Adams Department Store

The Most in Valne, The Best in Quality

Trading Stamps

Touse cleaning time is here. You may want some new furniture. Come to the Adams Furniture department and look over the many handsome pieces of new furniture just put in stock

Lace Curtains Portieres and Draperies in Large Variety to Select From

Stoves and Ranges

A large stock of stoves and ranges. Your choice of the Queen, Charter Oak, Real Estate and Jewel ranges. We can suit you in price and terms.

Ostemoor Mattresses from $10 to

Good Quality Mattresses from $2.50 to $10

Wall Paper

New. handsome patterns in large assortment.

Department

LIVE STOCK MARKET HAS SHARP ADVANCE

The Portland Union Stock Yards Company reports as follows: been as follows: Cattle 1770; Calves $1.25 to $1.50; turnips, $1.25 to $1.50; 10; Hogs 1829; Sheep 3017; Goats 361; beets, $1.50.

all classes of livestock has been red. strong with a sharp advance in all ter than last week's best sales, one load of tops brought $6.90. Cows and heifers were in good demand at $5.85 and 6½c; cows, 4½c; bulls 3½c, for the best. Bulls advanced about VEAL—Calves 10c to 12c dressed, 50c per hundred, highest sale being $5.50. Very few calves offering and those of inferior quality, though the best brought $8.50.

Hogs closed last Saturday at $7.50 and opened on Monday at $8.00 to $8.05 at which figures they have remained during the week. Market is steady to strong at these quotations. Heavy hogs sold as high as $7.50 with majority of sales around $7.00 to $7.25. Scarcity of mutton sheep continues quite a bunch of spring lambe on the market which brought from 8c to 10c a pound. The demand for this class of sheep is not very large and butchers are well supplied at this writing, all of Central Point, eldest son of Mr Mutton sheep have advanced all and Mrs. George Randall, of this city, around, ewes being quoted as high as 5c, yearling 6c, lambs with wool were held at the Central Point Metho-

$6.75, wethers $5.75 to $5.85.

The following sale	s are repr	esentative:
25 steers	1252	$6.90
54 steers	1100	6.85
448 steers	1095	6.75
78 steers	1160	6.50
6 cows	1212	5.85
15 Cows	1082	5.80
8 cows .	1084	5.65
15 cows	960	5.00
3 calves	243	8.50
1 bull	1700	5.50
4 bulls	1210	4.50
25 bulls	1325	3,25
192 hogs	172	8.05
1227 hogs .	195	8.00
13 hogs	326	7.25
12 hogs/	360	7.00
250 lambs	52	10.00
64 Well lambs	73	6.45
352 Sheared lambs	76	5.50
171 Ewes	92	4.85

Prevailing Oregon City prices are as DRIED FRUITS-(Buying)-Prunes on basis of 6 to 8 cents.

Fruits, Vegetables to 14c; sheep pelts, 25c to 75c each.

FEED-(Sellng)-Shorts, $25; bran, $24; rolling barley, $39; process bar-

FLOUR-$4.50 to $5.25. Butter, Poultry, Eggs. POULTRY-(Selling)-Hens to 13c spring, 12c to 13c, and roosters

Butter—(Buring) — Ordinary country butter, 20c to 30c; fancy dairy, EGGS-Oregon ranch eggs, 181/2c.

SACK VEGETABLES - Carrots, Receipts for the past week have $1.25 to $1.50 per sack; parsnips POTATOES-Best buying $1.25 to

The general tone of the market on $1.50 according to quality per hund-ONIONS-Oregon, $1.25 to $1.50 per

Steers brought 10 to 15c bet hundred; Australian, $2 per hundred Livestock, Meats BEEF-(Live Weight)-Steers, 51/2

> ording to grade. MOHAIR-30c to 31c. MUTTTON-Sheep 3c to 31/2c. lambs, 4c and 5c.

FINAL TRIBUTE PAID GILBERT S. RANDALI

The funeral of Gilbert Samuel Randdist Episcopal church Sunday afternta- noon at 2 o'clock, Rev. Wilson, pastor of that church officiating. The in-90 terment was in Mountain View cemetery. Many friends of the deceased 5.75 living in this city attended the ser vices at the grave while many of his 5.85 friends and neighbors attended at the 5.80 church. The pallbearers who were China, August Staehley, Jacob Ret-5.00 tinger, Harry Eastman, Mr. Gregory 3.50 and J. R. Cawthorn.

Mr. Raadall was born at Rockville, 1.50 Conn., November 7, 1867, and came 3.25 with his parents to Oregon by way of the Isthmus of Panama when he was 3.00 six months of age. The family set-7.25 tled at Central Point on a large farm, where Mr. Randall grew to manhood, and where he has since lived.

