

TAFT REGULAR NOMINEE, ROOSEVELT ALSO NAMED

National committee. The powerful crook, the political bosses, have and ought to have no feeling but contempt for the honest men who submit to their violent and unscrupulous dishonesty.

"Fundamentally, these principles for which I stand are, first, that the people have the right to rule themselves, and can do so better than any outsiders can rule them; and, second, that it is their duty so to rule in a spirit of justice toward every man and every woman without our borders, and to use the Government so far as possible as an instrument for obtaining not merely political but industrial justice.

"We practically apply the commandment, 'Thou shalt not steal,' and we wish to give a square deal to every citizen of this Republic so that he may have a chance to show the stuff there is in him, unhelped by privilege and unhampered by privilege for others."

The decision of the Roosevelt people, under direction of their leader, to refrain from voting left, no other candidate but Taft in the regular election. The announcement of the Taft victory was greeted with cheering from his adherents and groans and hisses from the opposition.

When it became absolutely certain that Mr. Taft would be nominated, without great difficulty the leaders in control of the convention decided to give him as a running mate his companion on the ticket in 1908.

CHICAGO, June 22.—Governor Johnson at 2:40 left the convention hall, declaring he would not sit in the convention during the nomination for president, nor be bound by its acts.

Governor Johnson, in a statement, said that although he had been desired to retire with him, but that he requested them to remain to carry out the general plan of the Roosevelt delegates.

The report of the committee on permanent organization, recommending that the temporary list, headed by Senator Root, be made permanent was adopted.

Senator Root came forward amid deafening noise of cheers, whistling and other signs of approval and disapproval.

When at last it became quiet, Mr. Root made a brief speech of thanks. He introduced Henry J. Allen, of Kansas, to make a statement.

Henry J. Allen's speech was a declaration that the Roosevelt people repudiated this convention, and its work and, without a physical vote, appealed to the people. Allen began by reading the statement of Roosevelt.

Allen's first mention of Roosevelt's name started a tremendous cheering, in which all the Roosevelt delegations participated, with scores of people in the galleries. The Taft delegations sat still, watching the rest of the crowd, but taking no part in the demonstration.

There were large sections of the gallery, too, where the people were sitting motionless.

With hope, but no certainty of adjournment some time before daylight Sunday, the Republican National convention was called to order this morning at 10:43 by Temporary Chairman Root. Several delegates cried: "A—ah—ah—ah!" Chairman Root seemed amused by the interjection.

The convention immediately took up the report of the credentials committee seating the Taft delegates-at-large in Mississippi.

There were two reports. The minority report was tabled by a viva voce vote, amid cries of "Toot, toot." The majority report was adopted, seating the Taft delegates.

On the Second Mississippi District the committee reported unanimously in favor of the Taft delegates, and they were seated by the convention.

The Fifth, Sixth and Seventh Mis-

MISSISSIPPI, THE FOURTH NORTH CAROLINA, THE THIRD OKLAHOMA AND SECOND TENNESSEE WERE RUSHED THROUGH VIVA VOCE

Somebody had a whistle which he signalled like a streetcar conductor. Washington delegates-at-large, one of the big cases over which a hot battle was expected, was next brought in by the committee.

P. H. Howard, a negro delegate from Mississippi, raised a point of order. "The steam roller is exceeding the speed limit."

This started a big laugh which Chairman Root suppressed in order to say: "The chair sustains the point of order." He added: "The justification is that we have some hope of getting through for Sunday."

The majority report favored the Taft delegates. Every Roosevelt member of the credentials committee signed the dissenting report.

There was some delay. A delegate shouted: "Say, Watson, sand your track." Halbert of Minnesota argued for the minority report.

Dovell, of Washington, followed for chair ruled that while Dovell must not vote on his own case, he was entitled to present his case to the convention.

The Taft delegates were seated by a viva voce vote without the expected roll call.

The First district of Washington came next, the majority report favoring the Taft delegates. The Taft delegates were seated without roll call. The crowd began to sing "Merrily We Roll Along." Next came the Second Washington district. The Taft delegates were seated, also were those from the Third district. This finished the Washington contest—all in favor of Taft.

Under cover of the noise, the Californians started the old cry: "We want Teddy." For the first time it got well going and the anti-Roosevelt people had a hard time drowning it out with other noise.

At that time word came from the credentials committee that there would be no further report for an hour.

During an intermission, a big sign was hung over the rear gallery, reading: "What Root said of Penrose machine: 'They are an aggregation of criminals masquerading under the banner of Republicanism.'"

The sight of it started a great uproar, principally among the Roosevelt people. After a few minutes the police ordered it taken down.

Flinn of Pennsylvania, took occasion to address his Pennsylvania colleagues. He was interrupted by Mrs. Jacobson singing "America."

The crowd quickly caught up the song, and made a great volume of sound.

At the end of the song, Lissner, of California, got recognition and moved "that during the intermission we listen to addresses on party regularity by Senators Penrose and Crane."

This caused great laughter. The chairman did not put the motion. Convention called to order again at 1:36 P. M., after a loss of nearly two hours.

Chairman Root announced that the credentials committee had finished its work on the contests. Secretary Gleason read a statement from the chairman of the committee to the effect that all remaining contests had evidently been abandoned. By unanimous consent all remaining cases except those in Texas were placed upon the permanent roll.

