GRADUATION DAYS.

Another school year has flown by. We have another set of youngsters either entering the work of higher education or to begin the labors of their choice—a trade—a profession or what not.

Let us all lend our aid to see that those who are now to take up their life work, get started right—first—on the straight and narrow path, for otherwise all will be in vain and secondly, that they take up something which will allow them to advance. Too many young people look for too quick returns and accept a laborer's position at what at first appearance appears to be large pay. Begin small; learn a trade, so your years of toil will gradually bring you greater returns. Do not think your days of study are over. They should be but begun. It is the man who studies and helps himself who goes ahead. No one can help a person who will not help himself. Here is with best wishes for the future of each and every one of you.

The Portland Oregonian has had much to say of late regarding the bumper crops of 1912, advertising the state like the man who counted his chickens before they were hatched. At the same time, none too much can be said of the prospects and natural resources of the Northwest generally, but we think, particularly, of Clackamas County and our section of the Willamette Valley. This is a new found Garden of Eden, the land of cream and honey, and anyone having any doubts can come and see for himself. Still, the Garden of Eden would not bear weeds and no hard work was necessary. Here we must do our part of there will be no return. With hard work, we have the goods.

We have a good live Publicity Committee, one whose members are on the job all the time. Wednesday night meetings are called to order with all members present. We also have a real live Publicity Manager—under whose guidance this department is sure to continue its great record of the past. With such a combination, the business men of our City have confidence in the future work and will subscribe liberally to the fund.

From the way the merchants of our city subscribe toward the big days scheduled by The Publicity Department of The Commercial Club it is easy to surmise that they are in line for anything which is for the betterment or advancement of the City and County. With a Rose Parade in the morning, an Automobile Parade in the afternoon, a rose show only second in size to Portland, all day and a baby show such as only Clackamas County can give the day will be full of entertainment and surprises for the resident and visitor. Bargain Day should be an annual event, the same as Booster Day and the Horse Show.

Useful Things to Know.

- Starch should be mixed with soap water, for thus the linen will have a more glossy appearance and be less likely to stick to the iron. Moisture grease spots with cold water and soda before scrubbing, as this will cause them to be more easily removed. Good black ink mixed with the white of an egg is excellent to restore the color to black kid gloves or shoes? Any kind of steamed bread will be tastier if it is baked ten or fifteen minutes immediately on being taken from the steamer and before being removed from the mold? If new cake tins are put on top of the stove until they have a bluish color, but not until they become burned, they will not stick to them during the baking as it usually does to new tins? Homemade Linoleum. Take any old carpet that is whole, but too shabby for use, and tack it down smoothly on the kitchen floor. Make a good thick boiled starch of flour and water and rub a coat of this on the carpet with a whitewash brush. In about twenty-four hours or when the starch is dry give a coat of paint any color suitable. Dark red is a serviceable color and wears well.

BRIDE-ELECT IS HONORED BY FRIENDS

Miss Alice Lewthwaite was the guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Lewthwaite, of the West Side Wednesday evening, in honor of her approaching marriage to Mr. James Carey of this city. The affair was planned and carried out by a few friends of Miss Lewthwaite, who assembled at the home of Miss Cis Pratt and went to the Lewthwaite home. The bride-elect was completely surprised, and when the packages containing gifts for her were opened she was still more surprised. The evening was devoted to cards and music followed by refreshments. The marriage of Miss Lewthwaite and Mr. Carey will take place in this city, the bride-elect being the daughter of the Superintendent of the Willamette Pulp & Paper Company, John Lewthwaite, and Mr. Carey is also connected with the paper company. Those attending the shower were Mrs. A. C. Warner, Mrs. L. Adams, Mrs. R. R. McApin, Mrs. L. L. Pickens, Mrs. John B. Lewthwaite, Jr., Mrs. M. D. Latourette, Mrs. Kenneth Stanton, Mrs. L. A. Morris, Mrs. E. A. Chapman, Mrs. H. S. Mount, Mrs. J. W. Moffatt, Mrs. L. L. Porter, Mrs. Edwin Stuart, of Portland, Mrs. Metta Flney Thayer, Miss Gertrude Fairclough, Miss Helen Daulton, Miss Bess Daulton, Miss Cis Pratt, Miss Manthe Lewthwaite.

Puffy Flesh Under Eyes. After a period of illness sometimes the flesh will recede about the eyes. This leaves the skin loose and shriveled in appearance. For treatment warm almond oil is excellent. Dip small soft cloths in the oil and as often as convenient during the day and when retiring at night lay them on the loose skin. The skin about the eyes of a person who is recovering from illness is too delicate to be massaged. The small veins and capillaries are very weak, so it behooves one to be extremely careful in this treatment. Foods which are easily digested, wholesome and strengthening are preferable to fatty or fancy dishes, and resting the body as often as possible is recommended. Lack of sufficient sleep and internal derangement are responsible for the rolls of loose flesh under the eyes. If you hope for a cure then see to it that internally the system is in as nearly perfect condition as possible. When you are sure of this then you can start outward treatment. First be sure you are having sufficient sleep. From seven to eight hours each night is none too much, and the best hours are from 10 p. m. to 6 a. m. The loose flesh and all about the eyes externally may be gently massaged with equal parts of rosewater and glycerin. If there is any smarting sensation reduce the amount of glycerin to one-third, with two-thirds of rosewater. Once or twice a week tiny ice cubes may be allowed to lie for fifteen minutes on the puffy flesh, and occasionally bathing the parts in cold water will also prove beneficial.

