CLEAN AND OIL STREETS

Another good live topic sprung from a clear sky at the regular weekly meeting of the Live Wires, or rather two sharp ones, but referring to the same matter. The dust during the past week has been terrible and especially was this noticeable on our main thoroughfare, with the absence of street sprinkling, and only hand sweeping, much dust is left to the winds and suction caused by swiftly moving vehicles. This dust is alive with germs, sickness is spread and we wonder when we contracted this or that trouble. If we could sweep up all our dust by machinery and not lift it one night letting it fall in another and the following night shake it up again to do its dreadful work over again, much would be gained and very little if any more expense added.

prevention is used throughout the country. An ounce of prevention each year will in 3 or 4 save a pound of cure. We have new streets and it is up to the city to keep them as good as new, if possible.

We have much work before us—many new matters to take up and discuss, but these two are points for immediate attention and action.

THE CHINESE REVOLUTION Manager Brooks of the Electric theater has booked for today only the greatest set of motion pictures that has ever been taken. The reels three in number and measuring over 3,000 feet in length depict the bloody scenes enacted at the recent revolution in China. These pictures are booked for 48 solid weeks across the continent and Thursday being an open date Mr. Brooks, at a very great expense secured these pictures for his house.

Operators working under the supervision of the greatest French Film Manufacturers worked from the uprising of the Chinese Revolution until a few weeks ago in the taking of the pictures five men were killed out of 20 camera men sent out on the battlefields. In many instances the camera men had to be carried about on the shoulders of Chinese while getting through the streets among the lines. It cost the Moving Picture Company $500,000 to compete these pictures.

The three reels of films show in the most realistic and vivid manner the rebel forces in encampment, the capturing and beheading of spies, capturing of railroad stations, street fighting, fighting in the swamps, refugees fleeing for their lives, the burning of towns along the line of battle and each actual scene of the revolution is portrayed with the all-seeing eye of the camera.

Mr. Charlie Williams who is personal representative and managing director of the pictures is a well known vaudeville artist and though 24 years of age has been managing the largest road shows and moving picture companies in France and the United States. Seidom is one accorded an opportunity to see pictures that are sensational, educational as well as historical in the making. The pictures are a distinct novelty inasmuch as they were taken on the actual battlefields and the people of this city are given an opportunity of witnessing a series of pictures that have as yet not been shown in the larger cities.

After a very careful consideration Messrs. Williams and Brooks have decided not to raise the price of admission but to give the people of Oregon City the benefit of seeing this great feature together with an extra comedy reel at the usual admission price of 10 cents for adults and 5 cents for children. Special arrangements are being made in being done in all cities along the coast played so far. Doors will open promptly at 11:00 a. m. and will remain open until 11:30 p. m. Today only—Electric Theatre—10 cents and 5 cents.

David E. Lofgren

Progressive Republican candidate for the nomination of joint representative for the 17th District comprising Clackamas and Multnomah counties. No. on Ballot 50. My platform: Statement No. 1. Extension of Power of public service commission. Good roads to develop farming districts. Expeditions and shorter litigation $300 tax exemption of personal property. Public markets. Establishment of a system and standard of weights and measures and state inspection of all scales and measures used in trade. Limiting power of Fish Commission so that they cannot arbitrarily close streams against fishing. Take commission out of politics and make office elective. Limiting working day for men working at hazardous occupations to reasonable hours.

Oregon City, Or., April 17, 1912. To the voters of Clackamas County.

We the undersigned being personally acquainted with David E. Lofgren who is a candidate for the nomination of State Representative for the Seventeenth District, comprising Clackamas and Multnomah Counties endorse and recommend him to the Republican voters at the coming primaries. He advocates important measures of general interest to this community. He is interested in the lumber business at Mulino and has a 200 acre ranch in his county. He and his associates have subdivided and sold about 12,000 acres of land southeast from Oregon City.

We believe him to be honest, capable and progressive and even if his own interests were not involved we feel that he would work for the welfare of this county.