The convention came to order again at 2:12 P. M.

The long-awaited report on the Texas delegates-at-large was presented. This was a Taft contest. The committee favored the Taft delegates.

The Texas case, said the report, was conspicuously one where the majority acted with expediency rather than right.

Taft delegates-at-large and from the First and Second were seated.

The Third District Roosevelt delegates, favored by the committee unanimously, were seated.

MRS. O. W. GRIFFIN TO SPEAK IN WILLAMETTE

(Communication)

Mrs. O. W. Griffin's address in the open forum pulpit of the First Methodist Episcopal church last Sunday evening deserves more than a passing notice. Her subject, "Responsibilities and Struggles of Modern Motherhood" as she announced it in a forceful and pleasing manner awakened a keen interest in the beginning on the part of the large audience.

She was self-possessed, and showed familiarity with the subject, carefulness of arrangement, ready use of language, and expressive, and poetic imagery, captured the people on the start and held them in closest attention to the finish.

Mrs. Griffin showed a wide range of reading, extensive acquaintance with great writers on a variety of subjects, and a good degree of knowledge of political, industrial and social conditions. She has her convictions, and does not fear, or hesitate to declare them in words easy to be understood and that can not be wrested from their meaning, nor turned aside from the mark at which they are aimed.

She knew what she wanted to say, and said it with the courage, freedom and effectiveness of a woman entrenched in her rights, in devotion to womanhood, and in an earnest desire for equal privileges without respect to sex, or social rank based on superficial distinctions, and pleading for conditions based upon worth, service and merit.

Some of the points she made against oppressors of the poor, the methods of tricky politicians, and the tricks of small lawyers, were strong and her commendations of honesty and fair dealing for all, and of faithfulness on the part of public servants, and statesmanship in the rulers was earnest and effective. She made a strong plea for the best things for all classes, and especially for the home under the united direction of an intelligent, industrious, thrifty and virtuous husband and wife living together according to God's ordinance, and adding to the wealth and well of the race.

Mrs. Griffin ought to be on the platform, and her gifts should be employed in behalf of the causes of reforms in politics, industrial and social conditions. Dr. Ford commends her to those who are looking for effective platform speakers. Mrs. Griffin will speak this evening at the Willamette church. Mr. L. Piper will have charge of the service.

BIG GEYSER ON HILL MAKES WADING SPOT

A real Yellow Stone Park Geyser has been in active operation on Twelfth street between John Adams and Washington for two days. Its source has been found in a water pipe, which has sprung a leak. The street committee has been notified and repairs are being made. Meanwhile the water is exuding from the break in considerable quantities. The little boys and girls of the neighborhood are having a good time wading. Naturally the water is obeying the inexorable law known as gravity—running down hill.

SEASON FOR OLD SPUDS NEARS END

The season for old potatoes is about over. Dealers are cleaning up their stocks and are not in the market for additional supplies. Sales are being made from $1 to $1.15 per cental.

Quite a lot of old potatoes are still pressing for sale in the country, but as there is neither local nor outside demand buyers are not taking chances. Even commission handlers are, as a rule, not willing to accept stock on commission owing to the poor chance of receiving favorable returns.

New potatoes are now coming forward from all sections. Local stock, while still inferior to that received from the south, so far as size is concerned, is somewhat improved over first arrivals.

Stories from Out of Town

ELWOOD.

Tuesday the rain fell in torrents, filling tubs under the eaves to the overflowing. Some Eastern people said the lingering hard thunder storm made them think of the Eastern storms. Lightning struck several trees near by.

The heat of the past few days causes to know summer is here. We are sorry to find smut in the wheat although the farmers dipped the wheat in Blue Vitrol. It must be the season's peculiarities.

Through the able doctoring of Dr. Steiner, of Estacada, Harry Bittner is recovering from an attack of pneumonia.

Frank Bittner, who has been ill is able to work again. Mr. Meilike is building a new fence.

The county assessor was a visitor at each home here last week. Arthur Schwene, who has been employed in the Oregon City mills, is home again.

We congratulate Miss Hazel Freeman and Mr. Otis Vallen in their success as being obtainers of eighth grade diploma.

CLACKAMAS

The severe thunder storm Friday June 14, caused quite a stir up for a short time. The telephone wire between this place and Oregon City was burned out, putting lines out of commission for several days. Some large trees in this vicinity were struck and many persons experienced slight shocks.

The annual school meeting was held Monday evening. J. H. Johnson was elected to serve on the school board. L. D. Jones retired, Professor Ashton, principal, Miss Pauline Heacock, intermediate, Miss Purse, primary, are the teachers secured for the ensuing year.

A number of citizens met at the home of Haskins Traube, Monday evening to organize a Socialist league. Sixteen members were enrolled. The league is expected to stand for true socialism.

The Christian Endeavor society and Ladies Aid of the Congregational church of this place are financing quite extensive repairs on the church building.

W. T. Habercash recently completed a large addition to his store building. He can now handle his increased stock of merchandise with ease.

W. W. Smith has three teams employed in hauling out piling in readiness for shipping.

Pope's Favorite. Pope deemed the "Essay on Man" his most polished production, but was so fond of revising his poetry that the printed copy contained almost one marginal note for every line. If his wishes had been fully carried out the second edition would have had so many changes as to be practically a new work.
