THE MOLALLA RAILROAD

Day by day the good work goes on and it will only be a short while before our Molalla road is in operation. The contract covers the work to Silverton but can be cancelled at Molalla if desired. Now that work is begun in earnest it will be an easy task to get subscriptions to carry the road the rest of the distance, and when the people see the Canby-Molalla road fall by the way side there will be more boosters for the road which taps the best part of the Molalla valley. We have the real thing taken into camp and by winter everybody will be a Clackamas Southern booster. Those promoting this road deserve better than can be given them by this community.

MONEY

In this life we learn among our first lessons that we can buy things with money. As we grow up, we find that some people will do most anything for money—steal, kill and even sell themselves. Very few succeed in their money mad work without detection. Their stories are told by the daily press. Some go to prison; others miss the searching of the grand jury. Their sins hurt them, but in their mad rush for money they willingly do anything to cover them up. They try to hide them behind the pillars of some church, but evil will out. Their life work is the talk of the neighborhood—finally the daily press views the situation and airs it. Conclusion: there is one way to correct the injury that evil doings have brought upon him; if he can only see...

School Children Today Speak Incorrect English

By MARY A. G. MITCHELL, Pittsburgh Educationalist

IN teaching English the teacher often sows on soil choked by the weeds of bad habit. Care for exactness in oral expression seemingly is regarded as an affectation, a matter OF INTEREST ONLY TO THE GROWNUPS. The youth in our modern schools may understand and recite most intelligently on solecism, impropriety and provincialism in class, and a half hour later we may hear from those same fluent lips the most unpardonable expressions and MISUSES OF ENGLISH.

ARE THERE ANY MEANS OF INSPIRING PUPILS WITH AN IDEA THAT BOTH GOOD MANNERS AND REFINED SPEECH ARE A STANDARD MEASURE OF CULTURE IN ALL CIVILIZED COUNTRIES? CAN WE NOT FOLLOW THE EXAMPLES OF THE EUROPEAN COUNTRIES, WHERE EMPHASIS IS PLACED ON THE CULTIVATION OF ORAL EXPRESSION?

In France, Germany and England speech seems to be regarded as a serious and active agent in forming habits, building character, in acquiring power of thought, in creating ideas.

cure money the people will see that he is wronged. Money, money, tainted money, how the world loves thee.

BROKERS TRYING TO DEPRESS HOP TRADE

Efforts of the bearish brokers of Portland to depress the price of hop contracts would be amusing to the trade if the matter was not a very serious thing for producers.

It is known positively that Louis Lachmund of Salem received an order from England for 500 bales of 1912 crop, and was able to pay from 22c to 23c a pound for them. He has been scouring the valley for supplies at this range, notwithstanding the fact that the bearish interests spread reports that growers are willing to sell at 21c. That someone is heavily short of the 1912 crop of hops here is indicated by the desperate efforts being made by certain brokers to spread misleading reports to influence the price downward. Growers are very firm in their views and little stock is obtainable under 24 @ 25c a pound, and those that have orders to fill fractionally under this amount realize that this is so.

Prevailing Oregon City prices are as follows:

- DRIED FRUITS—(Buying)—Prunes on basis of 6 to 8 cents.

- OATS—(Buying)—$35.00 to $36.50 wheat 50c bu.; oil meal, selling $36.50 Shady Brook dairy feed, $1.30 per 100 pounds.

British Naval Guns In 'The New York Navy Yard

ONE of the most brilliant naval actions of the war of 1812 is commemorated by the display in the New York navy yard of seven ancient ship's guns. They are part of the armament of the British frigate Macedonia, which was captured by Captain Stephen Decatur on Oct. 25, 1812, after a fierce combat of two hours. When her commander, Captain Decatur, offered his sword to Decatur the American said, "Sir, I cannot receive the sword of a man who has so bravely defended his ship, but I will receive your honor." The prize was repaired, sailed into New York harbor amid general rejoicings, and the guns here pictured were set up as trophies in the navy yard. Decatur received the freedom of the city and a gold medal, and has a secure place in history as one of the nation's naval heroes.

For the Children

A Fourth of July Parade of Children in Masks.

The old time noisy, firecracker celebration of the Fourth of July has happily gone out of fashion. Powder and fire are too dangerous for young folks to handle. A masked parade is a jolly way for children to show their patriotism on Independence day. The more grotesque the masks and costumes are the greater will be the fun. Another good plan is to have a colonial parade and perhaps tableaux in the schoolhouse or on some convenient field or lawn. The youngsters, dressed up to represent George and Martha Washington, Miss Columbia, Uncle Sam and the men and dames of colonial times, can be grouped to form many pretty and interesting pictures. It is greater fun, too, than being burned and otherwise injured by firecrackers.

