AVIATOR NOVICE FALLS TO DEATH

DARING COSTS YOUNG YALE MAN LIFE AFTER VETERAN'S WARNING.

JUMPS FROM AEROPLANE

Crowd Amazed at Recklesness of Aviator, Who Finally Loses Control in Treacher ous Wind.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 22.-Rutherford Page, aged twenty-four, a Yale graduate, registered from New York, and flying as one of the Curtiss aviators, fell 150 feet to his death this afternoon on Dominguez Field, a few moments before the close of the third day's program of the third international aviation meet. His death, the doctors said, was instantaneous.

Olmost every bone in Page's body was broken. His neck was broken, both legs and arms was broken, both legs and arms and his chest crushed. Page was endeavoring to "turn on a pivot" at a height of about 150 feet when the swell of air over the hangers caught his planes. Page made an effort to regain his balance, but evidently fearing that the aeroplane had gotten beyond control, gave up and when about sixty feet in the air jumped clear of the machine as it was dropping like a He cleared the machine and fell flat into the plowed ground. According to the doctors he crushed to death.

Page was flying for the first time as a licensed aviator having been awarded his license Saturday. His flying early today was one of the spec-tacular features, despite a puffy and treacherous wind which lent color to the free expression of predictions that the day would be marred by acci-

Page was one of the first to leave the ground. In the first heat of the five mile handicap, in which he and Lincoln Reachev, the Curtiss veteran, were the contestants, Page thrilled the crowd by his sensational ma-neuvers. All of the dips and sharp turns made by Beachy were duplicated by Page, who was even more daring than Beachey.

shook their heads when they witness ed Page's apparently foolish evolutions and when he descended, Glenn Curtiss, who taught him to fly, cautioned him against attempting at his first meet to perform feats of flying that required long experience to learn.
