OPPOSED PHILIPPINE ANNEXATION

Roosevelt Policy Preferred To That McKinley.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Andrew Carnegie concluded his testimony today before the House "steel trust" investigation committee. He admitted that in 1900 he contributed $15,000 to oppose the policy of imperialism and the annexation of the Philippines; that he assailed Wall street and branded "stock jobbers" as "parasites," urged the Roosevelt trust policy in preference to that of President Taft, and asked Congress to consider that problem carefully.

Mr. Carnegie was subjected to a fire of questions which put him on his mettle. Chairman Stanley elicited from him an attack on stock jobbing, which probably will influence legislation to be proposed by the committee, and Representative McGillivuddy, of Maine, took the ironmaster over some unexpected political jumps.

VEREIN TO GIVE BIG MASQUE BALL TONIGHT

It is believed that Busch's hall will be crowded to its capacity tonight with dancers and spectators, at the German Verein's annual masquerade ball. The floor will be reserved for maskers until 10:30 o'clock, after which the masks will be removed. This society always gives successful affairs, and the committees in charge will not spare any pains to make this event more successful than those heretofore given. An orchestra of seven pieces of home talent has been engaged to furnish the music.

LEAP YEAR DANCE GIVEN BY ARTISANS

One of the most enjoyable social meetings ever held by the United Artisans was on Thursday night at the Woodmen hall, the occasion being a leap year party. There was an unusually large attendance, as friends of the order were invited to attend as well as the members. The ladies were not backward in asking their gentlemen friends to have the next dance with them. There were very few "wall flowers," however. The committee in charge of the affair was composed of Ren Holcaw, L. C. Burke and Miss Anna Gardner. Leon DesLarzes and Oscar Woodring furnished the music for the dancing. It was the first leap year affair given in this city this year.

PUTTING UP A ROAR.

PARDEE INSISTS HE IS TREASURER

GLADSTONE MAN DENIES MAYOR
TENDERED HIM WARRANT FOR SERVICES.

CALLED CROSS 'PETTY LARCENIST'

William Hammond, Former Recorder, Says Claimant Signed Petition of Man Elected.

"J. C. Paddock has not qualified for the office of treasurer of Gladstone," said J. K. Pardee, who insists that he is the holder of the office of the municipality Friday. "He filed his bond and his oath of office and that was all. He has never been recognized by the City Council as the treasurer. At the meeting of the City Council I simply asked the Recorder to give me my warrant for my last quarter of service, but Mayor Cross took it. The Mayor took three warrants signed them and put them in his pocket. I asked Mr. Cross for my warrant and he replied: 'You can't have it.' Mr. Cross isn't that mine? I said, 'By what authority?' and I said because it was my property."

Mr. Pardee said that he went to Mr. Cross' office the following day and was refused the warrant. He declares he told Mr. Cross that he (Cross) was guilty of the smallest piece of petty larceny he (Pardee) had ever heard of.

"I was elected when the city was incorporated," said Mr. Pardee. "My term was extended by the following in the city charter: 'All laws, ordinances, rules of order, passed or adopted by the present City Council of the City of Gladstone, or business transacted by said Council, are hereby validated.' The election and appointment of all officers of the present City of Gladstone are hereby confirmed and their terms of office shall conform to the requirements of this Charter. The term of office of the three Councilmen now serving for the one-year period, shall expire on the last day of December, 1911, and their successors shall be elected at the next election provided herein. The term of office of the three councilmen now serving for the two-year period shall expire on the last day of December, 1912, and their successors shall be elected as herein provided. The term of office of all other officials of the City of Gladstone heretofore elected, shall expire on the last day of December, 1912, and their successors shall be elected as herein provided. Present appointive officials shall hold their office under and subject to the provisions of this Charter. 'That all acts and parts of acts, in so far as they conflict herewith, be and the same are hereby repealed.' William Hammond, former Recorder of Gladstone made the following statement: 'Under the provisions of the State law passed in 1893 and found in Section 3208 of the Oregon Laws, the being the law under which the City of Gladstone was incorporated by the election held on December 24, 1909, the officers elected at the time of the incorporation held such offices respectively only until the next general municipal election. If Gladstone had remained under the provisional charter such next general election would have been held on December 5, 1911. However as the city adopted a charter of its own on July 31, 1911, said next general election was by said charter fixed for December 4, 1911. 'Those who drafted the new charter and the attorneys hired by the city to pass upon its legality and all of the officers, with the exception of J. K. Pardee, the treasurer, and T. C. Howell, a councilman, who was a candidate for re-election, filed their resignations to take effect on the first Monday in January, 1912, the day provided in the charter for new officers

