The Song of the Mill Girl

Down the lane the sun is shining, But to me it brings no cheer; In the eaves the birds are singing, But their songs I cannot hear. Through the roaring and the clatter— Ever sounding in my ear. Midst the moiling and the toiling, In this dungeon dark and drear; Restless like this mighty wheel, Black and grim in sooty steel. Mirth can mate with sorrow deep, And are sweet the ties that bind. O, give me the simple bliss That no woman here should miss; Merciless the wheel keeps turning, While my heart for home is yearning. ANDREW FRANZEN

Too Kind to Quit. "It is very kind of you to ask me to see your wife, but I must refuse. I hope you will not hurry away and do anything rash." "Don't worry about that. I merely wanted to be sure that we understood each other." "You are so sensible that I am going to take back what I said and accept you."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Physical Conformation. "Why has the nose a bridge?" "Don't things have to pass from eye to eye?"—Baltimore American.

NEGLIGEE OF SILK CREPE.

Many materials would be suitable for this oddly graceful little negligee and in many prices according to the fatness of ones purse. Some suggestions are the ever cheap and softly graceful albatross, cashmere, crepon or silk, or if to be worn into the warmer weather a dainty wash material would be pretty. Delicate blue crepe was used for the original with vest of lace. The bodice drapery and lower portion of the negligee was finished with a frilling of white tulle. Fullest vest of white lace and a deep girldle with flat fringed ends of blue satin.

SNAPSHOTS OF LA MODE.

Eastern Hip Draperies in First Style. Millinery Matters. Among the many pratical features that have been retained in the fashions is the one of folding cloth around the hips in a snug manner. For awhile the fashion went out, but now it has increased in favor. Tunics of all kinds are wrapped about the waist and hips and crossed in front, where they are attached down or tied into a knot according to their fabric. Both the large collar and the big fevers have dwindled somewhat in size, though still fashionable. Fichu blouses and scalloped edges make two of the newest and most inportant features of the spring season, and this gown shows them both. The blouse is exceedingly smart and attractive made with the new postilion back. The skirt is of the two piece style. JUDIC CHOLLET.

These May Manton patterns are cut in sizes for the skirt from 22 to 30 inches waist measure and for the blouse from 34 to 40 inches bust measure. Send 10 cents each for the patterns to this office, giving numbers, skirt 724 and blouse 731, and they will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage, which insures more prompt delivery. When ordering use coupon.

Sugar Plums. Of all candies perhaps the sugar plum boasts the most ancient lineage. It was the invention of one Julius Dragatus, a noted Roman baker and confectioner, a member of the family of the Fabii. Dragatus put forth the first specimen of this confection in the year 177 B. C. The bonbons of this variety were called dragati, after their inventor (dragées is French), and their manufacture constituted a monopoly enjoyed exclusively by the Fabian family. Whenever there was a birth or a marriage in that family a great distribution of dragati took place as an evidence of rejoicing. This custom is still retained by certain of the old families of Europe.—New York Herald.

Constituents of Soot. Soot consists chiefly of carbon, tar and mineral matter, with smaller proportions of sulphur and nitrogenous compounds, and frequently has an acid reaction. The proportion of the various constituents varies greatly with different factors, such as the nature of the coal, the completeness of combustion and the distance from the fire at which the soot was deposited.

Dainty Bonnet For the Little Maid.

OF FANCY BLUE STRAW.

This handmade hat of fancy blue straw is in the ever popular becoming bonnet shape. A band of dark blue velvet ends in a pump bow at the side, and another band starting at the front is brought over the left side to the center of the back, thus forming a unique trimming. Little silk grapes in natural coloring are placed in groups of three on this band of velvet.

"DON'TS" FOR HUSBANDS.

Rockefeller Pastor Offers Ten as a Solution of the Divorce Evil. Dr. W. W. Bustard, pastor of John D. Rockefeller's Euclid Avenue Baptist church in Cleveland, O., recently gave these ten "don'ts" for husbands as a solution of the divorce evil: Don't forget your wife wants to be loved as much after marriage as before. Don't arrange for your second marriage before your first wife is either dead or divorced. Don't compel your wife to ask for a cent every time she needs one. Don't expect your wife to work fourteen hours a day when you work only eight. Don't carry all your religion in your wife's name. Don't let your neighbors pity your children because you were their father. Don't gossip. Men should not encroach on a woman's privilege. Don't try to run a forty-horsepower automobile on a four-horsepower salary. Don't live beyond your means or according to your meanness. Don't forget the best legacy you can leave your family is the memory of a good husband and a kind father. "All the honeymooning of life ought not to end with the honeymoon," said Mr. Bustard, supplementing his several "don'ts." "A man should always remember it is no sin to kiss his own wife. Love is not for courtship alone, but for life."

Useful Kitchen Hint. Practical and useful is this new vegetable and noodle shredder which the shops are showing. It has seven sharp cutters in form of wheels which fit into a steel plate. This plate makes smooth the dough when noodles are made, and it is easily manipulated by pushing up and down over the vegetable or food to be cut into even strips.

Attics and Closets. Most women dread housecleaning, and it is little wonder, if one could see into their attics and closets, says the Woman's Home Companion. They have the "saving mania" and have indulged it all their lives, and many a one, especially she who has stayed in the old home, has not only her own but the accumulations of generations of women before her. How can any sensible woman be so selfish and so self abusive at the same time as to keep what benefits her in no possible way and yet makes her so much extra work every year? Why not dispose of things to the best possible advantage as they become useless and save half the work of the spring overhauling as well as do a great deal of good?

Health Hints. People cultivate nerves to a large extent and do not apply simple rules to cure them. Healthy work, particularly out of doors, is an excellent antidote to nerves. Onions are a very good tonic for nervous people. Cranberries are good for sufferers from inactive liver.
