ASTRONOMICAL EVENTS.

(From noon today to noon tomorrow) Sun sets 6:41, rises 5:18. Evening stars: Mars, Saturn. Morning stars: Venus, Jupiter, Mercury. Eclipse of the sun tomorrow morning, visible east of a line drawn from Pensacola, Fla., through Memphis, Sioux City, Peoria, N. D., to Winnipeg.

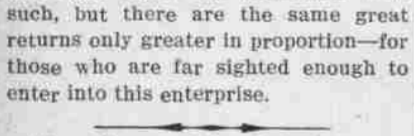

SILVERTON IS GOAL.

The officials of the Clackamas Southern Railway Co. have greater game to bag than simply build a line of road from Oregon City to Molalla. The first 18 miles are assured and the road will be in operation as far as Molalla by fall. Now active work on stock subscriptions between Molalla and Silverton will be commenced. Property values along the line of survey of such a railroad increase to such an extent long before the building of the road is commenced that a small per cent of the increase in valuation would easily build the road, if the owners would only see and grasp the opportunity. This would not only be a case of feathering one's own nest, but making a wise and profitable investment as well.

With the natural resources of all sections of our county, we have need only for railroad transportation to reap the golden harvest. Think of the vast areas of our County within reasonable short distance that cannot now be reached by wagon road, pack horse transportation being the only mode of conveyance. These sections are richer in their lines than our own district, still no one can visit and learn of their beauty, value and productiveness. Railroads are always blamed for the evils and corruption of the world, but they are never given credit for their full part in the upbuilding of our country. Many years ago some California pioneers commenced a line east under no better conditions than exist here, yet they were persistent in their work, even though but little help was given by those along the right of way, and while other means were used, possibly, than could be called entirely honorable, that road was the gateway to prosperity, and present activity of the Pacific Coast.

E. P. CARTER For Assessor

To the voters and taxpayers of Clackamas County, as a candidate for assessor I suppose I ought to make a lot of promises as to what I will do if elected to the office.—But what is the use? Did you ever know of a candidate for office who did not promise to be good? I believe the better plan is to consider the best life of each candidate and if he does not measure up to the office don't vote for him.

I am willing to abide by this test, but wish to say that I shall heartily appreciate the support of the voters if they see fit to give me such support and will strive to faithfully perform the duties of the office, both as a duty to myself—to all the taxpayers and to the Republican party.

Drinking Water. Our physical well being would be greatly increased if we would drink a large glass of water immediately on arising and again on retiring. The morning glass may be of hot water to advantage. Then take another large glassful between breakfast and dinner and another between dinner and supper. Encourage the water-drinking habit in the children as well as in yourself, for thereby the eliminating processes of the body are satisfactorily carried on.

Matured Champagne. Matured champagne goes through about 200 different operations, extending over two and a half years.

Scene From the Famous Play "Lena Rivers" at Shively Opera House Tonight

CHARMING SOUTHERN PLAY OPERA HOUSE TONIGHT

Tonight at the opera house the beautiful southern drama, "Lena Rivers," will be presented by a capable company headed by Geo. H. Johnson. "Lena Rivers" is one of the oldest and best known comedy-dramas now being presented on the American stage. It is filled with wholesome humor.

GEO. H. JOHNSON

sparkling wit, and carries a true southern atmosphere. The play is a dramatization of Mary J. Holmes' novel of the same name, and it has received the endorsement of the press and public wherever produced. "Lena Rivers" is delicate in texture, delightful in theme, and entirely free from any suggestion of vulgarity. At popular prices this play should prove an attractive offering, and a good crowd is expected.

A REVIVED STYLE. The Dolly Madison Frock With Panniers.

OF FLOWERED BATISTE AND CHIFFON.

In colonial days they wore full skirted basques looped up over contrasting petticoats, and every bodice opened at the front over a stomacher of fancy stuff. Panniers are said to be returning on the wave of summer fashions, and this dainty frock shows a bodice and looped up pannier of flowered batiste over a chiffon skirt.

Cutaway Coats and Brocaded Vests.

