Modifying the Homestead Act

As a means of making homesteading more attractive, the law of 1862 has been modified so as to permit the settler to get a title after three years' occupation, instead of five, as formerly, he will be allowed to be absent from it for five months each year, if he wishes, and the acreage which is required to be cultivated is reduced.

These are important changes. As was to be expected, they were proposed by Western members and received most of their support in the West, which is the section in which the homestead act chiefly operated.

It would be difficult to overestimate the value which the free homes act of half a century ago conferred on the West. It attracted millions of people here who, otherwise, would have been much slower in coming.

Through its operation homes have been scattered through all of the states on the sunset side of the Mississippi, where most of the government land of 1862 existed. Thirteen states have been created west of the big river since that law went on the statute book.

One of the objects of the liberalization of the homestead act is to diminish the wave of American farmers who are crossing the line into Canada to locate there. It is estimated that an average of 100,000 Americans have moved into Canada annually for the past few years. While the figures may not be actually quite as large as the Canadian boomers pretend, yet the movement is too great to be permitted to continue without some effort to lessen it.

Cuba's escape from chaos is again to be credited to a powerful and friendly neighbor that keeps its navy up to date.

Nine times out of ten there is so little contest for the vice presidential nomination that the conventions are glad to select an amiable rather than an aggressive candidate.

A Berliner can breakfast at home and dine in Vienna after an aeroplane flight at an average speed of nearly a mile a minute. Nothing phlegmatic about it.

BEVERLY OF GRAUSTARK

Beautiful Love Play Presented This Week by Baker Stock Company

Where is the woman reader of light modern fiction who has not porved over the pages of George Barr McCutcheon's delightful comedy of love Beverly of Graustark, and who could deny the fact that it was an altogether charming entertainment. Beverly is a sequel to McCutcheon's first novel along these lines entitled Just Graustark, and it deals with the same scenes and some of the characters that are to be found in the first. It is an entirely different story, however, and an entirely different play, and will have its first local stock production at the Baker all this week starting with the usual matinee Sunday. Beverly Calhoun is just a typical American girl full of audacity, pluck and charm and of course, pretty. Well she is a Princess Yette of Graustark and on a visit to the Princess meets with a series of adventures both exciting and comical just as one would want her to. If she were a sample of all American girls who go abroad what a world of respect old Europe would have for Uncle Sam. Well Beverly meets with her Prince alright but he is not the same kind of a Prince who are accustomed to reading about American girls marrying and he is first discovered disguised as a scout herder in the hills around Graustark where he gets wounded defending her and is brought to the city and made Beverly's private escort and guard.

After many exciting episodes and many extremely amusing ones in which Aunt Fanny the old colored woman she has brought from America with her figures most ludicrously, everything is brought to a happy ending as Beverly is a most charming play and the role will be played of course by Alice Fleming, Baker Stock Company's most popular Leading woman. Marie Baker will be old Aunt Fanny whose many troubles in a foreign land create all sorts of amusement. Don't forget the popular Baker bargain nights every Monday. Beverly is a great matinee bill and there will be matinees today and Saturday as well as a special Fourth of July Thursday at regular matinee prices.

If it happened it is in the Enterprise.

Lessons In Germany's Rise For Impatient American Youth. By the Rev. Dr. NEWELL DWIGHT HILLIS of Brooklyn, N. Y.

THERE ARE POTENT LESSONS TO BE LEARNED BY THE YOUNG MEN OF THIS GREAT COUNTRY FROM THE RAPID RISE OF THE NEW GERMANY AMONG THE WORLD POWERS. This rise is not due, as many would have you believe, to the power or influence of the kaiser. It is due, indeed, in great part to the development of scientific industry. THE YOUTH OF AMERICA IS ANXIOUS TO SUCCEED, TO GET AHEAD, TO SHOW RETURNS FOR HIS ENTERPRISE AND HIS EFFORTS, BUT HE LACKS PATIENCE, HE WANTS TO SEE HIS INVESTMENTS TREBLE AND QUADRUPLE THEMSELVES AT ONCE. HE EXPECTS TOO RAPID RESULTS FROM HIS TIME AND LABOR. HE LACKS THE APPLICATION OF SCIENTIFIC INDUSTRY. The Germans have learned that the greatest good to the whole people and to the country at large comes only through putting into the common granary with the right hand for the COMMON BENEFIT more than they take out for their individual benefit with the left hand. Sound morals and the ability to WORK, WORK, WORK, doing all that can be done with science to aid, converting a barren sandy soil into rich producing areas, thinking seriously on the great problems of life, eschewing the frivolous teachings and literature and WORKING WITH THE PURPOSE IN VIEW OF BETTERING THE WHOLE PEOPLE, thus "new Germany" has been transformed. THE YOUTH OF THIS COUNTRY MAY WELL LOOK TO THE FUTURE FOR SUPREMACY, EVEN WITH THE VAST AND ALMOST UNLIMITED RESOURCES AT THEIR COMMAND, UNLESS THEY LEARN A LESSON SO PATIENTLY TAUGHT BY THIS RISING POWER.
