MISSOURI'S YOUNG REPUBLICANS

On Abraham Lincoln's birthday, February 12, a good date for a good transaction, will be held in St. Louis the annual meeting and banquet of the Association of Young Republicans of Missouri, an organization formed fifteen years ago, a time when the Democratic party, in union with the Populists, was casting a larger vote than ever before or since. One of the first things to be remarked of the young Republicans of that state is that they must be increasing at a superior rate, for in the last fifteen years, Missouri has been Republican three times on the popular vote, and the party is in excellent shape for the contest of the present year. There was in 1910 in many states an unusual Republican failure to vote. Not so in Missouri, in which the Republicans held their plurality of 1908 and 1904, and feel glad that their line was steady. Over 30,000 young men in the state will cast their first presidential vote this year. It is a duty of the first importance to them. They are just entering business careers, and the leading political issues of the period relate to business. Every intelligent observer knows that political events and indications have a powerful influence on trade and industrial conditions. Bad politics and bad business are closely related. The Republican party expects to be judged by its record. With the exception of a few years it has controlled the affairs of the government for half a century. It has had, and has now, constructive policies, originating and carrying them through with vigor and efficiency. Opposed to it is the party of negation, of uncertain principles, and of demonstrated narrowness and failure. These are historical facts. Young men about to assume the responsibilities of the ballot should weigh them well.

Seeking the South Pole With Aid of Dogs and Motor Sled

Now that Peary has planted the American flag on the "top of the world," interest in polar exploration centers about the antarctic, where the British expedition under Captain Robert F. Scott, which started from New Zealand in November, 1910, has probably by this time succeeded in its dash for the south pole or has given up the attempt for this season. It was the hope of the leader that he and his party would spend Christmas at the pole, for he thought his best chance of reaching it would be about Dec. 22, when the sun was highest in the southern hemisphere. For land transport the members of the party depended upon the dogs (which are shown in our illustration as they appeared on the Terra Nova, in which the explorers sailed), and, in case the dogs should die or have to be killed for food upon the motorsled which is shown in the upper picture

SHUBEL SCHOOL, Jan. 25.—(Editor of the Enterprise.)—Our attention has been called to a piece in last week's issue of the Enterprise. We, the undersigned teacher and pupils of Shubel school, positively deny that we threw anyone into the so-called pond and the statement that the girls "went into the boys' toilet" is absolutely false.

WHY GEORGE MULLIN NEVER SLIDES INTO BASE.

George Mullin, the husky right hander of the Detroit Tigers, recently declared he had never slid into a base in his career in Detroit. "My fill of sliding came just as I was breaking into the game," said George. "I was young and ambitious then, and once when I was on second I thought I saw a brilliant opportunity to steal. No sooner did I think than I proceeded to execute my thoughts. I started on a mad gallop for third, and as I neared it I saw the ball flashing across the diamond to the third baseman. I closed my eyes and did a Cobbeque fallaway slide. I hit the turf all right, but when I banged into the sack I not only scraped the skin off my nose and filled my ears with terra firma, but also broke my right leg. That was enough! Never again!"

WOOTTON MAY RETIRE. Increasing Weight May Probably Force English Jockey to Give Up Saddle.

The news that Frank Wootton, the leading English jockey, had increased in weight from 125 pounds until he had difficulty doing 165 pounds at one of the late meetings in the north, coupled with the information that the rider would not contract to do less than 128 pounds in 1912, marks the passing of a real good horseman and brings anew to the attention of those who are fond of the turf the fact that no calling is more uncertain than that of jockey. Wootton's career has been brilliant, but it will perhaps be almost the short-

BOLD BANDITS LOOT BANK IN DAY TIME

VANCOUVER, B. C., Jan. 26.—The Royal Bank branch at the corner of Main street and Seventh avenue, was robbed of all its cash by two robbers at 11 o'clock this morning. Manager A. A. Stevens and the members of his staff were backed into the vault and locked there, while the robbers helped themselves to everything in sight. It is not known how much money was taken, but the sum will undoubtedly be high, up in the thousands. The first report was that $30,000 had been stolen. The two robbers entered by the front door, herded the clerks into the vault and then leisurely took all the money. One of the clerks made a show of fight. He was knocked down by a blow on the head with the butt end of a gun which knocked him senseless. The robbers are believed to have left the place by the rear door. They walked out leisurely and joined with the people on the street before anyone realized what was going on. The robbery was exceedingly bold, for the corner is a busy one. As soon as the clerks were released, there was a great hue and cry, but there has so far been no trace of the robbers. It is asserted by officials in the head office of the Royal Bank that only $1,000 was taken.

"MOUNTAIN GEM" IS SOLD TO LOCAL LINE

Within a short time the steamer Mountain Gem, which first floated on the Upper Columbia in 1904, when she was launched at Lewiston, will cease to be known in the material things of the marine sphere, at her purchase from the Columbia Steamboat Company completed by the Oregon City Transportation Company, known as the Yellow Stack Line, and her machinery will be used in a speedy new steamer for the Portland-Corvallis run. Captain Clyde Raabe, of the Yellow Stack fleet, reached Kennewick Thursday with a certified check for the owners of the Mountain Gem, and when men can be assembled the work of stripping the vessel will be begun. Her boiler, engines and other gear in that department will be removed, and all deck and cabin equipment will be taken off. Nothing will be left of the upper river craft but the hull and house, which will be sold to be broken up. When the property reaches Portland, coming by rail, plans will be started for the proposed new stern-wheeler, which will have an approximate length of 145 feet, with a beam of 28 feet and a draft of 16 inches.

ASSISTANT TEAM MANAGERS. Big Baseball Clubs Have Signed Many For Next Season.

The creation of an assistant manager has given berths to many veteran ball players whose playing days are over and who have not had the opportunity to secure managerial positions. In this way some men who have been identified with baseball for years are being taken care of in their declining days, though their positions are by no means sinecures. Kid Gleason, for instance, should be of great help to Jimmy Callahan, Latham has been an able lieutenant to McGraw, while many other clubs have men of experience to help out their managers.

Daly of Dartmouth Great Athlete. Eddie Daly, Dartmouth's 1911 football captain and baseball captain for next year, has a college athletic career that is hard to beat. He has played in every football and baseball game since he entered the college.

Spelling Trouble. General Creagh is a man of exemplary patience, but this patience was once seriously tried by a stupid orderly. Time after time the man made blunders that would have made the average officer use language that General Creagh would hesitate to spell. At last came an explosion. "Why, you noodle," the exasperated general exclaimed, "I don't believe you even know what w-o-m-a-n spells!" "Trouble, as a rule, sir," was the calm reply.—London Answers.

Instruct the Farmer In Conservation

AMERICA MUST GET DOWN TO THE SOIL AND EDUCATE THE FARMER ON HIS OWN GROUND IF AMERICAN RESOURCES ARE TO BE CONSERVED.

The farmer DOESN'T PAY ANY ATTENTION to present methods for conserving the soil.

He is going ahead in the same way that farmers have done through all the centuries.

The same thing was done years ago in Morocco and in the days of Rome. At one time in the world's history Sicily produced 12,000,000 bushels of wheat, and now it produces only 1,000,000. The farmer worked the soil as long as he could without thought of FERTILIZATION.

Much of the material written by agricultural experts for the farmers is prepared by men who couldn't handle a plowshare if they tried. The farmer has to learn to TREAT HIS FIELDS AS HE DOES HIS GARDEN.

What farmer does that? The care bestowed on the garden is not half so important as that needed by the fields. We must get down to the ground if we want to show the farmer how to get the MOST