Waistcoats in beautiful brocades and trapezoids are to be a feature of spring fashions. On costumes and dresses alike the waistcoat will make its re-appearance in the prettiest of colorings and in all sizes.

A dainty gown from Paris seen recently introduces the waistcoat with charming effect. It is fashioned of silver gray charmeuse, with princess lines about the front, and the waistcoat of biscuit moire is covered with delicate embroideries. Round its edges there is a line of emerald green satin, and buttons of the same satin run down the front, similar buttons finishing the sleeves.

Some of the waistcoats on dresses are in lace, filled in at the neck with fine tulle and centered with buttons of old silver. A pretty idea for a dress of filmy fabric is a waistcoat of nylon finely tucked and piped with black velvet. White nylon is very dainty made up in this style, the buttons being in cut crystal and the black velvet reappearing at the waist. One long end falling down the back with crystal fringe.

The waistcoat and fichu are to be seen together on one frock in some of the new spring fashions. An old rose charmeuse dress illustrating this fancy has a waistcoat of ivory moire patterned in a curious design with reds and blues in a blurred effect, and over the shoulders there is a mesh composed of folded charmeuse, the ends of which are gathered in at the waist with an old silver buckle.

Down the center of the waistcoat there is a row of rose buttons sewed with silver threads in a colored design, and the collar-neck is filled in with white chiffon.

Making Over Curtains. Have you a pair of good lace curtains that are too old to hang up as they are? Try this method of treating them and you will not regret it.

Apply the lace on a foundation of thin silk of a rose shade. Baste each curtain very neatly on its foundation, cut away the lace net wherever you find it worn through the border and outline the pattern in linen or, if you prefer it, in silk floss of the rose colored shade. If the pattern net is in good preservation dot it over with a spray design worked in the same floss or silk.

You will find the effect extremely good, combining the airiness of lace with the handsomeness of brocade. Moreover, you will have curtains as good as new, which will last some time if carefully cleaned when soiled.

Curtains such as these were seen recently in a living room in the country, where they had hung in the windows for eighteen months, and they looked perfectly fresh.

Blue, green, brown or any other color may be adopted, of course, as a foundation to suit the room of the worker.

Kitchenettes.

Use a teaspoonful of vinegar in the water in which a tough fowl or stew is cooked.

A good way to wash bottles and vinegar cruet is to put in some uncooked rice and shake well.

Lemon juice will clean aluminum. If your aluminum pans become blackened just put a little of the juice on a cloth and rub the pan well.

To remove paint and varnish from the hands first rub well into them a generous quantity of grease or lard, then wash them with soap and water.

All housekeepers know the inconvenience of hot spluttering fat when frying eggs, potatoes, mush and the like. This may be remedied by sifting a bit of flour into the fat before dropping the things into the pan.

Heart to Heart Talks. By EDWIN A. NYE.

GRIT, GRACE, GUMPTION

Ever hear about Charles Sunderland of Alton, Ill?

Although he has neither fingers nor hands and only the poor stump of an arm, Sunderland is a prosperous home owner and a popular citizen. The people are proud of him because—

With only the piece of an arm he has won a home, wife and babies. This is the story:

At the age of nine years Sunderland was supporting his father's family. One day while he was feeding a cane mill the cruel machine took off one arm at the shoulder and the other at the elbow. His first words on recovering consciousness were—

"Who will chop wood for you now, ma?"

Pinch? When the boy got out of the hospital he did not moan or pose as a helpless cripple. He learned how to chop wood with his stub.

As he grew up Sunderland saved money by hauling wood and bought a team. Now he owns two teams and does most of the heavy hauling business in Alton.

He loads coal or sand by grasping the shovel in the bend of his elbow, puts it against his side and with a body motion throws the shovel upward.

How does he drive? He puts the lines over his shoulder, wrapping them around his half an arm. And his son Fred says, "Pa can hitch up a team faster than I can."

His family: Years ago Sunderland married a widow with five children. He has fathered all of them, educated them and sent them out into the world to prosper. He had a second flock of three, the oldest of whom, Fred, drives one of the teams.