BRUTUS at the Grand TOMORROW. MISS HOLMES HONORED BY KING'S DAUGHTERS

The Daughters of the King of the St. Paul's Episcopal church met in the church Monday afternoon and HIDES—(Buying)—Green hides, 61/2 elected officers to serve for the ento 7c; salters 71/2 to 8c; dry hides 12c suing year, as follows: Miss M. L. Holmes, president; Mrs. H. S. Mount, Hay, Grain, Feed. vice-president; Miss Elizabeth HAY—(Buying)—Timothy, $12 to secretary; Mrs. J. J. Tobin, treavice-president; Miss Elizabeth Roos, $15; clover, $9 to $10; oat hay, best, Mrs. Carl Joehnke, Mrs. T. P. Randall $9 to $10; mixed, $9 to $12; alfalfa, and Mrs. L A Morris were appointed as a committee to visit the sick. OATS-(Buying)-Gray $31 to $32; er business of importance was brought wheat $20; oil meal, selling $35; up for discussion, and an adjourned Shady Brook dairy feed, selling $1.25 meeting will be held at the home of Miss Gertrude Fairclogh April 19.

BRUTUS at the Grand TOMORROW, breakfast food you can have.

Heart to Heart Talks. By EDWIN A. NYE.

CHARLES DICKENS.

Throughout the English speaking world the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Charles Dickens was celebrated on Feb. 7.

What a picture gallery of-characters appears at the mention of his name-Pickwick and his friends and the immortal Samuel; Tiny Tim, the embodiment of cheerfulness and love; David Copperfield, Oliver Twist and Fagin; the Cherryble brothers; Marley, who was dead as a doornall, and Scrooge; Dick Swiveller and Little Nell. He was a preacher of righteousness and kindness and justness. And purity-There is not a word in all those thirty volumes of his thirty years of writing that, dying, he would wish to blotnot a word that a pure child cannot read.

And-How he hated cruelty and hypocrisy and meanness! And how he exalted goodness and truth and beauty! His high purpose and earnestness are a living rebuke to the flimsy novel writers of our day who are all for art and nothing for the heart. He put an end to the prison for debtors. He closed the doors of the Yorkshire type of schools. He made hypocrisy hideous in the umble Uriah Heep and crime repulsive in Bill Sikes. He made Pecksulff an adjective and wrote it in front of very pious humbug. Every pompous ne'er-do-well is a Mi-

Why does the world continue to read and love Dickens? Because he photographed life. He of all artists held the mirror up to nature. His wonderful power of observation made the portraits clear.

Note this: olty of seeing humans and things. The others and left the cafe. same sort of people he pictured live with his eyes. To know Dickens is to have an observant, kindly friend at one's elbow. He is also an inspiration. He saw the good and emphasized it

He saw the bad and characterized it. If there is any book of his you have not read, read it. It will not hurt you. It will help you. Honor to his memory!

The Morning Enterprise is the best

The Spotted Death

A Story of Vengeance

By F. A. MITCHEL

jus, France-the same Frejus at vapoleon L landed when he escaped from Elba-located on the shore of the Mediterraneau sea, there lived in adjoining places a veritable f and Virginia. The young man, Edou. Le Fevre, at eighteen was rather of the northern than the southern type, having a profusion of light curly hair and blue eyes. Helene Boucleault was at seventeen a tall, slender girl with hair and eyes contrasting with those of her lover. Both were strikingly handsome, and when together the difference in type rendered them especially noticeable.

Then, too, they delighted to climb to the heights behind their homes, where they could look down upon the long tortuous line of foam extending northward and southward, fringing the sea a deep blue, a pale green or liquid silver. Their companionship grew into love without their being conscious of the transition. Loving was like breathing, and, not having been sensible of its beginning, they took no thought of its ending.

When the break came it was a great shock to both. Edonard was sent to Paris to complete his education and study a profession. For some time before his departure there was scarcely an hour that the two lovers were not together. It is usually the man who case It was the woman who encouraged the man, though of the two it is probable she suffered the more. She held up before him pictures of his return at vacation time and finally, after he had acquired his profession, their

"I AM THE SPOTTED DEATH!" SHE SAID. home together in Marsellies or some of the larger places on the French Mediterranean coast. But Edonard seemed to have a foreboding that these pletures would never be realized.

The lovers counted the days between vacations, and as one vacation after another brought a realization of Helene's prediction Edouard's forebod ings seemed likely to have been merely the result of some physical depression. He completed his academic studies, then began a course to fit him for the law. A brilliant scholar and prominent in other respects, he was marked by his fellow students one day to take an active part in the political doings of France.

