Feb. 12 In American History.

1800—Abraham Lincoln, sixteenth president of the United States, born; died April 15, 1865, from the effects of a pistol shot wound at the hands of John Wilkes Booth.

In France two aviators perished, including one who tested a parachute of his own invention. The latter was certainly reckless as he chose the Eiffel Tower for his experiment.

Interstate Commerce Commissioner Lane compares the stock ticker to the electric fan. The Wall Street Journal appropriately amends that the buzz-saw be substituted for the fan.

About the only thing King George and Queen Mary have to fear now is a welcoming ode from Alfred Austin.

All the women folks have a kindly feeling for Hon. Joseph H. Chate, who when observing his 80th birthday, because of the grace with which, when he was asked who he would rather be if not himself, he replied promptly: "Mrs. Choate's second husband."

Colonel Goethals reports that the Panama Canal will be formally opened January 1, 1915. Congress should get busy with the question of tolls, and without any attempt to play politics with the subject.

"Pot Wallpapers."

In certain districts of England formerly when an owner parted almost entirely with other rights to a house he would reserve the right of boiling his pot on the fire. This secured to him the right of voting and, what was of more importance, the position of being a freholder.

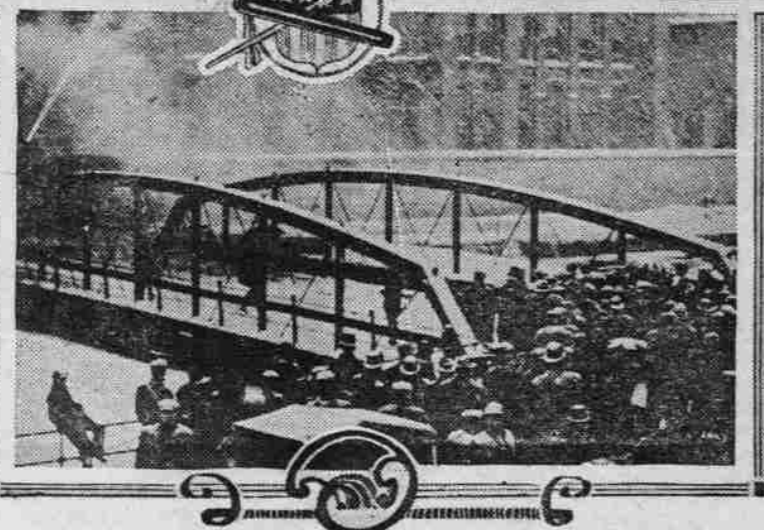

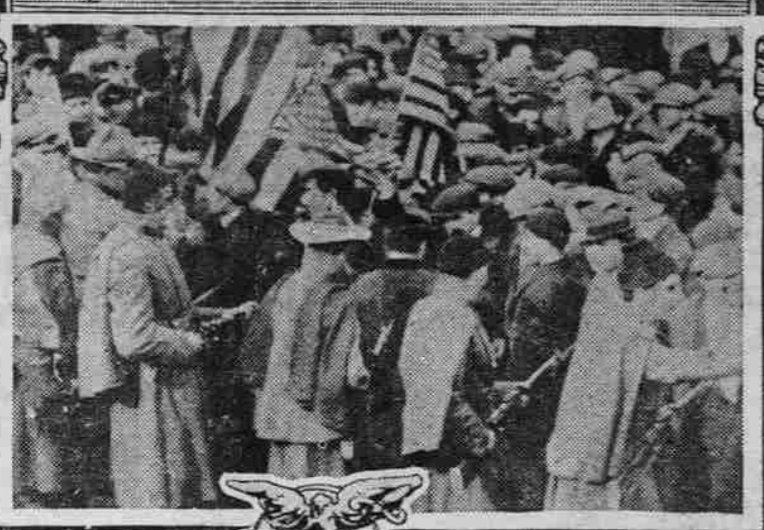

Economical.

A gentleman called at a house in the north of Scotland recently where there was a family of six sons in addition to the father and mother. Noting that there were only two chairs in the kitchen, presumably for the use of the parents, the visitor asked if the furniture was being saved till the family grew up.

Well Tested.

"The piano we sold you," said the merchant, "was it satisfactory?" "Perfectly," replied Mr. Camroz. "We've had it tested, and it's all right. My daughter and three music teachers tried out all kinds of Wagner on it, and it stood up in a way that shows regular tunes won't be any strain at all."—Washington Star.

Keeping Order In the Great Textile Strike at Lawrence

Photos by American Press Association.

TWO unusual incidents marked the strike disturbances at Lawrence, Mass., where 30,000 operatives of the textile mills went out in bitter winter weather. Hundreds of militia were on duty and on occasion used their bayonets with serious effect, but on one of the coldest days the guardians of the strike breakers resorted to the device of drenching the strikers with water from fire hose.

FATHER OF BOY RAIL VICTIM ASKS $7,500

O. F. Platt, father of Paul Platt, who several days ago fell from the board walk between this city and Canemah and was drowned, through Attorney Brownell and Stone, Monday filed suit from $7,500 damages against the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company.

"The boy, who was eight years of age, while walking with his mother fell under the railing. It is charged in the complaint that the guard-railing was in a defective and dangerous condition and said defendant knew or should have known that said guard rail was in a dangerous and defective condition in that the space beneath the said rail under which said Paul Platt rolled to his death was too far extended above the surface of said roadway."