Why shouldn't Charles Sunderland be called Alton's "most representative citizen"? This is his sentiment.

"Anybody ought to be thankful for being able to make a decent living, arms or no arms, and raise a family of his own."

And so he goes his way to his work whistling and content.

And you! You have two good arms, two good hands and ten good fingers—twelve times as much as he.

When you complain! When you read the story of gritty, prosperous Charles Sunderland of Alton, are you not just the least bit ashamed of yourself?

A Bishop's Comment. Bishop W. A. Chandler was once advocating a more liberal loosening of the purse strings and told his audience several years before he sent a article to a paper in which he said, "We pray too loud and work too little." The compositor, consciously or unconsciously, perpetrated a little joke, for when the article appeared it read, "We pray too loud and work too little." "I let it go at that," said the bishop. "The fact is, I believe the printer was right, and I never ventured to correct him."

A Short Story. "What seems to be the matter with him?" asked the doctor, approaching the bedside of the man who lay swathed in bandages. "He found the gas leak," briefly explained the nurse.—London Tit-Bits.

HOW DETROIT HELPED ATHLETICS WIN WORLD'S TITLE.

Though the fact is not generally known, the Detroit club unintentionally helped the Athletics to win the American league pennant and to defeat the Giants in the world's series.

Baker's pet club, which caused terror to sundry American league slatemen and later ruined the dispositions of Christy Mathewson and Rube Marquard in the world's series with four base cloths, was given to him by Donnie Bush of the Detroit club. The bat was so heavy that Bush could scarcely lift it. Donnie figured that it would keep Baker from crippling opposing fielders.

"That bat was so heavy that it made me stoop shouldered every time I tried to use it," declared Manager Davis.

TRAINING COSTS BIG SUM.

Major League Baseball Clubs Spend Fortune Annually.

The spring baseball training of a baseball team is one of the most important parts of the campaign. That is why the owners of the different teams spend each spring from $15,000 to $20,000 so that the men will be ready to jump into the fight when the bell rings. A flying start in baseball is half the fight.

Baseball players are not trained like pugilists, football players or orsman. These men work up to a certain event.

HOW BALL PLAYERS PREPARE FOR SEASON

while the ball player has to keep himself in the same condition for months. The prospects of big money and glory at the end of the season is a sufficient incentive to make them careful of their living.

The first work of the ball player when he reaches the training camp is a session in tossing the ball—just short throws. This is continued for about an hour. For players who have taken on weight the manager has them jog to and from the grounds. Usually the park is about two miles from the hotel.

This takes off weight and also improves the wind. An hour or two daily, too, are given to base sliding and running.

Close tabs are kept on the pitchers. After a week of twirling slow ones they are sent in to pitch a few innings each afternoon when games are played. This not alone affords practice for the pitcher, but it gives the batters a chance to get their eye on the ball.

The ball player has no compulsory hours for sleep, has no certain diet, and no attention is paid to certain muscles, as is the case with the fighter, the orsman and the football player. In between the workouts the ball tossers play tennis, golf and indulge in a little wrestling.

NO FAITH IN "WHITE HOPES."

Fitz Doesn't Think Much of Their Chances With Johnson.

Bob Fitzsimmons does not think highly of the chances of any of our "white hopes" against Johnson.

"In my estimation Johnson is one of the greatest fighters that ever stepped into a ring," said Fitz recently. "He has everything that goes to make a champion fighter. His defense is so marvelous that I really don't think any of the big white men now on the scene could hit him once. Some man will eventually come along and beat Johnson, but it will not be for a few more years."

MAKES NO HITS OFF WALSH.

Schulte Fails to Connect With Moist Fling of Chicago Star.

Frank Schulte, the Chicago Cubs' great slugger and champion home run hitter, has never made a hit off big Ed Walsh of the White Sox. Schulte has faced Walsh in three Cubs-Sox series.

"Give that big coal miner a canteen of soup to moisten the ball with and he could pitch a week without getting tired," says Schulte. "He puts a little more on the ball every time he pitches."
