ELEVATOR FOR BLUFF

The rising generation continues to take up subjects either uathought of or considered impossible by our forefathers. Like many other items of interest to the general public, an elevator is a necessity, is a possibility and when installed, we will all ask each other and ourselves, "why didn't we do that long ago?"

As in all matters, however, difficulties of one nature or another are encountered and an important one now seems possible to retard immediate work. When our fathers laid out have left a promenade between Sixth Wilson in his home state. and Seventh on the edge of the bluff "The judgment of the cord. There is no doubt about prop-erty values increasing with the eleerty values increasing with the elevator service and the it operty immediately adjoining would be given a boost votes after the nomination." such as no other civic improvement could give. When the council takes come forth with the desired rights, wives , many of whom have babies, and who find it very difficult to visit the business district. This is a good live subject-Boost for it!

NOVELTY.

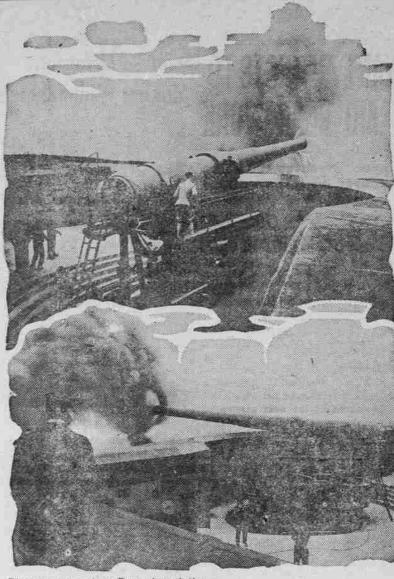

The enormous influence of novelty-the way in which it quickens observation, sharpens sensation and exalts sentiment is not half enough taken note of by us and is to me a very sorrowful matter. And yet, if we try to obtain perpetual change, change itself will become monotonous. The two points of practical wisdom in the matter are, first, to be content with as little novelty as possible at a time and, secondly, to preserve as much as possible the sources of novelty.-Rus in.

Paternal Confidence.

The Young Man (with some embarrassment)-There is one question you haven't asked me yet, Mr. Hurpop. You haven't wanted to know whether or not I think I can make a living for your daughter. The Other Man-That isn't necessary. Henry. She'll see that you make the living, all right, if she's at all like her mother, and I think she ls.-Chicago Tribune.

Testing Fort Monroe's Big Coast Defense Guns

Photos by American Press Association

NE of the most important artillery stations and schools in the world is that which is maintained by the United States government at Fort Monroe, Va., where the so called School of Submarine Defense and the Artillery School of Fort Monroe have been merged into an Institution known as the Coast Artillery school. Here officers and enlisted men are instructed in the latest methods employed for the defense of the national coast line, and here are conducted tests of marksmanship and powder efficiency of the highest importance, in which the big guns shown in the illustrations figure in a manner most interesting not only to those connected with the school, but to the many visitors at the big hotels across the bay at Old Point Comfort. At the test during which the photographs reproduced above were taken some remarkable smoke effects were caught by the camera. The fort was entirely remodeled a few years ago, and its appearance is now quite different from that which it presented at the close of the civil war, when it was for two years the prison of Jefferson Davis

BY EMPIRE STATE

ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 10. The Republican State Convention adopted today a platform urging New York's delgation to the Chicago National Convention to favor the renomination of President Taft,, elected four delgates-at-large and alternates to that convention, and adjourned sine

The delegates chosen are United States Senator Elihu Root, State Chairman William Barnes, J. William Berri, of Brooklyn and Edwin A. Merritt, Jr., Speaker of the Assembly.

Temporary chairman Butler was CO., F. M. Bluhm. Wood and coal made permanent chairman when the Chairman Barnes read the platform, your orders Pacific 3502. Home which was made public last night and which endorses President Taft. One plank of the Sherman anti-trust law was not made public until today. It reads:

"We believe in adequate laws to prevent monoply in trade. We favor the retention of the Sherman anti-trust act; but that it should be supplemeted by further legislation give the same certainity to the law controlling combinations and monop olies that characterize other provis ions of our commercial law, to the end that the field of business opportunity shall not be restricted by monopoly or combination; that business successes honestly achieved, may not be converted into crimes, and that the right of all men to acquire any commodity, and particularly the necessities of life in an open market, unnfluenced by the manipulation of trusts or combinations, may be preerved.

"There should be provision for an administrative board for the better enforcement of the law against mon-There should be further legslation to define as criminal offenses specific acts which mark attempts to restrain and monopolize the trade; so that those who honestly latend to obey the law may have a guide for action and those who violate the law may more surely be punished." The indorsement of President Taft prought general applause. Senator Root then seconded the resolution in a speech in which he con-fined himself to a single subject of the platform-the interference with the independence of the judiciary.

'We can change the tariff laws on questions of general public moment, he said, "but the eternal principles of justice can never be changed without degraation of the people."
