Mrs. Kennedy formerly resided in this city, and still thinks there is no place like Oregon. L. D. Morrison, wife and two children, of Lincoln, Neb., are spending a few days with the families of Roy B. Cox and L. P. Horton. Mrs. Morrison has just finished a lyceum tour of the Northwest. During her stay in Salem she was the guest of Warden Curtis, and entertained the O. S. P. at the Sunday services. At Tacoma, Wash., she was entertained by Warden Gilligan, of the Federal Prison on McNelly Island. Mrs. Morrison during her lyceum tour donates her services as an elocutionist to the state and federal prisons and old soldiers' homes. She is well known from Chicago to the West. Mrs. Morrison has kindly consented to read "Old Glory" by James Whitcomb Riley at the Memorial exercises in Shively's hall this morning. Garrick and the Bishop. In the "Realities of Irish Life," by W. S. French, is this anecdote: "I have heard a story that upon one occasion the bishop of London asked the celebrated actor, Garrick, if he could explain how it was that he and his clergy failed to arrest the attention of their audiences, although they preached every Sunday of the realities of the world to come, while he (Garrick) filled crowded houses with the most rapt attention, although they knew perfectly well that he was saying was fiction. The reason is very plain, my lord," replied Garrick. "You deal with facts as if they were fiction. I deal with fiction as if it were facts."

Changeable. "I thought you loved a light haired girl last year." "I did, but she died." - Chicago Tribune.

NEW AND ATTRACTIVE. Several new features are indicated in the drawing above. In the first place the sleeve puff is a new departure and especially when placed below the drop shoulder. Then there is the long buttoned cuff of coat material with its ruffle of lace on the outer side of the arm. The pointed and rolled revers on the coat are something different and a satisfaction after the winters rage for broad revers and square collar. But newest of all is the odd lot of lace which falls over the jacket opening to below the waistline. The hat shown is one of the new soft straws with brim drapery and bow of black maline.

MRS. PICKENS IS HOSTESS AT BRIDGE

The Wednesday Afternoon Bridge Club had a most delightful meeting at the home of Mrs. L. L. Pickens on the West Side Wednesday afternoon, the hostesses of the afternoon being Mrs. Eber A. Chapman, Mrs. R. R. McAlpin and Mrs. L. L. Pickens. The rooms were tastefully decorated with huge bunches of California Testout roses and ferns. Refreshments were served during the afternoon. The first prize was won by Mrs. E. P. Rands, and the second prize by Mrs. C. G. Huntley. Present were Mrs. E. P. Rands, Mrs. J. R. Humphrys, Mrs. M. D. Latourrette, Mrs. L. A. Morris, Mrs. L. L. Porter, Mrs. A. A. Price, Mrs. W. R. Logus, Mrs. Walter Wells, Mrs. C. D. Latourrette, Mrs. C. G. Huntley, Mrs. John B. Lewthwaite, Mrs. J. W. Moffatt, Mrs. George Hankins, Mrs. R. R. McAlpin, Mrs. E. A. Chapman, Mrs. L. L. Pickens, Miss M. L. Holmes, Miss Marjory Caulfield, Miss Nell Caulfield.

Fighting by the Day. At the siege of Lexington, Mo., in the civil war an old Texan, dressed in buckskin and armed with a long rifle, used to go up to the works every morning about 7 o'clock, carrying his dinner in a tin pail. Taking a good position, he banged away at the Federals until noon, then rested an hour and ate his dinner. He resumed operations until 6 p. m., when he returned home to supper and a night's sleep. The next day a little before 7 saw him, dinner and rifle in hand, trudging up street to begin again his regular day's work, and in this style he continued until the surrender.

Away He Went. "Madam, I'm traveling around the world on a wager. I have to make good time or I lose my bet." "Well, I don't mind letting my bulldog pace you a couple of miles. Here, Tige." - Kansas City Journal.

UNKNOWN GRAVES. But, ah, the graves which no man knows. Uncounted graves which never can be found. Graves of the precious "missing" where no sound of tender weeping will be heard. No loving step of kindred: Oh, how flows And yearns our thought of them! More holy ground Of graves than this, we say, is that whose bound is secret till eternity disclose its sign. But nature knows no wilderness. There are no missing in her numbered ways. In her great heart is no forgetfulness. Each grave she keeps she will adorn, caress We cannot lay such wreaths as summer lays. And all her days are decoration days. - Helen Hunt Jackson.

MRS. HENDERSON IS SHOWER HONOR GUEST

Mrs. Louis Henderson, formerly Miss Edna Caulfield, whose marriage was solemnized recently, was the guest of honor at a kitchen shower at the home of Mrs. C. H. Meissner Tuesday afternoon. Miss Clara Caulfield, sister of Mrs. Henderson, who is to be a bride soon, with Mrs. H. E. Hendry were invited to the luncheon which was at 1 o'clock. At 2 o'clock several of the members of the S. N. C. Club arrived at the home of Mrs. Meissner and surprised Mrs. Henderson, bringing with them many kitchen utensils. The affair was a most enjoyable one. Refreshments were served. The decorations were very attractive being of bright colored roses and peonies. Present were Miss Helen Daulton, Miss Bess Daulton, Mrs. M. D. Cockrell, Mrs. Walter Wells, Mrs. Mortimer Cockrell, Mrs. H. E. Hendry.
