PEACE OF MIND.

Peace is better than joy. Joy is an uneasy guest and is always on tiptoe to depart. It tries and wears us out and yet keeps us ever fearing that the next moment it will be gone. Peace is not so. It comes more quietly, it stays more contentedly, and it never exhausts our strength or gives one anxious thought.

and that he could not be nominated. On the 44th ballot Colorado gave Wilson ten votes as against one heretofore cast for him. Just as the shift came, Charles F. Murphy came down to the Missouri delegation and engaged in earnest conversation with Dave Francis and Francis was assuring the Tammany chieftain that he would be able to hold his forces intact from now on. Indiana came solidly into the Wilson camp on this ballot, giving a gain of two to Wilson. In Iowa Wilson gained three and a half votes. Pennsylvania recorded itself solid for Wilson on the 44th ballot the two that had been holding out swinging into line. Utah a moment later came in solid following Pennsylvania's example and gave its eight votes to Wilson. The example of solid states proved contagious as Wisconsin was next in line. As its chairman called its 26 votes solidly for Wilson the Jerseyites held another jubilation. When an attempt to vote proxies in the Washington delegation was made, Chairman James ruled that they could not be used. The Washington men pleaded with him to make an exception in this case. The state of Washington had not alternates, they said, "and we have universally recognized each other's state proxies from the beginning." James stuck to his ruling. "So long as the chair has no challenge made of proxies it cannot interfere," he said. A Washington delegate shouted at James: "I appeal from the decision of the chair. This is part of the fraud burst of cheers from every section of the hall. Every delegation, with the exception of Missouri, was on its feet, yelling and cheering. In the Nebraska delegation, Bryan sat with a broad smile on his face. Delegates surrounding him grasped his hand and patted him on the back. At last Governor Francis, Senator Stone and Governor Reed went back to the platform. Reed was recognized. "Without the slightest desire to indicate any feeling of resentment against this motion, we must object to its being carried under the rule that requires unanimous consent. We want a roll call, so that Missouri's vote can be recorded on this ballot for old Champ Clark." Delegate F. H. McCullough of Missouri demanded the right to make a statement. "As a delegate from Missouri," he said, "I want to say that no one deprecates the conditions that have arisen here more than I do. We are for Champ Clark, first, last and all the time. But before any man Missouri is for harmony and for victory, and should vote for Wilson here." As the forty-sixth roll call began it was plain from the outset that Wilson's nomination was a certainty. The Democratic platform reaffirms the "Rule of the People" and declares for Federal aid to flood districts, state's rights, Alaska development and evolution on broad but safe principles of Jefferson. It was Foss' desire, he said, that his name be withdrawn, and that Massachusetts vote solidly for Wilson. Congressman Fitzgerald of Brooklyn, Charles Murphy's adviser, was next recognized, and said: "The desire of every Democrat in this convention is to leave the hall united, harmonious, and with victory assured. Whatever personal differences we may have had over conditions every delegate should be willing to give up his personal feelings to the welfare of the party. "In the hope that we can demonstrate that no matter how hard we may strive for the mastery of our honest opinions, we should be willing to do anything for the benefit of our party. "In the interest of harmony, in the interest of a united party, and in the hope of victory next fall, I move that the roll call be made suspended and that we nominate by acclamation that distinguished representative of Democracy of New Jersey—Governor Woodrow Wilson." The match was in and the powder was set off. There was a wild out-which has been practiced in this convention." Ollie James became white with anger: "If the gentleman has any opinion that any of the directors of this convention has practiced fraud he has a remedy and I hereby invite him to appeal from the decision of the chair," shouted James. The roll call of the delegation then proceeded. The vote resulted: Clark 83, Wilson 33, 2 absent. Under the rule James directed that the vote be cast for Clark. With only 97 1/2 votes needed to nominate after the 44th ballot was taken the Wilson managers began a concerted search for the needed tallies. On the 45th ballot New Mexico demanded a roll call. While it was being taken the Wilson managers announced that Mississippi, which had been passed for a caucus, had decided to come over Wilson on this ballot, this adding to his total 20. The right of J. D. Hand, one of the alternates in the New Mexico delegation to vote, was opposed by the Wilson men on the delegation, but James said he was regularly elected and entitled to vote. Chairman James ruled that the New Mexico poll showed Clark 4, Wilson 4 and that under the state convention's instructions the vote must be cast for Clark. Mayor Fitzgerald, of Boston, was next recognized. He said that Massachusetts had voted its debt for its governor, Foss, believing he was the right man. It was Foss' desire, he said, that his name be withdrawn, and that Massachusetts vote solidly for Wilson. Congressman Fitzgerald of Brooklyn, Charles Murphy's adviser, was next recognized, and said: "The desire of every Democrat in this convention is to leave the hall united, harmonious, and with victory assured.
