THE LEGISLATURE

This year we elect three regular Clackamas County representatives to our State Legislature, and one joint representative with Multnomah County. The time is short for nominations, and there are seven candidates in the field, while more are coming to the front almost daily. Some are no doubt better equipped for the honor than others and it is the duty of each and every citizen to go to the polls at the primary election April 19 and vote for the three best suited for the great work set before them.

Ed Olds, candidate for representative spoke at Gladstone, Thursday evening in Gault's hall. On Friday evening he will speak at Canby, and Saturday evening at Logan.

Mrs. A. Lincoln Hart and two sons, Lincoln and Brandt, arrived Wednesday evening from the East after an absence of two years. Mrs. Hart is the daughter of our fellow townsman, Louis Brandt. The family will remain here permanently as Mr. Hart will come later and locate in Oregon. Mrs. Hart says she is glad to get back to Oregon after living where it is so cold and so many blizzards.

Miss Augusta Brandt received a letter from her brother, Ralph, who has been in the P. S. stating that his company would sail March 14, for the United States on the transport steamer Sheridan and will be stationed at Port Leavenworth. Ralph's time expires in July, when he expects to come home.

FIRWOOD.

Isaac P. Hart was born at Litchfield, Connecticut, July 16, 1834. He was left an orphan at four years of age. When 8 years old he went, with a sister, to Ohio and was placed with an uncle with whom he lived until the uncle died. At the age of 16 he returned to Connecticut by foot. In March, 1857, he married Jane Hill, at New Haven, then going to Bristol, Connecticut, to live. He became a member of the First Baptist church of Bristol in 1857. They lived in Bristol for 15 years and a family of six children—four boys and two girls—was born to them. Mr. Hart then moved his family to Northwest Wisconsin, locating on the frontier. Here he became an earnest worker in the development of a new country. He took an active part in the establishment of district schools in the country and for years led in Sunday school work, there being only occasional preaching. He was often called upon to conduct funerals. His sympathetic heart led him to the bedside of the sick, and as justice of the peace he united in the holy bonds of wedlock many youths and maidens. It was at this time that he became a member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, working earnestly in the organization of Lodge No. 269 at Rice Lake, Wis. In this lodge he received all the degrees and held the office of Noble Grand and Chaplain for several years. From there he became a member of Lodge No. 459, Coon Rapids, Iowa, in which he worked earnestly and has since retained his membership from Wisconsin. He moved to Sioux City, Iowa, opening up a fine farm of 200 acres, also being quite well known in public life. He moved from Sioux City to Oregon in the spring of 1906, settling at Cottrell, where he found many friends and was kindly received by his people. For the past year his decline has been quite perceptible, and during the past three months he has been confined to the house. The nature of the decline was at times quite depressing but being conscious of this he expressed his determination to be cheerful and accomplished much in that line. The end seemed hastened by a severe cold settling on the lungs. Deceased leaves a wife and four children, and seventeen grandchildren, to hold his memory sacred. The children are Ettie S., who lives with her mother, Charles H., of Rice Lake, Wis., Isaac T., of Pleasanton, Neb., Benjamin F., of Portland, Ore. Mr. Hart was beloved by all who knew him and was grandpa to everyone. The funeral services were held at the house, conducted by the I. O. O. F. lodge of Sandy, and Rev. H. S. Black of the Second Baptist church of Portland, Ore. Interment in Mt. Scott cemetery, Portland. The Odd Fellows, who acted as pall bearers, were J. Laundree, G. C. Mar-

Willamette Falls The waters that so long With softly murmured song, Have loitered through the valley's broad expanse In mighty torrent pour, A down with deafening roar, Above the foamy eddies' maddened dance. I stand amazed in wonder; No sound I hear but thunder Amid the moving splendor of it all. A misty cloud in white Half veileth from my sight, The raging of the deep beneath the fall. Forever dashing down, In sun or weather's frown, To the beholder's wonder and delight Forever in turmoil, Turning its wheels of toll Of weaker man, yet master of its might. ANDREW FRANZEN.

LABOR PROPOSAL IS SPURNED BY ASQUITH LONDON, March 22.—Saying an amendment offered by the labor party to the minimum wage bill, fixing the minimum daily wage for adults and minors in the coal mines, would "establish a dangerous precedent followed by a demand from other trades for similar action." Premier Asquith today explained to the house of commons why he felt forced to reject the amendment. The miners, Asquith said, are opposed to fixing a minimum wage for six days' labor. The laborite amendment called for a minimum wage of five shillings daily for adults and two shillings for minors. Andrew Bonar Law sprung a surprise on the Liberals today by commending the action of the premier in the matter. He spoke conciliatingly in the house of commons, indicating that the conservative party will not join in a combination with the Nationalists and the laborites to defeat the government.
