Cookery Doints

How to Serve an Informal Dinner. An informal home dinner, if there are guests, is served much as the formal one. An exception may be made in the item of soup. This may be served on the table from the tureen But one soup plate at a time is placed before the host or hostess, whichever one may serve. These are taken from the sideboard by the maid as each is required. Then it is passed to the guest at the right of the hostess.

Fish may be served by the host and in the same manner, but as many as four plates at a time may be placed for serving before the host.

Entrees are always served from the

All sauces and also the vegetables are served from the side table and at the left side of each guest.

If the host desires the salad may be dressed and served at the table. It is the duty of the hostess to serve dessert if this is not served from the side and pour the coffee. Though the cream and sugar for the coffee are passed at the left of the diner, the coffee is placed at the right.

Wine is not necessary. The iced water and bread are on the table before the guests enter the dining room; also bonbons and hors d'oeuvres may be on

At informal dinners and luncheons the service plate may be omitted."

Wholesome Sandwiches,

It was the memory of a childhood appetite which inspired a woman to serve brown bread sandwiches spread with horseradish and sugar with her afternoon tea the other day. It was a crisp kind of afternoon, and the snappy pungency of the horseradish was delightful. The horseradish had, of course, been mixed with vinegar, the slightest possible amount used, and it was sprinkled lightly with powdered sugar. The brown bread was made of whole wheat and graham flour and was cut as thin as possible. White bread sandwiches sprinkled with sugar are a delight in one household where everybody has a sweet tooth. It may be that the fashionable "nervous stomach" has been cultivated as much by the goodles in the way of cakes and bonbons served at daily teas as anything else. Sweet sandwiches are twice as healthy and to most persons are a welcome relief from the universal American cake habit.

Turkey Salad.

Roast turkey left from dinner makes delicious salad mixed with celery seasoned with capers and dressed with mayonnaise. The usual directions call for equal parts of meat and celery. but there is no hard and fast rule. The amount of the mest on hand and the taste of the family are strong considerations. The meat left from roast fowl of any kind makes a delicious souffle. An old rule calls for two cup fuls of meat chopped fine, a cupful of breadcrumbs, a cupful of white sauce and two eggs, the yolks beaten creamy and added to the mixture, and the whites beaten stiff, folded in at the last minute. Bake about fifteen or twenty minutes and send directly from the oven to the table.

Homemade Corn Popper.

A woman looking for an electric corn popper the other day found that she had everything needful for such a utensil except a ten cent popper of the usual long handle and wire cage kind, There is a little oblong electric stove that comes complete with griddle and toaster which makes an ideal arrangement for popping corn, and it is a great Improvement over the gas or coal stove, for it may be used on any table in the house with a tray under it. It does not heat the face, and the heat is very even. The smallest popper is best for it.

Chicken a la King.

One breast of chicken, two boiled potatoes, one pint of cream sauce and two boiled green peppers. Fry in a saucepan the sliced green peppers, pour over them a thin cream sauce and let boll for about five minutes. Add to i chafing dish with toast on the side. Mushrooms may be used instead of po tatoes if desired.

Pot Roast.

Take any kind of meat; put into an fron pot a tablespoonful of meat fryings or butter: let it brown: wash off the roast and put into the pot. After It begins to fry pour in enough water ly. As the meat begins to fry add about three hours. A half hour before | England. serving add either Irish or sweet potatoes or turnips and let them brown

Split Pea Soup. Take one pint of split peas and two quarts of water, cold. Wash the peas and let soak overnight in water. In the morning simmer them until noon at least, strain through a sieve, removing all hard particles. Season with pepper and salt. Add one-half cupful of sweet cream or small lumps of butter. This recipe makes one quart of

The Horseshoe as a Mascot.

The superstition that associates the horseshoe with good luck is very old It is said to prevail not only amor English speaking people, but in all races of Europe and Asia. Antiquaries are undecided whether its origin has to do with the material from which the horseshoe is made or with its shape. Some writers on this subject attributed to the horseshoe were derived from its fancied resemblance to saints, but this connection is nighty improbable, as it is known that the superstition certainly antedates Christi

Man Gets a Bouquet. One foggy morning recently a Lack- lor of science. awanna ferryboat was in collision with a tug. No great damage was done, but for a few moments considerable excitement prevailed among the commuters. One woman in particular sushed for the rail and in her panic seemed bent on leaping overboard. An athletic young man restrained her, assuring her there was no danger. At length she was sufficiently calmed to speak, and then, clinging to her preserver's arm. the sliced chicken and sliced potatoes, she gasped; "You know, I'm a spinster let simmer for awhile, season with salt and a suffragette, but there certainly and pepper to taste, finish with a piece are times when a man is a mighty of butter and serve very hot in a good thing to have around."-New York Press.

HOP BUYING BRISK AT VALLEY POINTS

There has been heavy buying of hops in the Willamette Valley during the past twenty-four hours.

Dealers that are supposed to be operating for the account of short sellers have been the principal operators. The price paid ranged from 25 to 26c a pound for ordinary goods. Practically all the weak growers have sold their holdings and the market is again firm with the indications strongly for an advance. There are plenty of orders now available and veryone is now trying to buy.

Most of the business that has pass ed recently has been for foreign ship-ment. This would indicate that the shorts are making their profits as it was in Europe that they began to beat down the price or Pacific Coast hops. Among the operators who are reported to have secured supplies since Saturday are Harry L. Hart, A. J. Ray, Pincus & Sons and Seavey Hoy Company. The purchases were en-tirely confined to small lots from var-

Holders of better quality hops are refusing offerings that are within a fraction of 3% a pound therefore the outlook is much more favorable than for some time.

All the efforts of shorts to force the selling of contracts have thus far failed. Business is available around 26 1-2c and even better for selected lots of 1912s.