PROGRESS EDITION IN BIG DEMAND

Ordinarily the special or annual edition of the average newspaper consists of bulk rather than interest. A larger number than usual of newspaper pages, filled for the most part with "canned" reading matter. This is true of our biggest cities, as well as the smaller ones. A conspicuous exception to this rule is the PROGRESS AND ANNUAL EDITION, 1912, OF THE OREGON CITY MORNING ENTERPRISE. If ever that overworked phrase "Edition de Luxe" could be applied to a newspaper product, it applies to the Progress Edition which left the press Thursday afternoon. True, it contains advertising matter but it is advertising that advertises our city and country better than any other form of publicity could hope to do. There is not a line of advertising in the entire publication that will not do more active missionary work than would a whole library of hoister pamphlets; not merely for the individual, but for the community at large. And it is right here that every good citizen of Clackamas county and of Oregon City especially is personally concerned. Buy a copy—it costs only ten cents. Read it. Read it first of all for the absorbing interest it will naturally have for you. Then read it from the point of view of a man interested in the welfare of the community in which he lives makes his living, and brings up his family. You will want every copy you can afford to buy, for a thousand letters could not begin to describe the locality in which you live, as does this special edition. Not a feature has been slighted. Manufacturers, business houses, professional men, stores, in fact every enterprise that helps to make our city what it is, as well as the men back of the enterprise get full recognition in this splendid publication. In brief it is a graphically fascinating description of Oregon City and its environs, pictorially and otherwise.

POULTRY SHOW TO BE GIVEN HERE

PUBLICITY DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCIAL CLUB WILL HAVE CHARGE.

MANY PROMISE TO HAVE EXHIBITS

Rooster, Trained By Little Girl, To Be Feature—Cash Prizes
And Ribbons For Winning Fowls.

The first poultry show in Oregon City will be given February 2 and 3, at the Armory, under the auspices of the Publicity Department of the Oregon City Commercial Club, the committee being composed of O. D. Ely, chairman; B. T. McBain, J. E. Hedges, M. D. Latourette and Frank Busch, with M. J. Lazelle chairman. It had been planned to give the affair at the Masonic Temple, but owing to the large number of entries it was found that the room would not be large enough to accommodate the large number of birds. Many of the poultrymen of the county as well as the state have decided to have exhibits, and from all indications the exhibition will be an unusually fine one.

M. J. Lazelle, secretary of the Promotion Department of the Commercial Club, who will have charge of the poultry show.

Among those who have signified their intention of having displays are F. Fisher, Oregon City; C. A. Nash, Oregon City; Mrs. George Story, Oregon City; C. Mier, Oregon City; R. F. D. 3, Everard Hill, Oregon City; R. F. D. 1, R. S. Coe, Canby; W. A. Dods, Oregon City; R. F. D. 6; F. A. Rosenkrans, Oregon City; W. A. Shevman, Oregon City; I. D. Taylor, Oregon City; J. H. Graw, Oregon City; R. F. D. 5; S. S. Mohler, Oregon City; Elmer Dixon, Oregon City; B. Lee Puget, Oak Grove; A. C. Warner, Mount Pleasant; W. B. Lawton, Mount Pleasant; Mrs. L. J. Ewalt, Springfield; Dr. M. C. Strickland, Oregon City; William Gardner, Frank Spulak, New Era; Mrs. E. M. Shaw, Oregon City; R. F. D. 5; W. W. Quinn, Oregon City; Max Telford, Oregon City; P. M. Hart, Oregon City; A. J. Lewis, Maple Lane; C. W. Swallow, Maple Lane; B. A. Anderson, Oregon City; R. V. Hoffman, Pleasant Valley, Oregon; Thomas Smith, Oregon City; Mrs. Lloyd Williams, Oregon City; James B. Robinson, Portland, will have exhibits. Mr. Robinson will have some of fine poultry here from his farm in Yamhill county. R. V. Hoffman, an employee of the Oregon City Enterprise, who is making a specialty of raising White Wyandottes at his home at Pleasant Valley on the Estacada line will have some of his choicest birds here. Mrs. Lloyd Williams has a fine Silver Penciled Hamburg cock and hen that will be on exhibition.