One evening when young Le Fevre was dining with some of his associates in a cafe a man entered and sat at a table near them. As soon as he appeared the conversation among the students was hushed, while they cast covert glances at the newcomer. "Who is he?" asked Edouard.

"The spotted death!" whispered one of the party.

"Why is he called that?" "The name is given him from the Asiatic plague, which occasionally finds its way into Europe and kills every person it attacks. He has fought many duels and has never failed to kill his man." "Does he seek quarrels?" "Yes; he delights in them. Don't talk so lond. If he should hear you speak ill of him he would call you out and kill you." "Why has no one undertaken to put him out of the way? He should be that down like a dog."

The spotted death's eye flashed. He had overheard Le Fevre's words. He had ordered a bottle of wine and had poured out a glass. Rising with it in his hand, he advanced a few steps toward Edouard and threw its contents

dents was horror stricken. Le Fevre duelist did not notice it at once, but saw the position in which he was in a moment, putting up his hand, he placed and, though he regretted his rashness, did what was expected of him. He asked one of his friends to go to the man who had insulted him and secure his address, then, without One reads Dickens and gains the fac- waiting for a reply, arose with the

In Le Fevre's rooms a consultation about us today, and we know them not of his friends was held to determine until we have learned to look at them | what was to be done. Considering the sentiment prevalent at that time, it was determined that if Edouard did not meet the spotted death he might as well give up his career so far as his native country was concerned, and there was then no civilized land where a man was excused from resenting an insult. Edouard resigned himself to his fate. He sent a challenge, and the meeting was arranged for the following morning at sunrise

That night Edouard wrote a letter to Helene couched in the terms of one

LOWER ELECTRIC RATES

As a result of economic methods and the acquirement of additional facilities, the PORTLAND RAILWAY, LIGHT & POWER COMPANY takes a great deal of pleasure in announcing to the citizens of Oregon City and the surrounding territory an important reduction in its electric light and power rates,

IMPORTANT

It has been the constant policy of the Company to give good service at reasonable rates. The Company is more interested than anybody else in building up a bigger, busier and better Portland, and it fully recognizes the important influence of low rates and good service. The new lighting rate is 9, 7 and 4c per kilowatt hour. Details of this reduction and the conditions involved can be secured upon application at any of the Company's offices. Several months will be required to change over the 31,000 accounts which this reduction in lighting rates will affect. In order that our patrons may be put to the least possible inconvenience, new contracts will be mailed beginning May 1st. The Company earnestly requests that these be signed, witnessed and returned to the Company's representative in Oregon City as promptly as possible, thus avoiding the possibility of waiting in line at the office.

Portland Railway, Light and Power Company

MAIN OFFICE SEVENTH & ALDER STS PHONES MAIN 6688 AND A. 6131.

who expected to die within a few hours. He had no skill at any weapon and knew he was to be murdered. The main trouble that occupied his mind was the suffering his murder would occasion her. He begged her to do all In her power to forget him.

As was to have been expected, the spotted death the next morning made ort work of his antagonist, running him through the heart with ease. student expired immediately. His comrades regretted the want of caution that led to his death, and in a short time he was forgotten.

One night at a masked ball a figure entered the hall on whose mask was painted the spotted death. Evidently an artist had designed the mask, for nothing could be more horrible, representing, as it did, a man dying with the dreaded Asiatic disease. The spots had been so artistically painted as to appear those of the veritable infliction, Every one shrank from the loathsome looking masker, who gazed about the room till his eye fell on a man dressed as a Spanish grandee, then walked across the floor, every one withdrawing before him with a shud der, till, reaching the Spanish gentle man, he stood very close to him and

"Ladies and gentlemen." said the aggressor, "we two-I and this man-are twin brothers. We are both the spotted death. I wear my colors on my person, his are in his name."

At receiving the insult the Spaniard recoiled for a moment then, recovering himself, tore off his mask and revealed the features of the duelist who had killed Edouard Le Fevre.

"Unmask as I have done and let me know who you are," he said to the man who had spat upon him. "That is unnecessary. I am the spotted death, the person of your twelve victims. The thirteenth is about to die."

"And he is?" "Yourself."

Whether it was the confident tone in which the word was spoken or the livid agony expressed in the mask the duelist could not repress a slight start. "Enough of this:" he said. "Your coming here to disturb these festivities shall be punished. I will send a friend to any address you name."

"Pardon me; but, lest the insult I have given you should not be sufficient. I will duplicate it." Bending forward quick as lightning;

the speaker struck the duelist on the cheek with the palm of his hand. A Every member of the party of stu- drop of blood followed the blow. The wiped it away.

"Your address!" he cried, irritated at this second insult.

