BLACK AND WHITE CREATION

A charming effect both in color and line has been achieved in this picturesque hat of black chip. It has a low flat crown and wide brim with a fascinating tilt just at the spot to make it most becoming. Around the crown and near the outer edge of the brim is a wreath of white marguerites dotted with an occasional one which shades to the yellow. A box pleated ruche of frayed black taffeta also encircles the crown and continuing has been wired to form an aigrette to the left of the front.

duct daily Bible Classes and Professor Lee Emerson Bassett, who will conduct the Shakespeare department outlined their work, and Miss Gage whetted up the appetites of the patrons by telling of the good things in store for those interested in domestic science.

The platform manager, S. Platt Jones, though exhausted from a fifteen-hour ride from Eastern Oregon, stepped onto the main auditorium at the conclusion of Rev. Spurgeon's address and made a most favorable impression with the audience. Mr. Jones has a most striking personality and is an entertainer of large ability. He has just completed a most successful session as manager of the platform at La Grande.

The tent city jumped in numbers from two hundred to almost three hundred and fifty during the day and camping outfits are still pouring into the park. It is expected that fully two thousand will be in the auditorium for the two features today. McCormick and "Bronte" and Judge Sadler for the evening.

Miss Leah Slusser was the soloist for Professor Chapman's orchestra concert at 1:15 in the afternoon, and hearty encores greeted her appearance. Professor Chapman's orchestra is one of this year's features and is on the program for two concerts daily.

COURSE IN NATURE STUDY SUGGESTED

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, July 9.—(Special).—A nature study course for town and country schools that will work, was suggested in the opening of a course of lectures by Professor Frederick Smith of Chicago Teachers' college, speaking at the University of Oregon. "Nature study," he said, "must begin somewhere and get somewhere and be something. It must contribute to the spiritual well being of the community and aid in the development of character."

"The principle things, however, that should be demanded of a nature study course in the schools, is in providing an experience for children that will enable them to understand the things they learn in books. A young woman in a Chicago high school told me she had always pictured radishes as growing in bunches—five cents worth in a place."

"At another time I asked a class in the teachers' college to give the common name of two insects that were injurious to the flowers, trees or shrubs of Chicago, and one student wrote, 'Cooms and possums are insects that injure the trees. The only way to get rid of them is to shoot them.'"

"Another demand that must be made of a nature study course is that it aid in the movement for civic betterment, that it encourage the planning of public parks and other places of recreation for the children; that it work for the beautification of back yards."

LOWLY BEAVERS LOSE EXCITING CONTEST

PORTLAND, July 9, (Special).—Portland lost a pitcher's battle today, 1 to 0. Miller allowed only 2 hits. Seven bingles were made off Klawitter's delivery. It was an exciting game and if San Francisco had not scored in the first it would have gone into extra innings.

The results Tuesday follow:

At Portland—San Francisco 1, Portland 0.

At San Francisco—Oakland 4, Sacramento 2.

At Los Angeles—Los Angeles 4, Vernon 0.

OREGON CITY MEN HONOR DEAD LAWYER

Rev. S. P. Davis, of this city, officiated Tuesday afternoon at the funeral of W. Carey Johnson, one of the most prominent lawyers of Oregon, at the White Temple in Portland. Mr. Johnson practiced law in Oregon City for many years, after which he moved to Portland. Among the active pallbearers were Mayor Dimick, Hon. H. E. Cross, John W. Loder and D. C. Latourette, of this city. The honorary pallbearers were W. D. Fenton, L. R. Webster, Henry E. McGinn, C. A. Dolph, C. R. Ideman and C. W. Fulton.

He Might Know One.

A man, apparently from the country, stepped up to the ticket seller in the Forty-second street subway station, according to the New York Telegraph, and asked:

"Been in town long?"

"Quite awhile," replied the ticket seller.

"Know a man named O'Connell?"

"No."

"Sure you don't know O'Connell?"

"Say," said the ticket seller impatiently, "there are 5,000,000 people in New York. Do you expect me to know every man in the city?"

"No," replied the other, "but I thought you might have sense enough to know one."

A Strange Recipe For Acting.

Perhaps the most striking instance of voluntary hallucination is that recorded by an intimate friend of the actor Talma. Langlois states that when ever he entered on the stage he was accustomed by force of will to make his brilliant audience disappear and to substitute for them a house full of skeletons. The emotion which these ghastly creatures of his own imagination excited served, he declared, to give additional force to his own impersonations.

The Most Accurate Frontier.

As an instance of the jealousy existing in the relations between Norway and Sweden it may be noted that the boundary line between the two countries is the most minutely exact in Europe. In every parish touched by the line there is deposited an elaborate plan which is renewed every ten years, the whole of the work of surveying, etc., being carefully repeated each time.

M'MINNVILLE HAS BIG 1911 HOP SALE

The sale of more 1911 hops is reported from the McMinnville district, namely the Dave Stout crop of 120 bales, which reduces unsold 1911 hops to exactly 298 bales. The Stout crop was purchased by Hal V. Bolam and at a price reported to be in around 28c. The demand for the remainder of last year's crop is keen but holders are firm and refuse to sell at prices around 26 and 28c, which is the lowest that has been paid during the recent buying.

In the contract market there is a good demand at 20-21c with few sellers. As the weather east is unusually warm, it follows that brewers' trade is better and so they are more inclined to consider buying some hop supplies. While the majority of buyers would much prefer to spend the week witnessing the program of the Elks' convention, yet they are unable to do so on account of orders to be attended to as it is now getting into the most important part of the 1912 crop the world over and so every phase of the situation demands close attention. Cables from England report weather more favorable, vermin decreasing. Telegrams from New York report weather extremely hot and dry. Crop conditions in Oregon are better as weather has cleared off and growers are busy spraying.