J. EVERETT DOWNEY FINED FOR SPEEDING

J. Everett Downey, son of ex-Mayor James Downey of Willamette was fined $5 and assessed $3.75 for costs Monday by Justice of the Peace Samson for automobile speeding. Downey was arrested Sunday by Chief of Police Shaw in the southern part of the city. He admitted that he was going at a high rate of speed.

CITY COUNCIL FORGETS TO TAX ESTACADA.

Residents of Estacada will pay no taxes for running expenses of the municipality this year. No levy was made the Mayor and City Council having neglected to report their estimate and levy to the City Recorder, who, in turn, reports to the County Clerk, before December 21.

Card of Thanks. We desire to thank the friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted us during the sickness and death of our husband and father; and also for the beautiful floral pieces. MRS. J. HOWELL AND FAMILY.

PLAN OF THOMPSON MEMORIAL CHANGED

Mrs. D. P. Thompson, of Portland, who sometime ago announced that she would open a free reading room in her parents' old home in this city as a memorial to them, has changed her plans. Owing to the announcement that Andrew Carnegie has donated $12,500 for a library for this city which will be located near the property owned by Mrs. Thompson she feels that the interests of the public would be served to better advantage by the memorial to her parents taking some other form. Her parents were Mr. and Mrs. John Meldrum who lived in Oregon City many years. The nature of the memorial will be announced soon.

COUNCILMEN TO HEAR POLICE CHARGE AGAIN

The City Council will meet this evening to give the accusers of Policemen Green and Frost an opportunity to present their charges. In writing, F. J. Tooze chairman of the Council Committee on Health and Police, who corroborated the accusations made by Councilman Albright, said he would not file written charges unless written charges were filed against Chief of Police Shaw and Policeman Cooke.

The following letter was received by the Morning Enterprise Monday: "If there is any way whereby this child's play between the Mayor and Council can be broken up why under heaven don't some one do it. Oregon City is becoming the laughing stock of the whole country. The Commercial Club and Live Wires may as well shut up business while the foolishness is going on. It may look all right and be all right for the villages of Gladstone, and Willamette to have their family quarrels, but for the staid old town of Oregon City, to have such a play-going on I think that its beneath its dignity. I would suggest that some one, that has the sand, get up a petition for a recall and have it circulated, and turn the whole gang out, then elect a set of men who can govern themselves, then they will be fit subjects to run the city's affairs. Respectfully yours, H. T. TAYLOR."

SCANDAL.

Be slow to believe bad reports of any person. Hear not evil readily. Remember he who bears the scandal of another to thee will some time take another evil words concerning thee, and perhaps more justly, for hath he not seen thee open thy mind to evil instead of shutting thy heart against it and barring it with a generous thought?

CONTESTANTS FOR AUTO ENTER TODAY (Continued from page 1.) enough votes to give him a good start. Of course each person will receive these starting votes only for their first nomination, so you will have many votes to start as will those who will be nominated by a dozen different people. But the main thing is to get your nomination in at once so you will get the benefit of those votes from the very start. Too much importance cannot be placed on starting in on time as the first ones in the field will have the best chances to get the big subscriptions. There is a lot of truth in the old saying that a good start is half the game and it is true that those who get the big start in this contest will find that they can procure subscriptions much easier if they can point out their name well up in the standing of those who are in the race. The votes cast will be counted from time to time and this will let each contestant know how he or she stands in the race. Remember that everyone will have an equal chance and you have the same opportunity to win as any one else. Watch the Enterprise each day for further announcements that will interest every one in the contest, but first of all have your nomination blank sent in today.

SAVING TIME by TELEPHONE

WHEN a man feels the necessity of being in two places at the same time he goes to the nearest telephone and sends his voice. It is not exactly the same thing, but when a man talks hundreds of miles in opposite directions from the same Bell Telephone, it is about as good. In the daily use of the telephone a man travels all over town by wire in a few minutes. It is just as easy to travel all over the state and other states by means of the universal Long Distance Service of the Bell System.

MAZDA LAMPS MAKE LIGHT WORK

"I find that kitchen work is a pleasure rather than a drudgery," says the housekeeper, "now that this wonderful MAZDA LAMP brightens the room like sunshine. This new lamp certainly is a blessing to the housekeeper. It COSTS NO MORE to burn than the ordinary incandescent lamp and radiates nearly THREE TIMES as much light. And the quality of the light is ever so much better—it is so restful to the eyes."

How to Write a Popular Novel

By LOUIS TRACY, English Author

I'M PRETTY SURE, ON THE WHOLE, THAT AMERICANS ARE MORE EDUCATED READERS THAN THE ENGLISH. BY THIS I MEAN NOT THE CULTURED CLASS OF READERS, WHICH IS THE SAME HERE AS IN ENGLAND, BUT THE GREAT MASS OF THE READING PUBLIC. The romance of adventure, I think, appeals to every one of us. There is something of the boy and girl in every single man and woman of us, and for that reason it is that we all love to read about EXCITING DEEDS. AS A RULE, I TRY TO DRAW FINE YOUNG FELLOWS AND NICE GIRLS. WHENEVER I MAKE A VILLAIN I TRY TO LET HIM OFF EASY. I ENDEAVOR TO PUT A MAN OF STERLING WORTH INTO THE FIRE, TEST HIM THERE AND LET HIM EMERGE TRIUMPHANT, OFTEN HELPED BY THE LOVE OF A GOOD WOMAN. ISN'T THAT A PRETTY GOOD RECIPE?