A Fourth of July Game.

Another good Fourth of July game is called "stars and stripes." To arrange for this take a large number of cards and paste a gilt star on each. On another bunch paste a red strip of paper on each, and on another paste a strip of silver on each. The cards are dealt, one to each player.

his hand with a wrong number of stars and stripes to make up one flag those cards go to the pool, but no one must tell him in what way he erred or the others will be helped. The one making the most correct flags wins a prize.

A "Nation" Game.

Hand a slip of paper and pencil to each guest and ask them to write answers to each of these questions. Each answer must end in the word "nation."

- A floral nation?
- A poet's nation?
- A schoolgirl's nation?
- A teacher's nation?
- A traveler's nation?
- A preventative nation?
- A ruler's nation?
- A churchgoer's nation?
- A murderer's nation?

Answers: Carnation, Imagination, Examination, Explanation, Destination, Vaccination, Coronation, Donation, Assassination.

Origin of Arizona Town Names.

Nogales—Derived from the Spanish word nogal, meaning "common walnut tree."
Oro Blanco—The Spanish words meaning "white ore."
Calabasas—A Spanish word meaning "pumpkins" or "gourds."
Yuma—Named for an Indian tribe, the name meaning "sons of the river."

Snow Ball.

Have prepared balls made of tissue paper. In the heart of each ball place a slip of paper on which is written a conundrum. The fun will come in unwrapping the balls, and the prize will be given the one answering the riddle correctly.

Fourth of July.

In seventeen hundred and seventy-six At the sound of Liberty's call Our ancestors, tired of England's rule, Assembled in old Town hall.

On the Fourth of July they signed the word That makes us free today. Great honor is due to these noble men Who broke from England's sway.

And so to show our gratitude On this day of the year We bless the memory of those brave, Whose strong hearts knew no fear.

May we in turn our country serve And earn the right to say It was for us these patriots made Great Independence day. —Philadelphia Ledger.

er and one to the pool, until all are disposed of. The cards are held figure side in. Each player examines his cards to see whether he has enough stars and stripes to make up the American flag. If he has the correct number and over he counts them out, and after showing them to the table he lays them aside. Perhaps he may have two flags. When no player can form four flags from his own cards the drawing begins. Each player borrows from his left hand neighbor and endeavors to make a flag. If any player gets out of cards he still may draw. The person on the right of the one out of cards draws from the pool. The pool is only used when absolutely necessary. No one is allowed to answer any question as to the flag during the game, and much fun will be made by the players displaying their ignorance as to the correct number of stars and stripes or our emblem. When a player lays down

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE

WE MUST FORGET.

The Titanic! You have not forgotten how the great liner on the 15th day of April crashed into the iceberg that fared forth from the frozen north and of how it slid, like a great coffin, holding its 1,700 dead, down to the beasts and the ooze of the sea, two miles below. Nor of how the captain of millions and the peasant stood together at the rail as the cruel sea carried off their loves and hopes.

But already it is a dim memory. Just as that vast iceberg in the middle of the north Atlantic, towering up 500 feet like a great monument to the dead below, had drifted into warmer waters and melted, so after the first shock of the shuddering plunge of the Titanic was over—so swift does one we tread upon another's heels—are we beginning to forget.

Violent emotion, great sympathy, quick forgetfulness—these are the features of our modern life. Some there are who never will forget. The memory of the ship's tragedy has burned into their consciousness a scar that will not disappear, but in the general consciousness the thought is as unmindful as the waves above the dead.

We are like children. Scarcely have the tears dried from our eyes than the smiles appear. As when the Titanic went down and the waves closed together above it, making smooth waters, so do we forget.

Let us forget! Go to the steamship ticket offices. Will you not find the same surging crowds? And even today over the treacherous waters tourists lounge on the decks and the owners of dancing feet find pleasures. It is only the surface of our recollections that gets printed by the day's events, and tomorrow's new impression wipes it out.

Some things ought not to be forgotten—the criminal carelessness of the ship's owners, the gambling with death, the taking of chances to save money, the speed mania. All these should be remembered, and there should be exemplary punishment, but—Humanity must forget! We cannot always go mourning with regret. Mercifully are our memories made like children's slates from which may be wiped the horror of cataclysm and cruel visitation.

And so the peasant builds his cottage on the verge while the crater's lip is warm. And so the smooth sea smiles, and— We forget. We must forget!

Result of His Joy.

"I have here a reprieve for you from the home secretary," said the governor of the prison to the callous murderer. "Ah!" replied the latter. "No more is good news, as the proverb says." —London Answers.