Sun Bath For the Hair. The crisp fresh air, the bright light and the sunshine of this season of the year are all good for the hair. It is the hot summer sun that is injurious to both skin and scalp. Just now and for months to come a daily sun bath would be a life giving treatment for the scalp as well as it would be for the whole body. If you have a room into which the sun shines brightly make it your sun parlor for at least an hour during each day. Take all the pins out of your hair, shake it free and loose every morning or any time through the day and sit in the sun. This will be more beneficial to the scalp than quarts of tonic. To get good results from a sun bath all pins must be removed from the hair. If they are not, the scalp, which needs the tonic, will be untouched and only the hair on top or outside will receive the bath. The scalp, although seemingly tender, never burns even in the hottest summer days. The girl who has exposed her head much during such weather when playing tennis, etc., will remember that near the head the color of the hair is unchanged, however much the remainder may be streaked. This is because the scalp oils protect the hair. Therefore when taking a sun treatment the hair should be loosened, the tresses should be parted and occasion ally tossed about. Sit in a comfortable chair during the process, and the bath will be found restful to the nerves as well as the head. Sleep For Looks. Sleep is one of the best known preservatives of youth, and every woman should get as much of it as possible. A short nap after meals is an excellent thing. Take it if you have time to lie down only for fifteen minutes.

OREGON WOOL MARKET SHOWING ACTIVITY

The week to date has been one of activity in the Oregon wool market. Buyers have been in evidence in all parts of the state where shearing has been done and have bought heavily wherever the sheepsman have shown disposition to let go at the prices now ruling. East of the Cascades most of the business reported has been at prices ranging from 14 to 16 cents, but in some cases it is said that as high as 18 cents has been paid for exceptionally fancy clips. Valley wool is going at 18 to 19 cents. While operating as actively as circumstances will permit, buyers nevertheless declare that the market has been forced above parity with the East, and that there is unquestionably an element of speculation in a good deal of the business now being put through. Taking this view of the situation, their activity at this time would seem to indicate confidence on their part of the future of the market. Conditions in the Boston market at the close of last week are reported as follows: Transactions this week have aggregated fully 3,000,000 pounds, and the market is more active than in over a month. The movement consisted of a comparatively small number of lots to a few large buyers, and included 750,000 pounds fine clothing Montana and about 400,000 pounds fine staple Montana, both from the old clip, and constituted a clean-up. The prices obtained ran from 21@21 1/2 cents for fine staple, 23 cents for three-eighths blood and 18 cents for fine clothing. Boston dealers have not been so well sold up at this season in years, a prominent trade authority being of the opinion that not for ten years has there been so little desirable old wool unsold at the opening of the new clip. The mills are busy and moderate orders are being taken in advance of the light-weight goods opening, but less confidence is expressed regarding the outlook. Prevailing Oregon City prices are as follows: DRIED FRUITS—(Buying)—Prunes on basis of 6 to 8 cents. Fruits, Vegetables. HIDES—(Buying)—Green hides, 7c to 8c; salters 6c to 7c; dry hides 12c to 14c; sheep pelts, 25c to 75c each. Hay, Grain, Feed. EGGS—Oregon ranch eggs, 15c case count; 20c coned. SACK VEGETABLES—Carrots. SACK—(Buying)—Timothy, $12 to $15 clover, $8 to $9; oat hay, best, $10 to $11; mixed, $9 to $11; alfalfa, $15 to $16.50. OATS—(Buying)—$37.50 to $38.50, wheat $1 bu.; oil meal, selling $35; Shady Brook dairy feed, $1.30 per 100 pounds. FEED—(Selling)—Shorts, $28; bran $25; process barley, $41.50 per ton. LIME—$5.00 to $5.50. POTATOES—Best buying $1.00 to $1.40 according to quality per hundred. Butter, Poultry, Eggs. POULTRY—(Buying)—Hens 13c to 14c; spring, 17c to 20c, and roosters 8c, Stags 11c. VEAL—Sheep 2c to 3 1/2c. VEAL—Calves 10c to 12c dressed, according to grade. MOHAIR—33c to 35c.

