NEWARK, N. J. May 29.—Theodore Roosevelt's clean sweep of the New Jersey primaries was emphasized today when late returns gave him small but substantial pluralities in the few districts about which last night's figures left any doubt, and increased his lead elsewhere throughout the state. He will have the state's 28 delegates to the Chicago convention.

Governor Woodrow Wilson carried all but two of the twelve Congressional districts and gained 24 of the 28 delegates, including the delegates-at-large. His opponents today abandoned hope that they had carried the Eighth district, where the vote was close.

"Uninstructed" delegates nominated by the anti-Wilson wing of the party were elected by large majorities in the Ninth and Tenth districts, the strongholds of the element opposed to the Governor and where he had no hope of winning.

Incomplete returns on the vote for delegates-at-large and the Presidential preference indicated that Colonel Roosevelt's popular plurality for the whole state would be about 15,000 and that Governor Wilson's lead, based on the vote for delegates-at-large was about the same.

President Taft made his best showing in the Third, Fifth and Sixth districts, which include the New Jersey coast towns, almost as far south as Atlantic City, and the counties lying in the north central part of the state, most of them outside the commuting zone.

Roosevelt's indicated plurality in those districts ranged from 400 to 600. Colonel Roosevelt scored heavily in the agricultural communities of southern New Jersey and in the thickly settled towns and cities populated largely by voters who work in New York. His preference vote in Essex county, next to the largest in the state, was 13,515, compared with 9,186 for Taft and $20 for La Follette.

Governor Wilson won his most striking victory in his home town, Mercer, which contains Trenton, the state capital. The vote total for the Wilson delegates-at-large in Mercer was 2674, compared with 371 for the anti-Wilson nominees. The Republican vote in this county was: Roosevelt, 3371; Taft, 2465.

The vote in Newark, the largest city in the state, with one district missing gave Roosevelt 7206; Taft 5402; La Follette 455, Democrats—Wilson 3, 269; anti-Wilson 5945.

Former United States Senator Jas. Smith, Jr., and former Democratic chairman James R. Nugent, who led the fight against Governor Wilson, live in Newark, and both were among the four anti-Wilson delegates chosen. The result exceeded the expectations of the most enthusiastic Roosevelt leaders. In some districts, Colonel Roosevelt received 10 votes to every one cast for the President.

The Wilson vote, as compared with that of the opposition, was a staggering blow to the anti-Wilson vote in a ratio of about six to one. Some districts went for the Governor as high as 20 to 1.

The Presidents had small pluralities in four of the 21 counties of the state, early returns indicated. He showed his greatest strength in the farming districts. In one of the factory towns where he spoke yesterday, just before the opening of the polls, he was beaten 40 to 1.

The La Follette vote was a negligible factor, not more than 2 per cent of the entire vote cast. The vote in nearly all parts of the state was exceedingly light, several counties casting less than half of the total registration at the last general election.

1000 WAITERS STRIKE IN HUNGRY GOTHAM

NEW YORK, May 29.—More than 1000 waiters, together with cooks and other hotel workers, went on strike at four large hotels after 7 o'clock tonight, leaving thousands of would-be diners dinnerless or forcing them in many instances to wait on themselves. More than 600 waiters struck at the Waldorf, where 1500 patrons were left hungry. Three other large hotels were involved, the Breslin, Rector's, and the Gotham, with several small ones. Unlike the day before, the proprietors of these hotels were able, in a degree, to keep things moving by obtaining other help.

Interest centered mainly in the strike at the Waldorf-Astoria. The almost clean sweep of this hotel, which at any other time would have caused a complete paralysis of business, was negated in large part by the tactics of the proprietor, George C. Boldt, who forced the issue at a time when his hotel was least busy, and when he was best prepared to meet it.

It was around 6 o'clock when Mr. Boldt returned from the hotel men's meeting. He had heard the rumor and the force was marshaled into the ballroom. Mr. Boldt told them what the hotel proprietors had agreed to do and asked if they were willing to accept the terms. He was informed that as they belonged to the union it would be necessary for them to go out unless the union was recognized.

GEBHARDT TO HAVE HEARING SATURDAY

August Gebhardt of the Stafford district, will be given a hearing at 10 o'clock Saturday morning in Justice of the Peace Samson's court on a charge of killing Robert Lindley, a farm hand. The prisoner, who has retained George C. Brownell and Gordon E. Hayes to defend him will plead not guilty. He declares that he shot in self defense and an ante mortem statement of Lindley is said to bear out the prisoner's allegation. Lindley was shot Sunday night at the Gebhardt home following a party at which beer was served. Although the bullet pierced his heart he lived nineteen hours. The coroner's jury returned a non committal verdict to the effect that Lindley died from a gunshot wound, the gun having been fired by Gebhardt.