Photograph of Black Minorcas that will be exhibited at the poultry show.

There will be many attractive features of the show among them being the educated rooster belonging to Mildred Smith, eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Smith, of this city. The rooster's name is "Dollar," having been given this name by Mr. Smith. He had purchased a setting of eggs, which cost him $1 and this chicken was the only one that hatched from the eggs. The little girl has taught the rooster many tricks. His delight is to coast with the little girl on the coasting wagon. He takes his place in the wagon when ready to start, and to give his companion, the little girl, sufficient room, he will move to one side of the wagon to allow her to have her position, and when she is in her place, he will "cuddle up a little closer" and become ready for the ride down hill. He also enjoys a feast at the little table of Mildred. The little girl has a chair especially for the rooster and

STARTLING INNUENDO IS MADE BY SCHUEBEL

SCHUEBEL CHARGES ANSWERED BY DIMICK.

Fel's soap is being well advertised by his paid agent, C. Schuebel, and I would advise every citizen to say nothing about single tax if he desires to keep Schuebel's friendship. He is getting a little hard up for proof of his assertions so he intimates that Mr. Latourette was offered money to allow the slot machines to run, and therefore I must have been corrupted. Schuebel was Deputy District Attorney at the time the Proebstel law was passed by the Legislature making it the duty of the District Attorney's office to enforce the law, and Schuebel took the oath of office, but he forgot his oath of office immediately after he took it.

Schuebel speaks of the Third street franchise which runs into the short street north of the woolen mill and connects on to the Schuebel franchise which he got through the council on Fields, that ruined the Canemah road. The citizens tried to stop the laying of the track under the Schuebel franchise on upper Main street but they laid it on Sunday so the sheriff could not serve an injunction.

There never was any objection to the franchise which Schuebel speaks of that was granted September 5, 1902, as it was prepared by Mr. Koerner, Dr. Powell, Mr. Ed. Story, Mr. William Shevman and agreed upon by all members of the Council in committee of the whole. Schuebel is thinking of the Canemah road franchise which he granted to Clarence Fields and was severely censured by the members of the Peoples party of which he was a member for violating one of the cardinal principals of the party which he was pledged to oppose.

Now, Schuebel, give us a full history of that Canemah Road Fields franchise and why you served as you did in granting it to Fields.

Also show one franchise that I ever urged when I was Mayor. Now tell the truth for once in your life.

MRS. ARMSTRONG TO START HOTEL

Oregon City is to have another hotel, Mrs. Armstrong, who is at present occupying the building recently purchased by the Elks, has leased the building on the corner of Main and Main streets, and formerly occupied by the J. E. Seely grocery store, and W. Hardy has the contract of remodeling the interior of the building. The second story will be used for sleeping apartments, while the lower floor will be used as office, dining room and kitchen. The building will be repainted, re-papered and will present a much different appearance when completed, which will be about the latter part of January when Mrs. Armstrong will take possession. There will be twelve sleeping apartments on the second floor. This building is well located, but has been vacant several months.

EVANGELIST SCORES 'DEVILISH EDITORS'

Rev. J. Bruce Evans, the evangelist, spoke to a large audience Friday night at the Baptist church on "Adam, Where Art Thou?" He said: "Some people profess sanctification. They have more crankification than holiness. There is a difference between holiness and crankification. 'A father when neglect permitted his child to wander away and over a high precipice to death. So many professors of religion through sleepy indifference permit souls to slide into hell.'"

"A mother by carelessness gave her children rough on rats' instead of healing medicine. When a mother either by indifference or positive opposition hinders a child from accepting Christ, that is a thousand times worse."

"I saw a cow once that had a calf wrap her long tongue around the calf. There are many women who can sit in a parlor and lick their neighbors several squares away."

"I fight fire with fire. When a devilish editor attacks me in the spirit of hateful opposition I never miss a chance to peel the bark off him. 'A man who is trying to live the Christian life, if he amounts to anything, will be tempted to go back to the world. When a man tells me he is not tempted, I know that the power of evil has its grip on him and there is no hope.'"

Mr. Evans will preach tonight and Sunday, both morning and evening. The meetings will continue next week. There have been several converts.

