Big Wild West Show Here Friday, June 7

The 101 Ranch Real Wild West Show is to be here June 7 and with it will be the greatest congress of Indians, cowgirls, cowboys, and western people generally ever assembled. There is positively not the first thing about this show that is not typically western. When this gigantic aggregation entered the amusement field there were many so called western shows and for the purpose of distinguishing the real from the counterfeit the word "real" was incorporated in the title. The little word has fulfilled its mission and while comparisons are odious the many millions of patrons of the show have learned its full meaning and sanctified its use.

It is without fear of contradiction the only bona fide wild west show that has ever been conceived. Coming as it does right from the big 101 Ranch at Bliss, Oklahoma, and only western characters to give the meritorious performance it could not well be otherwise. It is not the show that runs to long hair, Indian yells and pistol shots to be considered as a western show for it depicts scenes other than exclusive blood and thunder scenes. The extended program is made up of historical events and western scenes that carry with them educational value as well as entertaining purposes. Scenes that all who have lived in the far west will recognize and those who have not lived there will appreciate are graphically portrayed. Daily scenes on the ranch; historical events which have made the far west historical and possible; western sports and pastimes; expert rifle and pistol shooting; astonishing feats with ropes and lariat by the crack cowboys and cowgirls; also experts from Old Mexico; reproduction of some of the early struggles westward by the early settlers and in fact the perfect transplanting of the west to your very firesides. Not one feature that is of eastern origin is introduced but the most gigantic array of western life ever dreamed of is truthfully depicted.

BOY SLAYER OF GIRL IS WILLING TO DIE

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—"I am glad the newspapers have listened to my story and repeated it as I have told it. It is hard to explain the attachment between Bernice and myself; it was something that was made for another world. It will be continued when we meet again. She has gone to Wilfred, my baby brother. He will tell her why I did it. Now I know she will be waiting for me, and the sooner the law takes its course the better I will be suited."

This statement was made today by Charles H. Bonner, the 19-year-old boy who shot and killed Miss Bernice Godard, 17-year-old high school girl to whom he had been paying attention, on the threshold of her home because she refused to "go out" with him.

Bonner declares he suffered greatly during the night, seeing visions of the dead girl with her bloodstained dress lying on the steps of her home. He eagerly read all newspaper accounts of the crime.

Mrs. Godard, the mother of Bernice and Mrs. Bonner, widowed mother of the slayer, both of whom were prostrated by the tragedy, are slowly recovering today. The two families occupy apartments in the same building, from which the funeral services of Miss Godard will be conducted tomorrow afternoon.

Founded on Herring Bones.

Dutch monopoly of the North sea fishing grounds during the seventeenth century brought such wealth and prosperity of Amsterdam that the capital of Holland was popularly said to be founded on herring bones. No fewer than 50,000 Hollanders were directly engaged in fishing the coasts from near Yarmouth to as far north as the Shetlands, and 150,000 more were employed indirectly in the distribution and sale of the fish. Sir Walter Raleigh pointed out to James I. how the Dutch sold to the Yarmouth herring mongers fish caught in their own seas for English gold, with which they built annually a thousand ships and fishing boats.

HOP MARKET FIRM FOR ALL OFFERINGS

There is a very firm tone in the hop market. Both contracts and spots are affected and on every hand strength is shown.

With only about 1250 bales of old crop remaining in Oregon and practically none in California, the trade is freely bidding $8@35c a pound for 1911s but holders of the limited supplies are asking 40c and even better.

Contracts are being freely bid for at 25c a pound but growers are showing less disposition to accept than they were a few days ago. Notwithstanding the most excellent crop prospects, there is evidence on all sides that brewers are anxious to contract.

Attempts of the bear forces to beat down contracts by taking hold of a lot of poor growth here and there, below the established quotation, have failed and the market is stronger than it has been for some time.

Growth of hop vines in Oregon is the best ever known but there is danger of a top crop owing to the very heavy foliage. In all sections the vines have already reached the top of the poles and are running down to the ground again. The arms are the longest ever known.

The basement is kept cool by the large stream of water from the Seventh Street hill passing under the building, and the fruits that are shipped from California points will be in fine condition when purchased by the Oregon City merchants.
