

WILSON GAINS SLOWLY; RECESS TILL MONDAY

material and relative element of the issue.

Knox, of Alabama, was on his chair shouting protests against the arbitrary continuance of Bryan's speech.

"Officers will seat that man" was shouted from the platform as Knox vehemently shook his fist and continued his protest, while pandemonium reigned on the floor and in the galleries.

Adding to the confusion the police ejected an introducer who was mistaken by the crowd for a delegate. Waves of alternate protest and approval fairly shook the building, while Bryan still stood amid the storm mounting for quiet that he might proceed.

"I expect to support the nominees of this convention," said Bryan. "I don't expect any man to be nominated here who would permit a partnership between Morgan, Ryan and Belmont and himself. But I am not called up to give a bond to meet an issue before the conditions surrounding it are definitely formed."

Bryan closed with the declaration that he would cast his vote for Governor Wilson, while his vote after cheer rolled from the galleries and floor, overwhelming the volley of protests heard here and there amid the confused uproar.

Bryan made his way back to the Nebraska delegation, having thus added another sensation to the convention's proceedings.

Senator Stone, of Missouri, took the platform to reply to Bryan, not in complaint or protest, he said, as every man had a right to speak his voice and take the responsibility.

"I demand the regular order—the roll-call," interjected Congressman Palmer of Pennsylvania.

The din soon drowned out Senator Stone's remaining sentences and the roll of the Nebraska vote on the fourteenth ballot—temporarily interrupted by Bryan's appearance—was resumed.

Bryan became involved again in a heated controversy, as a question was raised as to each Nebraska delegate choosing his own alternate. Amid the confusion, Bryan, on a chair, could be faintly heard declaring that if New York and Virginia maintained their sovereign rights concerning such delegates as suit them (referring to Belmont and Ryan), Nebraska maintained her right to select her delegates and alternates in her own way.

Wearied with their second struggle lasting practically all night, the leaders and main body of delegates were late in making their reappearance at the main centers of activity this morning and it was well toward noon before the work of consultation, conferences and caucuses was in full swing.

The "early birds," which included James, the convention chairman, were again sanguine that a decisive ballot would be reached today and that the convention would conclude its labors tonight. Already the exodus from Baltimore had begun, and placards at every hand announced special trains carrying away large parties which had come to see a candidate chosen.

It was the general feeling that if Clark wins he must win quickly.

A continued deadlock was the one thing that might destroy the commanding lead he had already established. The problem before the Clark forces was two-fold, first to hold their present strength intact against defections, and second, to add 17 1/2 votes to his 549 shown on the twelfth ballot, to give him the necessary two-thirds majority.

The first problem was not a menacing one, but it had its difficulties. The 90 New York and Virginia delegates to the tenth of the twelfth ballot were not regarded as dependable if the struggle was prolonged, as the New Yorkers still were feeling their way.

Mrs. H. Miller's two sisters, niece and brother-in-law from Albany were visiting her last week.

Mrs. M. M. Reid, daughter, Iva and Miss Eleanor Bens have gone to Brooks for a month or six weeks.
