ed to make Oregon their future home the former having purchased a magnificent home on Portland Heights, Portland, and will also buy a large tract of land near this city, where she will erect a home. Miss Percival is bringing with her three servants. Miss Marion Robinson, a sister of Rev. Robinson, had intended accompanying her sister here, but is still confined in a hospital in Chicago, where she has been very ill for some time. As soon as she is able to make the trip, she too intends coming to Oregon.

LINEN GOWN

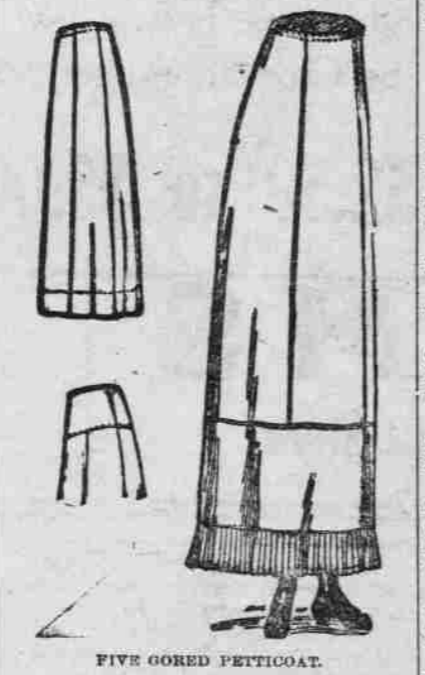

The linen gown pictured above incorporates two novelties in its double collar and overskirt. The bodice is of natural color linen; the lower of the two collars is of brown linen, the upper of white. The oddly shaped cuffs are in this two-tone effect, in this case the one which overlaps being of the brown. There is a shallow yoke of heavy ecru lace, girdle of brown ribbon and flat bow and gilt buckle at the front. The underskirt and upper portion of the overskirt are of the natural colored linen. A narrow band of the brown shows just beneath the upper tunic giving the effect of a double tunic.

FASHION BREVITIES.

Hairdressing This Season Harmonizes With Frock.

With the "little frock" has come the simple coiffure. But, like all simple things, the neatly dressed head is the result of a careful arrangement of strands of hair and sometimes the skillful use of supplemental hair to gain effects which our own growth would not give.

The neatly waved head, with one's own hair divided by the master hand

FIVE GORED PETTICOAT.

Into even strands and with a rippling wave covering each ear, is not as easy as it looks. The plain, smoothly fitting petticoat is a necessity beneath the fashionable gowns. The skirt pictured is adapted for all the materials used for petticoats. It is finished with a circular flounce edged with a plaited fringe.

R. Daugherty, Vernon Pittman, Helen Clester and Lillian Mitts; "Closing Address," Sylvia Hubbard; tableau, "Good Night and Home Sweet Home." Following the program was the sale of baskets by J. R. Cole of Molalla.

MOLALLA.
A fear of a drouth need not be entertained, if it does not rain this week. Last Saturday was a busy day. We had Grange, Teachers' Institute, Railroad Meeting and Base Ball, also during the noon hour the Board of Directors of the Molalla Telephone Company had a meeting to transact urgent business in connection with the new central office for the company. Messrs. Dimick, McCarver, McBein, Harding, Elby and Hunsley made practical business talks on the Clackamas Southern railroad, construction of which will be completed to Molalla by Fall regardless of what opposing interests may say about the project. E. E. Judd, who has been under the doctor's care for two months, has made no material improvement and was taken to Oregon City Sunday to consult with Dr. Mount about his peculiar case and may go on to Portland for special treatment. Mrs. Judd and Lora accompanied him.

WILLAMETTE.
Mrs. Pearl Manning who has been attending business college in Portland has postponed her studies for a time to fill the position of Miss Hickman in the office of the Willamette Pulp & Paper Co.

STAFFORD.
We rejoice with other friends of Mrs. Chas. Thompson that she has passed the crisis and we trust, on the road to complete recovery. She has been critically ill with pneumonia. Mrs. Ellen Seedling, who was so very sick with pneumonia when her brother died, is up and about but is regaining her strength slowly, and suffers at times with nervous spells. The doctor thinks she will get over that as her strength returns.

INFORMATION by TELEPHONE

PEOPLE are not leaving so much to chance in these days of universal telephone service. Instead of risking disappointment they telephone and get the facts.

Will school be held on a stormy morning, will your friends be in if you call, what does the weather man predict and when does the train leave—are samples of myriads of questions constantly passing over the wire and being answered by the proper authorities.

There are also questions to be asked about the telephone service, how somebody can be reached over the Bell Long Distance Telephone and what it will cost, and similar questions, which are being answered by the information operators.

find out if their suspicions are correct. The rag bee last week at Mrs. Chas. Tiedeman's was a grand success as the ladies got about thirty pounds ready for the weaver. Such old-fashioned, neighborly bees are enjoyed by all and help a neighborhood to get acquainted, as country people are looking to the city more and more for all their recreation.

I am requested to remind the ladies that next Thursday, the 18th, the Ladies Circle is to meet with Mrs. Thompson and spend the day.

Mrs. Gage's friend, Miss Fradenburg, left last Thursday for Southern Oregon. She made many friends while here.

Reint DeNul, with men and teams, is busy fixing the bad places in the roads, and the farmers are steadily at work upon their telephone line.

Gus Gebhardt has his phone installed and others will be falling into line soon with switch board at Zack Elligsen's.

Mr. Lucas has been able to occupy his pulpit on the last two Sundays and proposes soon to resume his Saturday classes.

The timely rains we have had helped along the grain fields and prune, cherry, pear and peach trees are coming into full bloom, promising a bountiful harvest.

Mark Baker and Mr. Peterson went to Canby and moved their wives' parents over to a house owned by Mr. Keller, last Monday.

A fine monument has been placed at the grave of Albert Turner.

Assessor Thompson is not able to present to go upon his rounds, being confined at home with the grip.

CAPE HORN.

Most every one is busy planting potatoes in our burg.

Mr. England is having a new piece of land cleared. G. Jones and Calvin Herrare are helping him. C. Smith and A. Fancy are also working for Mr. England. They have a contract to cut twenty acres of brush and expect to finish this week.

Mrs. L. Riggs spent a few days last week visiting with friends in Portland.

Arthur Zeek has quit the sawmill and gone to farming on Mr. Riggs' place which he recently rented.

Jim Adkins and Lester Riggs spent Sunday at home.

Easter was spent very quietly in our neighborhood.

The Morning Enterprise is the best breakfast food you can have.

Fresh From the Mint.

"Why do you serve a cabbage with a mint julep, waiter?"
"That's no cabbage; it's a sponge to help you draw the drink out of the bottom of the glass."
