There is a strong tone in the hop market but more false stories are afloat than for some time. Fictitious sales are being reported by bulls who are unable to name the sellers. This is done in the hope of forcing the price of spot goods higher. Recent reports from California would indicate that the market was really at 40 cents a pound for 1911s there but no business has really been closed in the valley so far as can be confirmed. Transactions in a limited way at 39c have been shown for infer-ior quality which would indicate that
