FIVE STORY BUILDING TOTTERS

Woman Is Discovered Under Walls Hemmed In By Girders—Big Wall Buckles

TORONTO, May 4.—The south wall of a five-story building recently constructed for the William Neilson Company, Limited, fell today, burying a score of employes.

The building, which has been occupied for two months, was supposed to have been splendidly built and was said by its owners to be the most up-to-date plant of the kind in the country. The first and second floors were occupied by manufacturers of ice cream and chocolates. Two hundred employes, the majority of whom were women and children, were working when the accident occurred shortly before noon.

The entire city fire brigade turned out to aid in the rescue work. The first bodies recovered were those of a man and a woman who apparently had been instantly killed. Later the unidentified bodies of two girls were brought out.

Five girls, still alive, but badly hurt were next removed. It was impossible to estimate the number of missing or their identity, but it is believed that between 20 and 30 dead will be found.

The workers, following a cry for help, discovered a woman whose name is not known, hemmed in by girders a mass of debris. Her position was such that it was believed she could not be taken out alive.

Three more were added to the list of injured when an unidentified carpenter, who had been working on the building was found unconscious and William Lambly and a laborer were taken out.

The upper stories of the building were incomplete and the carpenters were working on them when the wall fell. The wall appears to have buckled half way up.

COMMERCIAL CLUB DOING GOOD WORK

HOOD RIVER, Or., May 4.—With spirits still jubilant from the festivities at The Dalles yesterday and last night, the 91 members of the Portland Commercial Club pulled into Hood River on their special train at 9:45 this morning. The guests were at once escorted to a line of 30 automobiles awaiting them and driven through the heart of the blossom district on the East Side, to Van Horn station, where they took a special train on the Mount Hood Railroad to Parkdale, the terminus of the line. The Portland business men are accompanied by about 40 of the members of the Dalles Business Men's Association. The women of the upper valley have prepared a sumptuous luncheon for the visitors and are preparing to serve it at the Parkdale hall. A number of short impromptu speeches are planned for the luncheon, after which the special train will start on the return trip to Hood River.

Three miles north of Parkdale the visitors will be instructed in the methods used in the upper valley, which is fast being cleared of trees and set to orchards by clearing land. Charles R. Bone, who has developed more land than any other man in Hood River valley and who is now clearing a tract of several hundred acres at Boneboro, has had a huge dynamo engine placed near the track with which to make a demonstration of tree and stump-pulling for the instruction and entertainment of the guests. Clearing land by stamping powder will also be given here by the American Powder Company, the new Oregon safety explosive.

From Boneboro the train will proceed to Winans, where the passengers will view the Devil's Punch Bowl one of the most scenic wonders of the state, only one other stop will be made before reaching Hood River. At Van Horn the Portland Dalles men will climb to Van Horn's Butte, where a panoramic picture is had of the whole broad expanse of orchards.

The festivities will be brought to a close at a banquet here tonight, when S. Benson will be the guest of honor. Much enthusiasm is expected to be aroused relative to a hasty completion of the Columbia River road. The day is sunny and warm, and ideal for the excursion.

CHAMP CLARK HAS GHOST OF A SHOW

TOPEKA, Kan., May 4.—Theodore Roosevelt will be the Republican and Champ Clark the Democratic nominee for President this year, and Champ Clark will be elected. That is the prophecy made today by Mrs. Jerry Simpson, widow of the former Seventh District Congressman. Mrs. Simpson is a spiritualist and relates several recent talks with the spirit of her husband. "It was at Wichita, only a short time ago, that I talked with Jerry about politics," Mrs. Simpson said today. "He said he took the same interest in politics that he always had taken." "Who will be named by the Republicans?" I asked him. "Theodore Roosevelt," he replied. "Who by the Democrats?" "Champ Clark," he replied. "Who will be elected?" "Champ Clark. I'm for him and he will be elected."

The snail has beaten the hare—Candidates in the Enterprise Grand Voting Contest would do well to bear in mind AEsop's Fable, perhaps you lead at the present moment, but there are others who propose to figure with the winners the closing night of the Grand Prize Voting Contest. You may have several thousand votes held in reserve; perhaps tens of thousands; but how about your competitors? They too may be conducting a secret campaign; intent on carrying off the first Grand Capital Prize. You cannot be too sure, it is better that you win by a hundred thousand majority, than to lose by one vote. A warning that this contest bids fair to wind up with a grand rush and an avalanche of votes cast at the last minute is all that the contest manager can give you. If you lose through neglecting your campaign, and wasting valuable time at the closing hour, it will be your fault and not misfortune if you fail to be named with the winners on the closing night.

MRS. BROWN CATCHES 33-POUND SALMON

Mrs. George Brown is probably the only woman here who has the distinction of catching one of the largest Chinook salmon during the open season. The fish was taken into the row-boat without a gaff hook. It is customary for men after the fish has been caught by the spoon hook, to simply use her hands, taking hold of the gills of the big fish that weighed thirty-three pounds, and pulled the salmon into the boat without assistance. The salmon was caught beneath the suspension bridge. Mrs. Brown's husband is in the fish business in this city, and she enjoys the sport of fishing as well as her husband.

Chairman Stipp presided until the election of the new chairman, Frank Jaggar being elected to that place by a vote of 14 to 8 for Mr. Stipp, who was then honored in being chosen for state committeeman by practically a unanimous vote. Upon being escorted to the chairman's desk, Mr. Jaggar said: "I am honored by this election, and I promise you to do all I can to unite the Republican party. EL PASO, Tex., May 4.—Emilio Vasquez Gomez was formally proclaimed provisional president of Mexico today by the rebels, and established himself in Juarez.

Gomez paid a visit to Juarez today at noon, and was received by the rebel officials, who escorted him to the custom-house. The officials then wired in Genrela Orozco to ascertain if they should hold him or release him. He was then virtually a prisoner.

S. A. Bentley, an American refugee from Coahuila, today told a story of torture which he said had been inflicted on himself and C. W. Richards an El Pasion, in the Juarez jail. The Americans were released last night after 21 hours of confinement, during which, Bentley declared he was hit on the head with the butt of a pistol and hung up by a rope several times. In proof of his story he showed a great lump on his head and abrasions around his neck.

Bentley and Richards were passengers on a streetcar Thursday night when cartridges placed on the track by the practical jokers exploded. The Americans and two Mexicans were the only male passengers and they were arrested and taken to jail. On the person of one of the Mexicans, according to Bentley, cartridges were found. He was beaten to make him confess that he was acting for the Federals. Finally he was shot and then hanged until death came to his relief. This occurred in the presence of the Americans.

When Bentley protested against his arrest, he says, Hosea Orozco, a nephew of the rebel commander-in-chief Pascual Orozco, became enraged and beat him with a revolver. Richards said nothing and escaped more easily Bentley was then hung up for a moment.

Orozco, he says demanded that he confess to being a spy, and let him down. This was beaten several times in an endeavor to secure a confession, the American declares. At last his jailers gave up the attempt, and last night he and Richards were released through efforts of Mrs. Richards.

"All I ask is a square deal," said the President. "Mr. Roosevelt believes in referring to the standards of sport as maxima of life. I don't object to it, but all I ask is that he give me a square deal."

This, the last day of the primary election campaign in Maryland, found President Taft, and Colonel Roosevelt early on the move, with speaking programs that will occupy them until bedtime and cover nearly every part of the state.