"You shall have it in time. Messieurs and mesdames, pardon for interrupting your festivities. On with the dance! It is now 10 o'clock. By midnight or within an hour fater my twin brother shall have my address. I desire to accord him a few hours of merriment before I embrace him!" The duelist with difficulty maintained

At midnight the revelers unmasked. The duelist, who after the altercation had resumed his face covering, on taking it off a second time was seen to be suffering. He attempted to leave the hall, but staggered, and before reaching the floor fell. It was noticed by those who went to his assistance that his face was covered with spots such as were painted on the mask of the man who had insult "The snotted death!" some one exclaimed.

Then his enemy, still masked, appeared on the scene and, bending over him said: "I embrace you, my brother."

revealed-a woman whose rare beauty had been marred by suffering. "You will not need my address," she said. "When I slapped your cheek, in my palm was a needle on whose point was the virus of the spotted death. Your victims, including Edouard Le Fevre, are avenged." While she spoke the spots on the man's face grew stronger and its expression like the mask she had worn. There was something startling in his own expression at seeing the change when she unmasked from the hideous apparition to the features of a delicate woman who hung over him like an avenging angel. The disease with which she had inoculated him works quickly, and the man was already dying. She continued to gaze upon him while his breath grew shorter till at one supporting him. Helene Boucicault returned simultaneously to her native town with the news of her avenging act. Paris was glad to get rid of the man whom all dreaded, and she was never called to account for her act. How she tracked her lover's murderer, prepared for her work, she never told, for she never spoke of the tragedy in any part. She lived many years, some asserting that she had become demented by being robbed of her lover, others claiming that she was mentally sound.

last be fell back dead in the arms of church instead of Wednesday night as formerly. Every member of the sotional church, the rehearsal to be devoted entirely to Concert music. The Oregon City Band will meet in the siring the repeal of the school super-Armory Wednesday night, for march-visor law, I will work for the repeal. ing drill, and the concert program I will vote against needless appropriabe given next Saturday night at Seventh and Main. This will be for the and all attempts to weaken the initibenefit of the business men of the ative and referndum and recall. community.

BRUTUS at the Grand TOMORROW. PHILHARMONIC SOCIETY

near Pine creek when they saw a red fox coming down the road at full speed and about twenty feet in the rear a wildcat. The men had a view of the race for nearly a mile The pace was terrific, and neither runner seemed to gain an inch on the other for the whole distance. But the cat evidently had more endurance and would have overtaken the fox had it not been for the men in the buggy. Reynard chose the lesser of two evils and ran up holdly.

passing the men like an arrow, but the wildcat stopped at sight of them and, after a second's hesitation, slunk

A Wildcat and a Fox.

Two Colorado men were out driving into the bushes and gave up the chase -St. Louis Globe-Pemocrat. Bird Reservations. The federal government owns fiftyfive bird reservations in different parts of the United States.

F. M. Gill

Republican candidate for nomination for representative, only condidate from east end of the County.

GENTLEMEN:-It will not be possible for me to meet each voter in the county. I am a farmer and have my spring work to do. Hence I havetaken a page in the State Voter's Pamphlet to place before you my record of service in the last House of Representatives. PLEASE READ IT. It will probably be the last page of the pamphlet. Let me remind you that voted against more than ($1,000,000) one million dollars of appropriations, that I voted against useless commissions; and against every effort to weaken the initiative and referendum. I voted for Dimick's 8-hour bill and fought for the rights of Clackamas County's fishermen. I was the recog-nized leader of the farmers' fight against cross state roads and Portland road bills. The farmers won. I MEETS THIS EVENING believe their victory was at least partly due to my efforts in organizing the The Philharmonic Society will meet House against those bills. I am one this evening at the Congregational of the authors of the grange road bills. If people living along the Pacific Highway or Capital City Highway desire to use their tax money on ciety is urged to be present. The these roads, well and good. It is their Philharmonic orchestra is to meet as own business. But people in the east these roads, well and good. It is their usual Friday night, at the Congrega- end of this county should not be taxed for such purposes.

tions, useless commissions, and offices

PIONEER OF 1845 VISITS FRIENDS HERE

John B. Fifers, one of the promient Oregon pioneers, was in this city Monday, and while here visited Mrs. M. M. Carver, of Thirteenth and Wash-McConnville, O., to Oregon by team in 1845. There were thirty persons in the party and many hardships were endured. Mr. Fifers also visited several other Oregon ploneers and enjoyed the day relating experiences. He is in his 82nd year, and is enjoying the best of health. He has been spending the winter as is his cutom in Southern Oregon, and is on his way home to Tekoa. Wash., where he will spend the summer.