

1 DEAD; 2 WOUNDED IN AUTO HOLD UP

were seriously injured. Bruce D. Stewart a brother of one of the wounded men took the wheel and speeded the car to the residence of Judge C. H. Carey, where the wounded men were cared for until the arrival of an ambulance.

H. L. Tabb, who lives at the Mulnomah Hotel, escaped injury but a shot pierced the sleeve of his overcoat. Donald M. Stewart lives at 233 East Third Street North, and Bruce D. Stewart is secretary of the Manu & Stewart Company, 301 East Seventeenth Street, North. Mr. Tabb is employed in the Northern Pacific Freight Department.

The scene of the hold up was shaded by trees and is densely dark, but the members of the party obtained a fair view of the highwayman. He wore gray trousers and khaki coat. The authorities think he is a resident of the neighborhood where the hold up occurred, for they do not believe it likely that a man would carry a shot gun a long distance to use for murderous purposes. That he is probably insane is indicated by his shooting after the autoists had got by him, and he had no chance of robbing them, and by shooting menaced his own life.

Sheriff Mass searched for the cartridges from the gun, thinking they might give a clue to the identity of the man, but none was found, and he evidently picked up all of them.

Another theory is that the highwayman fired first at the driver, thinking that by killing him the machine would be ditched, and the members of the party would be at his mercy. It is also thought that the robber believed that by puncturing one of the tires which he did with the last shot that the machine would be stopped, but it was not until it had gone a quarter of a mile from the place of the attempted hold up.

"We had just crossed the bridge between Oswego and Riverdale," said Tabb, "and were ascending Elkrock Hill when we saw the figure in the road. It looked for all the world like a woman, and one of the party said to Bruce Stewart to be careful not to run over her. But when we got a little nearer we saw that the person was a man and that he had a gun. Hardly had we reached him when he stepped to the right side of the road, and commanded us to halt. As we sped by and hardly before we could realize what was happening he began firing and Hastings fell limp from his seat. Three more shots were fired in rapid succession."

It was thought at first that the robber used a rifle but when an examination of the wounds were made at the home of Judge Carey it was found that they had been inflicted with a gun loaded with buckshot. Sheriff Mass and Stevens added to their posess upon their arrival and they think the man will be captured. It is thought probable that after leaving the road he headed for Portland thinking that it would be easier for him to conceal himself there than in the country.

First of all look after your bowels; if they need attention use any reliable cathartic. Then pour a scant teaspoonful of HYOMEI into a bowl of boiling water, cover head and bow with a towel and breathe for 5 or 10 minutes the pleasant, soothing, healing vapor.

Do this just before going to bed: your head will feel fine and clear and you'll awake from a refreshing sleep minus a cold in the morning.
