RAILROAD PRESIDENT HILL SLAYS GOAT

RAILROAD PRESIDENT HILL SLAYS GOAT

AVAILON, Cal., March 18.—Louis V. Hill, president of the Great Northern Railway, killed a wild goat which had a span of horns measuring thirty-one inches across, yesterday.

Mrs. Hill left on horseback for a ride to the west side of the island. Immediately after the news was received here, Louis Hill, Jr., the oldest son of the railroad magnate, commenced his plans to best his father's reported record.

It had been arranged to take the little fellow horseback to Middle ranch Tuesday. Several times while practicing with the rifle the boy has proved himself an excellent marksman. The boy believes that he will be successful in getting a great head.

CATTLE MARKET HAS DOWNWARD TENDENCY

The Portland Union Stock Yards Company report as follows: Receipts for the week have been 1846 cattle; 23 calves; 2122 hogs; 3251 sheep and 44 horses.

The cattle market at the week's close shows a weakness and lower prices as compared with the week previous. Cows and butcher stuff sold out of proportion as compared with the price of steers, occasioned by the strong demand by the butcher classes.

The hog market was steady to strong throughout the week. The same facts applying to the cattle purchased apply to hogs. For the first time in two years a few tops at Chicago have sold at prices slightly in advance of the Portland market.

The sheep market was steady to strong throughout the week. There was an active, snappy demand for all offerings, with an upward tendency all prices.

The Last Inhabitant

A Sailor's Yarn

By CLARISSA MACKIE

"Yes, siree," ejaculated Ananias Sline as he hitched his chair a little nearer the red-hot stove in Jabez Honey's store.

It was a stormy winter evening. It had been snowing for an hour, and now, at supper time, the flakes were hurrying themselves against the store windows with little hissing spats that boded a long storm.

"As I was saying, if I had time I could tell you the queerest story you ever heard."

"What's the use of going?" asked Jabez weakly. "Can't you pick up a supper here? I'll treat so long as you're going to entertain me with a story."

"I don't mind if I do," said Ananias with alacrity, and he whipped out of his overcoat, tossed it on a convenient barrel and rubbed his hands expectantly.
