The "Popular Connaughts" On Their Visit to New York

Photos copyright by American Press Association, 1912.

DURING their brief sightseeing tour of New York on the occasion of their recent visit to the city as the guests of Ambassador and Mrs. Reid the Duke and Duchess of Connaught and their daughter, Princess Patricia, viewed the metropolitan district from the tower of the Metropolitan Life building, the tallest structure in the city. One of our photographs shows three members of the group standing on the narrow balcony of that lofty eminence. At the left is the princess, at the right her mother and between them Captain Rivers-Bulkeley, aid to the governor general and controller of his household. The other photograph is that of the duke. During their stay in New York the dual party were entertained by the ambassador at his residence, where he gave a dinner and a small dance in their honor. When they appeared in public there was a great deal of interest on the part of the crowds, and they submitted good humoredly to all the demonstrations of curiosity which attended them wherever they went.

Heart to Heart Talks.
By EDWIN A. NYE

"MOTHERING" A BABY
The Countess Elsie Van Schaak of Berlin, Germany, recently in Chicago, makes a suggestion that is worth while.

This is her idea:
In Berlin, where the plan is in operation, every woman who can afford to do so is urged to "mother" one baby. The baby is not to be taken from its own mother. The foster mother is to undertake to clothe the baby, provide for it, be sponsor for it and defend it.

Isn't that fine?
Every woman, married or single, is a potential mother. She finds her highest self in motherhood. The mother instinct being the strongest instinct of woman, there can come to her no higher pleasure than to care for a child. If she has no child of her own why not be a foster mother to some poor baby that needs fostering?

The newspapers are full of advertisements of mother hungry women for babies to adopt.
Adoption of a child is all wrong, according to the countess.

She says the baby should be taken from its own mother only as a last resort or because the mother is unworthy or incapacitated. It is the refinement of cruelty to take a babe from its natural mother.

But—
If every married woman who has no baby or every single woman over twenty-one years who can afford it could foster some one of God's little ones she would not only minister to her highest happiness, but would be doing God's service.

The countess says it costs about $1.50 per week to properly dress, feed and care for a child up to the age of three years.

About $50!
Could a hungry hearted woman buy three years of pleasure in any other way for such a sum?

If the thousands of American women who can easily afford it would do this high service, what an opportunity they would have to mold and fashion the future of thousands of American citizens!

The Berlin plan is good.
If followed by the women of this country it would abolish much of the hardships of the little children of the poor, lessen human suffering and cut down the list of divorcees.

And—
In the care of the tiny waifs wealthy women and girls would find the joy that would come by being responsible in their hearts for just one baby.

How strong are you going in the support of your candidate in the Enterprise automobile contest?

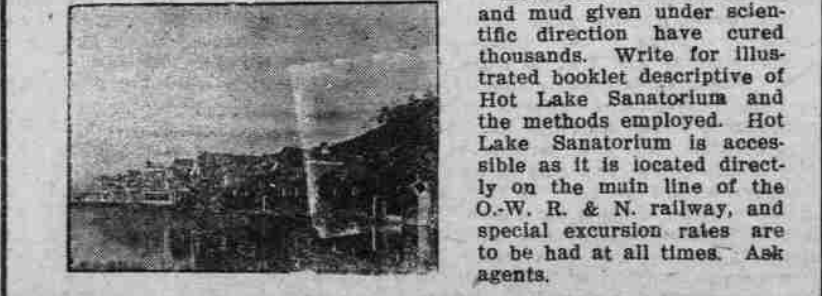

It is not generally known that J. H. Shorthouse had some difficulty in getting his famous historical romance, "John Inglesant," into print. Shorthouse was engaged ten years in writing the book, and every page he wrote it he submitted to the discriminating criticism of his wife. When the story was finished no publisher would accept it. Four years passed away, and then Shorthouse resolved to publish 100 copies at his own expense. When this was done a copy came into the hands of Alexander Macmillan, who recognized the merit of the novel and published it, with the result that all the world knows.—Treasury.

The Enterprise automobile contest is the most popular thing ever pulled off in the Willamette Valley.

NOT EXPENSIVE

CANDIDATES WORK FOR EXTRA PRIZES

The entrants are putting them away for future use. The one who has the most votes by next Friday will get his choice of $15 worth of merchandise in one of the prominent stores of this city.
Now that all the entrants to date are known each of them will settle down to good hard work to land that prize Friday, especially as every vote cast between now and then helps out on the grand total for the auto. While every one is out principally for the $755 Ford, these special prizes are well worth working for and rivalry is especially keen to see who will get this first award.

With twenty candidates already lined up in the first week of the contest, it is a certainty that this battle will be the most talked of event in the entire county from now till the close, June 1. Each part of the county is represented and every section is determined to assist its own respective candidate. But the candidates are not confined to the districts in which they live as the entire county is the field of all, and any one may enter the race.

It is expected that a few more candidates will send in their names at once to obtain the 1,000 free votes which are given to each one nominated. However, this free vote offer will be withdrawn in a short time as the nomination blanks will appear a limited number of times.

The new Ford Automobile purchased by the Enterprise will be awarded to the candidate who obtains the greatest number of votes before the closing of the contest. Votes are given for every subscription taken to the Weekly and Daily Enterprise. The work is easy and may be done in the spare time of the candidate, and the reward is certainly worthy of the best efforts of all nominated. In addition to securing a new auto fully equipped, and ready for use, every one entered in the race will have equal chances of winning one or more of the series of special prizes which will be awarded every ten days during the contest.

Now really wouldn't YOU like to own a dandy new automobile, one of the best makes? YOU means YOU, whether YOU are a man, woman, boy or girl. If you are an office man think of the pleasure you would get in a little trip out on the Pacific Highway after a hard day's work in a stuffy office. If you are a woman what wouldn't it be worth to you to be able to leave your house work to go for a little while and enjoy an hour in the outside, spinning along in a new machine? If you are a boy wouldn't you have lots of fun taking the other boys and girls out for rides in your speedy Ford? If you are a girl don't you realize what a big help an automobile would be to you this summer, especially as this is leap year? The ownership of the Ford is simply up to you. If you want the machine, (and who doesn't?) you can win it by a little work on your part. It doesn't cost anything to enter the race, and you get at least one thing to yourself to enter and see what you can do. You will be surprised to find the work so easy. All your friends will help you when they learn that you are out for the auto. Right now is the time to enter the race, the contest has just started and a couple of five-year subscriptions will put you well up in the list. Every one

Underwood Typewriter
UNDERWOOD SERVICE

A few years ago typewriters were used only for letter writing. But it is different today. Their field of usefulness has increased many fold. The UNDERWOOD introduced typewriter bookkeeping and the use of the typewriter for special accounting, recording, and statistical purposes.

There are over a score of special model Underwoods for special uses. Many corporations use four times as many UNDERWOODS for accounting work as for correspondence.

Department stores, banks, insurance companies, corporations, manufacturers and retailers use Underwood systems—condensed billing system, unit bill and order system, bill and charge system, and others planned for their particular needs.
