LIFESAVING CREW, ADRIFT, SWIM ASHORE

BOYCEAN, Or., May 10.—The Garibaldi lifesaving crew, after drifting about the ocean off the Tillamook coast for more than twenty-four hours unable to make the entrance to Tillamook Bay owing to the roughness of the bar, and forced to run before the wind down the coast, saved themselves by anchoring their lifeboat a half mile from shore, four miles north of Cape Lookout, a point of land fifteen miles south of Tillamook Bay, and swimming ashore, made their way through the brush to this point, where they arrived at 11 o'clock in a badly battered condition, and later crossed to their station at Garibaldi.

When the men found they were unable to cross the bar they decided to look for a landing place further down the coast and all day yesterday they roved in search of a landing place. Late last evening they reached a point four miles north of Cape Lookout and near Cape Mears, where they found a favorable landing place but, not daring to risk the boat on the rocks near shore, they anchored their frail craft and the men took to the water and all safely landed on the beach.

OBSERVE BIRTHDAY OF TWO AT SAME TIME

James Roake and L. Hull, whose birth anniversaries are on the same date, were taken by surprise Thursday evening, when about thirty of their friends, who had been invited by Mrs. Roake called to celebrate their sixty-fourth birthdays. The evening was devoted to vocal and instrumental music, and among the principal features were the addresses by Mr. Roake and Mr. Hull.

ELEVATORS IN OREGON

The prospects are good that Oregon City is to have an elevator leading from the business district to the residence section of the city. It is not too early to look about for equipment, and the city council should bear in mind that there is now a concern located in this State that manufactures elevators.

Let us keep our good money home as far as we can, when the product is equal to that made outside the State.

Salem has started on a good record in this respect, as the following from the Capital Journal will testify: The first electric passenger elevator "Made in Oregon" will be installed in the new Masonic Temple at Salem.

The Masonic order deserves commendation for being loyal to the Oregon industries, and giving the preference to a home product.

The Portland Elevator company has made and installed many freight elevators in this state, but this is the first modern passenger lift.

The nearest elevator factory is San Francisco and Yankers, New York the latter supplying most passenger elevators.

When an eastern elevator is put in to a modern Oregon building about 85 per cent of the cost goes East, and stays there.

Five per cent more goes in commissions, and really only the cost of assembling and installing remains in Oregon.

The money sent East for machinery and building materials never gets back here, and the dollar spent here revolves here continually.

The campaign to keep twenty million dollars in Oregon that has been going East for more things than can be made here is a good one.

Every fine modern building erected in Oregon should be equipped with a "Made in Oregon" passenger elevator.

COMPLIMENTARY FOURTH OF JULY

The mills here are continually springing something new on their employes, this time, a Fourth of July celebration which is scheduled to be the equal of any ever held in Clackamas County, and all without cost or expense to the men or their families.

Such action on the part of the company will bring their men closer to them, which is no doubt one of the reasons for such an undertaking on the part of those in charge, but this itself is a glorious work. May it be continued and the results warrant repetition in the same or equal manner.

The Arkansas "hill billy" is still voting for Jeff Davis. When Shakespeare wrote that "there's nothing in a name" he had not heard the magic name of Jeff Davis or of lands in which it would be held in far greater reverence than any of the great names of his day.

By rapid racing the inhabitants of the valley in New York escaped the rushing torrent from a broken dam. Engineers should brace up in constructions of this kind.

Oratory by phone has just been successfully sampled between Boston and New York. No regret is felt that this improvement was not introduced in the free-silver campaign.

Live Wirelets

(By Edgar Bates.) The chap who hates to come through with a quarter for two boxes of nice fresh strawberries to take home to his wife, is just the fellow who planks down two bits several times a day for cigars.

No one will dispute that this city needs a fire alarm system. In fact a chemical should be placed on the hill and no doubt new hose could be used to good advantage. In times past our "fire laddies" have done excellent work, and they have shown themselves to be absolutely fearless and always responding promptly to calls. No one can tell the moment a serious conflagration will start and it is essential that everything be ready for a hurry call.

How about the gas works for the city? It is true that a good many houses in town have independent gas plants, but the kind generated is the "hot air" instead of the illuminating kind.

Why are the High School boys taking mental note of the names of the girls who are showing the highest proficiency in domestic science?

Did you get your share of the free seeds that are being sent out by the Congressmen?

It is fitting and proper that at least one day in the year be set aside in honor or in memory of our mother. Next Sunday when you look down upon the white flower, you should wear your thoughts will turn back year after year, each succeeding year bringing memories of by gone days when mother was your best friend. Mothers live only for their children—their every thought being about "her boy" or "her girl," and there is nothing a mother will not do for her children.

When the world frowns upon an act of a man or woman, there is always a mother awaiting him with outstretched arms to comfort him in hours of trial and darkness. We are wont to read of acts of "sacrifice for one's country"—a mother's sacrifice for her children is often an unending struggle to make both ends meet to give her offspring the same chance in this world that other people's children enjoy. "Mother"—The word means a lot! It means the part in each of us which stands for the highest and best things of life. There is some good in the worst of us and we can trace the part of us which stands for the better things back to our mother's care and education. You have many blessings for which to be thankful but the greatest of these is your mother.

Some people think the rural mail carriers have a snap. It looks nice to ride all over the country in one of their little mail wagons but it isn't such a snap either as a job or financially. The trip must be made every day and it is the same old story day after day. The salary averages $1,000 a year, and from this sum comes the maintenance of the horse and wagon, and with oats near $40 a ton the keeping of the horse is no small item.

The citizens of this town really have cause to complain about the method of the P. R. L. & P. Co. doing business when it comes time to pay electric light bills, people must go way to the south end of town and very often the representative is "out." We cannot blame the agent for he really does the work of two men. It's up to him to read the meters, make out the bills, attend to the installation of new meters and a thousand other things, but it's a mighty big nuisance to chase down to the freight depot and find the agent out and have the two or three other men say they don't know anything about your bill. Don't the company make enough money to always keep a man at their office?

MRS SWALLOW HOSTESS OF IMPROVEMENT CLUB

Splinter; readings, Mrs. Pagenkopf; recitation, Little Dorothy Swallow; duet, Doris Reynolds and Myrta Swallow; piano solo, Shirl Swallow; vocal solo, Mrs. Craven. Ragtime Music Good For Us; Soothes American Nerves

By Professor PHILIP GREELEY CLAPP, Instructor of Music at Harvard

DR. LUDWIG BRUNNER of the Berlin Imperial Academy of Medical Research is quoted as saying that America is BEING DRIVEN CRAZY BY ITS RAGTIME MUSIC and that ragtime is mainly responsible for many business failures and cases of hopeless insanity.

Instead of ragtime shattering the nerves, as the Berlin scientist says, it has a pleasing effect on the listener. Ragtime is CHARACTERISTIC OF THIS COUNTRY.
