Baths range from 50 cents to $1.00.

position.

cised.

We Do Cure Rheumatism

HOT LAKE SANATORIUM

HOT LAKE, OREGON. WALTER M. PIERCE. Pres.-Mgr.

Hot Lake Mineral Baths and mud given under scientific direction have cured thousands. Write for illustrated booklet descriptive of Hot Lake Sanatorium and the methods employed. Hot Lake Sanatorium is accessible as it is located directly on the main line of the O.-W. R. & N. railway, and special excursion rates are incident to winter construction

erection of pump station.

us, right a ine sewer from I now refer to the following mat- on Portland avenue, at least as far ters of more than passing interest as Dartmouth street, thence up Dartwhich should engage the careful at- mouth street to accommodate the church and school house if thought tention of this council:

First-The water works. An issue desirable, before the improvement of of $20,000 of water bonds has been Portland avenue is undertaken. provided by the vote of the people assessment, according to benefits, of such a large territory, would reduce when our present charter was adoptthe expense per lot to a very !ow ed; an engineer has been employed by the last council; plans and specifi-cations made and bids sought for the Wit

With this storm water provided for I am in favor of the improvement of installation of a water system suita-Portland avenue as soon as the counble for our growing city. Un to date cil and property owners liable thereto the retiring council and no contract for, think wise to commence the same. Third-I am in favor under like has been let and the whole subject conditions of the improvement of matter is in our hands for final dis-Dartmouth street, from Portland ave-

Without seeking to dictate the nue easterly to Yale avenue, and to the County road if thought best, at policy of the council, I wish to emleast to the extent of grading the same and laying a sidewalk on one phasize the importance of selling our bonds first and providing the cash side of the street.

before we let the contract. Fourth-I find myself in hearty ac We have already been offered 95 cord with the last council in their cents on the dollar for these bonds. effort to obtain a stopping place for and 1 am fully persuaded they are passenger cars at Hereford worth par. A vigorous effort ought street. Uncle Silas, with a grin - Harper's to be made by the council to dispose and will cheerfully co-operate with the present council to bring to pass. of them at that figure. A full thous Fifth-I am not satisfied with the and dollars is worth saving. Since the water works were not constructed present railroad rates from Gladstone to Oregon City and Portland. last season during low water, the question is submitted, whether we ought

For some reason not consistent with justice or common sense, the to run the risk of the increased cost late effort to have fares reduced on Especially is this thought applicathe motor line has actually resulted ble to the excavation at the river and in having our rates raised to Oregon City. While other points received substantial reductions we were treat-I have made sufficient investiga-

ed with scant courtesy. tion to assure you that we can in-I am in favor of pressing the matter in season and out of season for a twenty-cent round trip rate by book our part and proper economy exerfrom Gladstone to Portland and a return to the six cent round trip rate I am strenuously in favor of the hy book to Oregon City, which we construction and completion of the had for so many years. water system at the earliest possible

The report of the Recorder on file moment, consistent with business shows that warrants from one to 44 sense, and at all hazards this present inclusive have been issued during the past year, and aggregating $847.31. No cash has been received. A five mill tax on all property in the city was levied on the 9th day of Decem-No plan, however, has ber, 1911, by Ordinance No. 26, and returns thereon may be expected this present year. The probable receipts therefrom will amount to about $1,-350.00.

I ask the most scrupulous economy in all expenditures. Let us be liberal where it pays to be liberal, and at all times conservative

GYPSIES ENTERTAINED BY MISSES DAULTON

The Gypsies were entertained in a most delightful manner Saturday eve-ning by the Misses Helen and Bess Daulton at their home on the West Side. The evening was spent in Five Hundred, and Miss Aimee Bollack. formerly of this city, but now of Portland, was awarded the prize. A delicious luncheon was served. The next meeting of this club will be at the home of Miss Zida Goldsmith, Fourteenth and Main streets, Saturday evening, January 20.

Those attending the meeting at the Daulton home were Miss Zida Goldsmith, Miss Almee Bollacy, Miss Cis Barclay Pratt, Miss Dollie Pratt, Misses Daulton, Mrs. J. N. Wisner, Miss Marjory Caufield, Mrs. M. D Latourette.

possible that she did care. He resolved to ask her. He did, and her reply had nothing to do with blue ribbons. The new stenographer was a young man, and he had curly hair and wore baby blue neckties, and nobody cared. because everybody was so happy. And Ralph's young wife always wore a broad band of pale blue ribbon about her head at the breakfast table-because he liked it.

"That was all right if her foot was Lots of Them,

Stamp Needed In That Case. "She stamped her foot."