EX-MAYOR OFFERED $500 A MONTH, HE SAYS

DIMICK ASKS POINTED QUESTIONS

SINGLE TAXER CALLED UPON TO GIVE HISTORY OF CANEMAH
ROAD FRANCHISE—COUN-CILMEN ALSO ARE ACCUSED.

C. Schuebel, Friday, issued another statement regarding the former administration of Mayor Dimick. He asserts that the slot machines and other forms of gambling had not been stopped three months before the expiration of Dimick's last term as Mayor. Mr. Schuebel alleges that C. D. Latourette, when Mayor, was offered $500 a month to permit slot machines and other gambling games to operate, but that he permitted no gambling. He says Dimick succeeded Latourette, and slot machines and other gambling games "were run openly in violation of the law during Mayor Dimick's four years of administration. Were the saloonkeepers and gamblers willing to pay as much during Dimick's administration for the Mayor's protection as they offered Mayor Latourette?"

Mr. Schuebel's letter follows:
Oregon City, Or., Jan. 12, 1912.
To the Editor:

Possibly there are one or two citizens in Oregon City who believe Mayor Dimick's statements are correct in regard to granting franchises. For their benefit I will state the facts as they are of record.

Ordinance No. 274 on page 162 of the charter was passed November 5, 1902, and approved by Mayor Dimick, November 10, 1902.

This ordinance grants to the O. W. P. & Railway Company's franchise to operate express and freight cars on Main street, and Third street for a period of ten years, for which the company pays the following compensation. (Sec. 6 of the Ordinance.) Sec. 10. "For the first five years, from November 10, 1902, four hundred ($400) dollars per annum, and for the remaining five years, the sum of five hundred ($500) per annum; as a further consideration for the granting of this ordinance the said railway company, its successors and assigns shall within five years from November 10, 1902, put down on and along said railway, on the paved portion of Main street, rails not less than six and one-half (6-1/2) inches in depth and weighing not less than seventy-five (75) pounds per yard, provided that curved rails in sidetracks, turnouts, and switches may be six (6) inches in depth, and all such rails shall be of a pattern and shall be laid on a foundation to be approved by the said City Council."

The citizens of Oregon City objected to granting the franchise because it did not provide for sufficient compensation, and further that no freight franchise should be granted on Main street, but that all freight should be carried on Water street. Mayor Dimick disregarded the wishes of the public and the best interests of the city in granting the freight franchise, just as he is now doing in regard to the appointment of a Chief of Police.

Just three years after Mayor Dimick's freight franchise was granted to the O. W. P. & Railway Company for ten years for practically $700, the railway company proposed another freight franchise for which they were willing to pay as follows: (Sec. 6 of the Ordinance.)

Sec. 6. "The Oregon Water Power and Railway Company, its successors and assigns shall pay, in advance to the City of Oregon City, as a license for the running and operating of said passenger, express and freight cars as aforesaid, the following sums, to-wit:

For the first five (5) years from the date of the grant of the franchise the sum of eight hundred ($800) dollars per annum; for the second five (5) years the sum of eleven hundred ($1100) dollars per annum; for the third five (5) years the sum of fourteen hundred ($1400) per annum; for the fourth five (5) years the sum of seventeen hundred ($1700) dollars per annum; for the fifth five (5) years the sum of two thousand ($2,000) dollars per annum; for the sixth five (5) years the sum of twenty-three ($2,300) dollars per annum; for the seventh five (5) years the sum of twenty-six hundred ($2,600) dollars per annum."

This franchise was passed by the council (with the assistance of the councilmen who were in the employ of the railroad company). The citizens protested against the franchise because they were opposed to granting a freight franchise for Main street, and it was for too long a term and the compensation was not sufficient. Dr. Sommer vetoed the ordinance.

The franchise also provided for grooved rails 7 inches in depth, weight to be not less than 75 pounds per yard, the tracks to be laid on concrete and Belgium blocks to be laid between the rails and one foot on each side, and in other ways protected the interest of the city.

The above franchise was printed in the Oregon City Enterprise in the issue of September 22, 1906, and is now on file in the Enterprise office.

In three short years, according to the railway company, the value of the freight franchise had more than doubled. Was Mr. Dimick looking after the interests of the city or the railroad company at the time he approved the freight franchise in 1902? Mayor Dimick's freight franchise November 10, the same year he again