SHEWMAN BECOMES STOCK JOURNAL HEAD

W. A. Shewman, formerly editor and manager of the Oregon City Courier, and who recently sold his interest in that paper to A. E. Frost, has accepted a position as editor of the Western Stock Journal, a monthly published in this city. Mr. Shewman is an experienced newspaper man, and was connected with several papers in Pennsylvania and New York before coming to Oregon City. The Western Stock Journal was recently established in this city, and is devoted to the raising of stock, poultry etc. It is one of the best stock journals in the United States.

We believe in a greater Oregon, a greater Clackamas County but a greater Oregon City first.

MOOSE ORDER LEASES HALL FROM ELKS

At one of the most enthusiastic meetings held by the Oregon City Lodge No. 961, Loyal Order of Moose it was decided Wednesday night to lease the Lodge hall of the Elks. This step toward advancement was received by the brotherhood with rounds of applause, when the cozy homelike appearance of the proposed lodge room was pointed out.

Another change of importance that received the hearty approval of all, was that instead of Wednesday evening the brotherhood meet on Thursday at 8 o'clock sharp. One of the reasons for the change is that Wednesday is the lodge night of the Portland order.

The entertainment committee has promised the organization something out of the ordinary Thursday night which will be in the form of a house warming.

About a score of members were bailed upon and about half that number initiated at the meeting Wednesday night and if the membership list increases along its present ratio the Loyal Order of Moose promises to beat all records of fraternal organizations in Oregon City.

BOOK AGENTS PAY FOR "BEATING" HOTEL

Henry Jones and Joseph Johnson, book agents, were taught a good lesson in this city Wednesday. They spent Tuesday night in a hotel owned by Buck Hutchinson in Canby and early Wednesday morning threw their dress suit cases out of a window and boarded a train for Oregon City without paying their board bill. Mr. Hutchinson telephoned E. L. Shaw that the men were on the train, and Shaw placed them under arrest when they reached this city. "My Goodness," said Jones, "We are pinched." "It's too bad," said Johnson, "and is there not some way we can get out of this thing without going to jail?" Hutchinson, who arrived on the same train, said he would not prosecute the men if they would pay for their lodging and all expenses. They declared they would be delighted to do this and handed the hotel man $8.15. The amount due for lodging was $2.

We try to teach but we are willing to learn.

HIGH SCHOOL PLAY DELIGHTS BIG CROWD

The High school play "Down in Dixie," given at Shively's Theatre Wednesday evening was the most delightful entertainment ever furnished by the school. The building was thronged and it was necessary to place chairs in the aisles to accommodate the crowd. The pupils had been drilled by Mrs. H. B. Cartledge, teacher of English Literature, and their work was not only creditable to themselves but to Mrs. Cartledge as well. The play was of a lighter vein than ever given before by the pupils of the school, and was much more appreciated than the tragedies given heretofore. The cast of characters was as follows:

Harvey Wells, a colonel in the Federal army; Charles Holmes, George Washington Buns, a Herald Reporter; Edward Busch, Major Bradley, of the Confederate Army; Torraine Ostrom, Corporal Hooligan, a "True Blue" vet.; Gilbert Morris, Hon. C. L. Dusenberry, a Member of Congress; Vern Roake, Hezekiah Sniffins, a Degenerate Yankee; Roy Graves, Uncle Mosley, a Faithful Slave; Chas. Betzel, Billings, Bradley's Henchman; David Harris, Helen Trevoir, a Southern Heiress; Erna Petzold, Molly Martin, Her Lively Friend; Edith Aldridge, Mrs. Dusenberry, a Business Woman; Evadne Harrison, Susannah, "Jis a Brack Nigger"; Ruby Francis.

Today the heroes of the Civil War and their many friends will honor the memories of those of that great sectional strife who are dead. The majority of those who participated in the war have joined the silent bivouac. The life spark has gone, but as long as memory lasts in the living their deeds of daring, their sublime patriotism will be inspirations for greater achievement. Like the men who battled under George Washington they set an example which has made this the greatest country on the face of the earth. In this day of flying machines, commercialism—not to mention Titanic disaster—this big day of big things, both glorious and tragic, we are not very prone to think of the men who saved the nation, or when we do think of them to think what they really did. Oh yes, a Grand Army man is liked, he is even loved, but how many of us stop to think that he marched for days at a time in all kinds of weather, that he slept in the fields, that he bared his breast to a mighty foe? Chauncey Depew, formerly a United States Senator of New York, made an address when Grant's tomb was dedicated on Riverside Drive, New York City that will live forever. Mr. Depew lauded General Lee, the southern leader. He told of Lee's ancestry, painted in glowing words the great achievements of his father, Light Horse Harry Lee, of Revolutionary fame, told of the love his people had for "Marse Robert," dwelt upon the Virginian's work in the war with Mexico, and said he was never known to have overlooked a duty. The picture was beautiful as painted by the master orator. But there were persons present, one of them the widow of the great commander of the northern armies, whose memory was being honored, and the lauding of the man who had been in direct opposition to her gallant, brave and brilliant husband, naturally did not appeal to her or to them. But see how the orator, Mr. Depew, in his peroration, finished his picture:

