FOR SUMMER DAYS.

A miss' lingerie frock, simple in design, and unburdened by superfluous trimming, is sketched here. It is developed in white mull batiste. There is a shallow Dutch yoke of the batiste gathered into a narrow frill of lace at the neck and outlined on its lower edge by insertion running in points. A parallel of the same is placed about an inch below this and the space between decorated with hand embroidery. The center breadth of the skirt is cut in one with the bodice, the sash running from either side of this ties in the back in a bow. On the lower half of the skirt are four closely grouped wide tucks. Above and below these is the pointed design of insertion, the space between the points being filled with the hand embroidery. The skirt is finished with a wide hem.

CHEERFULNESS.

Cultivate a cheerful disposition. If a person determines early in life that a cheerful disposition is worth having and strives to obtain it and does so that person is a success in a fine sense of the word. Of course comparatively few men and women ever stop to think about success in this form, but if they will acquire the habit I will guarantee a larger measure of satisfaction than they may have met with before. — Leigh Mitchell Hodges.

GRANGE URGES MANY ELECTION REFORMS

The legislative committee of the state grange, reporting its conclusions on the primary law, at the Roseburg meeting made suggestions for changes in the law that are arousing decided interest.

The chief recommendation is an indorsement of the second choice vote, or preferential system of voting. Another suggested change is the repeal of the law for rotation of names on the ballot and the placing of names on the ticket by lot. Still another is an amendment of the registration law to do away with "blank A," by which votes may now be sworn in on election day, and a plan for issuing certificates of registration to each registered voter, upon which he will be entitled to vote so long as he remains in the same precinct.

The resolutions presented make a short argument for the second choice plan, urging that a small minority is often successful under the present plurality rule.

"Eight years ago the people of Oregon adopted the direct primary law, the committee reported. It has performed a great service for the people in defeating the bosses and in restoring to the people a large measure of the power usurped by political machines. But good as it is, it is not perfect. Time has shown that some amendments should be proposed by the friends of the primary, and we grangers have always been loyal advocates of this law.

"The greatest objection now found to the primary is the fact that a small minority does often nominate, and so gives a person of poor qualifications too great a chance for nomination. Thus in the last gubernatorial election the standpat element of the Republican party lined up solidly for Bowerman, while the progressive Republican vote was divided amongst Dimick, Hofer and Abraham."

The committee also suggested changing the time for filing nominating petitions to not less than 30 days before election day and the sending of sample ballots to each voter. The committee favored limiting campaign expense to 15 per cent of one year's salary, whether spent by the candidate himself or by others, but no candidate limited to less than $100.

HONEYMOON PASSED ON CORAL ISLAND

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17.—Shipwrecked a few days after a tugboat marriage in the South sea, and later cast upon a coral island where they were lavishly entertained by a dusky monarch, is the honeymoon experience told here today by Captain and Mrs. Thomas Endresen, who have just arrived from Papeete. Mrs. Endresen was formerly Miss Anue De La

Tour of Pendleton, Oregon. Captain Endresen met and loved Miss De La Tour when he played base ball with the Grays Harbor team. When he sailed from Raymond, Wash. as master of the schooner G. W. Watson, his fiance promised to meet him at Papeete, where they would be married. At Papeete they learned that the French laws decreed that the banns must be published 30 days prior to marriage.

To avoid French jurisdiction, Captain Endresen chartered a tug, hired a minister and sailed out to sea. They were married, but on the return trip home the Watson struck a coral reef and stuck. By means of lifeboats they landed on the domain of a dusky king, who wept when they sailed away three weeks later.