WILBUR WRIGHT, AIRMAN, IS DEAD

(Continued from page 1) of this business that they defrayed their expenses of experiment. In 1901 they operated their first gliding motorless biplane. Exhaustive study of air pressure during the following winter was followed by more experiments in 1902, increased in 1903, and they then attached to the glider a gasoline motor of the type used in automobiles. These later experiments were conducted at Kitty Hawk, N. C., and in lieu of a passenger they attached an avial to the biplane for the first flights, October 17, 1903, the machine flew with its inventor. Owing to their secrecy the world doubted their success until four years later when they publicly demonstrated their ability to fly and proved beyond contradiction that two years before any other man had flown repeatedly for more than 20 miles. With the perfection of the Wright biplane Wilbur Wright went abroad, where he was hailed in every land as the ingenious Yankee who really could fly. In Paris the native aeronauts served only as a background for his fame. Royalty and nobility honored him everywhere, but he remained the dry, secretive, centered, good natured American, who was making a business of flying. After accepting contracts with several European governments for supplying for military purposes, Wilbur Wright returned to the United States to find that the prophet without honor in his own country was a world idol to be honored at last at home. At the White House honors were showered on him and the army adopted him as savior of the nation's prestige in aerial navigation as applied to military maneuvers. Dayton closed up shop and held a three-day fete in honor of the two men who had been known to their years ago as "those crazy Wright boys." But the Wright brothers were too busy to play the hero. They had machines to make for the world. They were making them in Germany, in Scotland and in Dayton, and still they could not make enough of them. Their business grew and they quit flying. They taught others to fly and soon the countryside of every state was filled with flaming announcements of aviators in thrilling exhibitions in the Wright machines. Wilbur Wright always counseled caution in flying. It was a serious matter with him; not a circus performance. The heavier-than-air machine he had perfected had a valuable purpose in world advancement and his hopes for it were most sanguine, but at the same time conservative. The main purpose of the biplane he said, would be to make short trips speedily; that it would never carry more than two or three passengers or engage in freight traffic he did not believe.

ARMY MEN PRAISE WRIGHT

Profound Sorrow Expressed in Capital Over Death. WASHINGTON, May 29.—In Government circles, especially in the signal Corps of the Army, profound sorrow was expressed at the news of the death of Wilbur Wright. His connection with the Government in the early days of the aeroplane development was particularly close. Wilbur Wright negotiated the first contract with the War Department for an aeroplane in February 1908. Before the issuance of specifications for his first heavier-than-air flying machine he was a frequent visitor to the army signal corps headquarters. During the visit Brigadier-General Jas. Allen, chief signal officer of the army, said today, there never was a time when Wilbur Wright showed any doubt of his ability to do exactly what he had undertaken or made extravagant claims for his machine. The first military aeroplane in the world, which the Wright brothers built for the United States, was brought to Fort Myer in 1908. In it Orville Wright on September 9, 1908, maintained a continuous flight of one hour, and the same day carried a passenger on a short flight. Soon after Wilbur Wright went to France, where he made better records in a duplicate machine. General Allen today paid a high tribute to Wilbur and Orville Wright. "To them," he said, "is due the great credit of first publicly demonstrating to the world the practicability of dynamic flight. The success of the Wright brothers was not due to chance or to any accidental discovery but to their persistence, daring and intelligence in scientifically working out the different parts which go to make up their machine and especially in testing the same in flight." The Wright brothers received a medal and thanks from Congress and also a medal from the Smithsonian Institution for their achievements.

No Factor Can Ever Compare With Religion In Any Man's Life

By WILLIAM J. BRYAN, Statesman and Lecturer

RELIGION is the ONLY FOUNDATION UPON WHICH A SYSTEM OF MORAL CODES CAN BE BUILT. Neither now nor in the years to come can we find a man or group of men whose code of morals has not been founded on the teachings of Christ. If we wait for a man to be fully matured before he gets his moral foundation he is ruined, yet the law says that he cannot vote or dispose of his property until he is mature and is of age.

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN

We will all find that the FOUNDATIONS OF OUR CHARACTER WERE MADE IN OUR YOUTH. If there are any who think that religion makes a man a weakling let him look at the great body forming the men and religion forward movement and deny that there is such a thing as a God. We need one day in every seven, or maybe more, for the supplying of spiritual nutriment. We must feed our physical bodies three times a day. If our souls were as hungry as our physical bodies the churches need never be empty. AS FOOD SUSTAINS US PHYSICALLY, SO DOES THE CHURCH MORALLY AND SPIRITUALLY. It will always be found that the youth with high moral ideas would surpass the one who thought of nothing save himself and his own pleasures. NEVER HAVE WE NEEDED THE STRENGTH OF MORALS IN A NATION MORE THAN WE DO NOW, FOR NO FACTOR CAN BE COMPARED WITH RELIGION IN EVERY LIFE. WE HAVE GOVERNMENT, AND WE HAVE EDUCATION, BOTH PROBABLY THE BEST IN THE LAND, AND THE GOVERNMENT MAY PLANT AND INSTITUTIONS EDUCATE, BUT GOD MUST GIVE THE INCREASE.
