INVESTIGATE LABOR CONDITIONS

Bills have been introduced in the House and Senate to carry out the president's recommendation for the establishment of a commission to inquire into the existing relations between labor and capital. Evidently this was suggested to the president by the strike in Lawrence, Mass., which has been under way for over a month, and by the disagreement between the anthracite miners and the operators which is expected to bring a strike as soon as the present contracts end as the week hence. Possibly, too, the strike of the British coal miners, and the effects of which will be felt in several countries, including the United States, and some influence on the president in urging this commission.

If politics be kept out of it the proposed inquiry may benefit both capital and labor. One of its objects is to learn what effect the organizations of employers and workers has on the public welfare. Another purpose of the inquiry is to find out what results have come from collective bargaining of a means of avoiding labor disputes. Incidentally the commission is to give some attention to ascertaining the methods employed in Europe for "maintaining industrial peace." Perhaps Europe has not been quite so successful in this line as the framers of the bills before Congress imagine. The big coal strike in England and the recent irruptions along similar lines in France, Austria, Germany and other countries on the other side of the Atlantic show the folly of crying out peace, peace, when there is no peace.

The danger of getting politics into the projected investigation is greater than the average person may realize. Anybody who has read carefully the work of the various House committees of inquiry into many activities in the past few months will see the temptation which politicians have for injecting partnership into such investigations. The Democrats who control all these inquiries are less interested in getting all the truth than they are in making or attempting to make, capital for their party. Facts, when they are revealed are often distorted so as to be used if possible, in Democratic campaign documents. This is a presidential year, and the exigencies of politics make the Democratic party magnates more scrupulous even than usual. This is a peril which the fair-minded members of the proposed commission must avert if their work is to command any public confidence.

LADIES AID SOCIETY HAS BASKET ATTRACTION

The Ladies Aid Society of the Park-place Congregational church gave a basket social at the church parlors Friday evening which was largely attended. There were many beautiful baskets, each one containing a luncheon for two. One of the baskets sold for $5, while others ranged from $2.50 to $3. The one selling for $5 was in the form of a miniature house, and was eagerly sought, especially by two young men. The net proceeds of the affair amounted to $50 and many more baskets could have been disposed of providing there had been a sufficient supply on hand. After all baskets were disposed of and luncheon partaken of the remainder of the evening was spent in a social manner.

KENT WILSON IS AUTO CONTENDER

back all her votes to make a big showing Friday. Miss March has the whole of the Molalla country back of her and when she starts to sending her returns some more surprises will be sprung. Miss Reif of New Era, is another candidate who isn't saying much but who believes that deeds are worth more than mere words. Those New Era people have a habit of doing things of a sudden and so do not be surprised some fine morning to find that Miss Reif's name is away up in the list.

The big touring car looks good to John Brown too. A seven thousand jump in one day is going some and this candidate is going to do some one up "Brown" before the race is over. Sheehan will no doubt "plug" mightily hard the next few days to regain his position as leader but he will certainly have to hustle as Miss McCord is determined to retain her hard earned position and set the pace for the others for a while.

Kent Wilson's twenty thousand votes only shows what one can do by a little hard work. The opportunity to win a $750 new auto was too big a temptation for Wilson to resist and the Enterprise offers the same chance to win the big machine to every resident of this county. The race is still young and there is time and room for other entrants. You have the same chance as anyone, and its simply up to you to get the car. The person polling the most votes will receive the Ford, and votes are given for every subscription to the Daily or Weekly Enterprise. Both renewals and new subscriptions count, the work is easy and the prize worth every effort.

fort, and then the series of special awards are in every instance worth working for, in fact the Enterprise race has more attractive features than any newspaper contest ever pulled off in the northwest. If you really want the big machine enter the race today and get busy.

THE L SYSTEM NIFTY CLOTHES FOR YOUNG MEN Price Bros. OREGON CITY, ORE. A. A. PRICE, Manager and Buyer My Dear Sir:-- We don't go to every extreme to get customers but we want your attention for a few brief moments to assure you that we are now showing the most comprehensive line of men's wearables ever shown in this city, or any city with ten times the population of this city. In addition to the celebrated L System and Michaels Stern Makes of clothes we have added the National Student for young Men at $12 to $18 and the Hirsch, wickwire for Men. This line is especially worthy of mention as it is known as the finest tailored line in America. In the other departments we feature such well known brands as Stetson hats Manhattan shirts, Holeproof hosiery, Mentor union suits and Cheney and Cowens neckwear, which are on display now in all the new creations. Some stores offer the World with the Sun and Moon thrown in for good measure. We don't. We offer 100 cents of value for every dollar you spend with us; and another feature we might mention is that we keep every suit purchased for us pressed and cleaned once every week in our own tailoring room free of charge. In closing we want to state that we have contracted for the S. & H. trading stamps which we will give with every purchase. The S. & H. Trading Stamp concern is the largest premium house in America. Their premium parlor will be located in the Bannon Department Store, formerly the John Adams Store and we are certain this feature will interest you and we would be pleased to explain same to you. Awaiting a visit from you to look over our immense stock, and assuring you of our appreciation of your past patronage, we beg to remain. Yours for good clothes PRICE BROS. A. A. Industrial Education All Right, but Don't Forget the Sciences By Dr. THEODORE ZOLLMAN Professor In University of Freiburg, Germany AMERICAN people have the right idea about industrial education, but you are in DANGER OF DOING ONE THING YOU MAY IN YEARS TO COME REGRET. YOU ARE LIKELY TO GO TO THE EXTREME OF ELIMINATING THE SCIENTIFIC TEACHING, THE NECESSARY MENTAL BASIS, IN ORDER TO MAKE ROOM FOR YOUR INDUSTRIAL TRAINING. I BEG YOU, DON'T DO THAT. Always remember that scientific training is the BASIS FOR EVERYTHING and that industrial training, while a thing much to be desired and now coming to be demanded, must be made SECONDARY. Unless you are careful you will soon have a nation of mere skilled workmen and will not then make that progress which only scientific minds can bring. What should be done and what Dr. Leitz, the foremost of the industrial training men in Germany, is doing is to TAKE THE PUPILS TO THE COUNTRY. And you do not pay enough attention to conservation. Perhaps you think you don't have to. We in Germany thought so for many, many years. Then we woke to find we were too WASTEFUL, and we taught our schoolboys and schoolgirls to SAVE. Same Old Story. "Can't you contribute something for our charity bazaar?" "But the affair has been over two weeks." "Yes; we're making up the deficit now."—Louisville Courier-Journal. Americans Abroad. First American Tourist (in a Paris cafe)—What shall we order? Second Ditto—I dunno. Wait. I noticed in one of the papers that snails have nearly doubled in price. Let's have a snail.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.