"An low great a man General Grant must have been to have defeated and conquered such a man as General Lee."

As long as there is history no finer compliment will ever be paid any man than was paid General Grant by Mr. Depew at that Riverside Drive dedication.

And General Grant was not born with a silver spoon in his mouth. All he achieved, all his glory was won by him through honest effort. It was a long step from his little farm in Missouri to Appomattox to the presidency of the greatest nation the world has ever known.

This little story written about the man who saved the nation, is not well written, but the Contest Manager believes there is something about it which should appeal to the candidates in the great automobile race. If they would only work one stunt as hard as General Grant they would accomplish wonders. The race closes next Wednesday, and on this—our National Memorial Day—let the achievements of General Grant be your inspiration.

SCHOOL EXHIBITION BEST EVER HELD

WORK OF PUPILS IN MANUAL
TRAINING, DOMESTIC SCIENCE
ETC., AMAZES

DISPLAY IS AT BARCLAY BUILDING

Drawings And Compositions Are Especially Fine—Girls Prove Themselves Excellent
Cooks

The exhibition of the pupils of the Barclay and Eastham schools in the gymnasium of the Barclay school is attracting much attention. On Tuesday afternoon and evening as well as on Wednesday many persons viewed the work at the children, which would be a credit to any school in the state. The rooms were filled with exhibits including work in the manual training, domestic science, and regular school work. The manual training boys ranging from the lower grades to the high school had an exhibit consisting of articles such as towel rollers, tables, bookcases, paper racks, birdhouses, picture frames, and many other articles to numerous to mention. These boys have been given instruction by Peter Forbes, professor in manual training. From the samples that were on exhibition Mr. Forbes is most proficient in this study, as he has interested many of the younger boys as well as the older students in making articles in the furniture line. Among those deserving of special mention in the high school are Leonard Williams, Kent Wilson, Shelby Shaver, Ray Morris, Clyde Jagger, Lisle Gault, Clark Story, Joseph Hedges, Clyde Green, George Derrick, Aubrey Dillon, Everett Dye, Walter Dungey, Floyd Etchell, and in the lower grades are Alon Shewman, Fred Leisner, Roy Ferguson, Dewey Hammond, Burr Johnson, Lawrence Hill, James Cain, Floyd Eberly, Fred Tooze, Jr., Graydon Pace, George Buchold, John Myers, Kent Moody, Cecil Wickham, Karl Vonderah, Frank Criswell, Donald Wilcox, Chester Tozler.

In the center of one of these rooms is a table filled with good things to eat made by some of the young women of the domestic science class, whose having exhibits being Bessie Davis, Vera Howell, Etta Beck, Alice Holmes, Grace Dambach, Marion Pickens, Mildred Hays, Barton White, Chlo Morgan, Ruth Mosier, Gordella Wiewesiek, Veta Lynch, Lizzie Dillon, Marvel Ely, Alta Howell, Helen Lovett, Gwendelyn Trudell, Hazel Farr, Etta Long. These young ladies, who have been taking a special course in the domestic science department have proven that they are becoming artists in this line, and with several more years of experience such as they have had during the past year, they will be able to conquer the difficulties of household duties—cooking.

The work of the two schools consisted of drawings in the different grades composed for those who illustrated number work, sewing map drawing, this being excellent, and the produce of each state and country was represented on these, and other branches of the work that is being taught in the Oregon City schools.

In the domestic art department many pretty articles were on exhibition, which consisted of dresses, aprons, handkerchiefs, made of the finest linen, laces and embroidery work. The basket weaving was also good, and there were many attractive samples of this work, mostly done by the little girls.

The exhibit will be open to the public the remainder of the week, and those wishing to view it will have the privilege of doing so, the doors of which will be open to the public from 1:30 until 9 o'clock. Lights have been provided for those who wish to attend at night. The background for the exhibit on the walls is of black, thus showing off to a good advantage the display.
