They are members of the order of Elks at Heppner, and took part in the parade Thursday.

Woman's World

Tablets of Mark Twain Made by Miss Church.

MISS ANGELINA SCHUYLER CHURCH.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Mahan of Hannibal, Mo., recently presented to their home city the house built in 1844 by Mark Twain's father, in which the famous author first saw the light of day.

Miss Angelina Schuyler Church of New York city is the talented young artist who was commissioned to make the bronze tablets which have been placed on the outside of the house in commemoration of the occasion. People who are interested in the education that does not forget character building are enthusiastic over the legend that the inscription tablet presents. It reads: "Mark Twain's life teaches that poverty is an incentive rather than a bar and that any boy, however humble his birth and surroundings, may by honesty and industry accomplish great things."

Pedagogues who have seen the tablets are suggesting that they deserve a place in the public schools of the nation, not only because of their artistry, but because of the lesson conveyed, the comfort and stimulus in the suggestion, which could hardly fail to be advantageous, linked with the fascination that Mark Twain exerts over vast numbers of young people.

Miss Church's portrait of the author in the tablet has been called the best yet made. Concerning it the Rev. Joseph H. Twitshell of Hartford, a lifelong friend of Twain, says: "I could not have supposed there could have been made so living a likeness of the man in that form. Really it brings my dear old friend to life again as no picture of him does."

Miss Church until recently has confined her art work to depicting animal life, and her study of "The Runaway—An Episode of Central Park, New York City," has won particular favor from critics.

The artistic education of Miss Church has been radically different from the conventional methods that crystallize the ideals of the schools. The only use she has made of teachers has been for the purpose of acquiring technique.

The New York School of Applied Design, Mucha of Paris, an authority on composition, and Beard, the animal painter, have been her instructors. Technique having been acquired, Miss Church turned to the teachers to whom she professes her greatest debt—horses and dogs. These she studied from life until she knew their every bone and muscle and their co-ordination.

Miss Church was recently invited by Uruguay to enter a competition for an equestrian statue of a South American hero especially dear to that nation.

Has Nursed For Forty-five Years. In connection with the death of Lord Lister it is interesting to know that the nurse who assisted the famous surgeon with his first antiseptic preparations is still in the Glasgow Royal infirmary. Nurse Bell has many interesting stories of the old days when Professor Lister was in the infirmary and the crowd of students and dressers, many of them now chiefs, who attended the classes from 1861 to 1869.

Nurse Bell has been in the Royal infirmary for forty-five years. She is now sixty-nine years of age, and she enjoys good health, though not able to do much. When Lord Lister was presented with the freedom of the city of Glasgow four years ago it was his special desire that Nurse Bell should be present at the function in St. Andrew's hall. When the memorial service was held in the university chapel she had a special invitation to be present.

Of Course He Didn't. Husband—What a peculiar dish. Wife—I did the cooking myself, and in turning the leaves of the cookbook I turned two at a time, and I cooked the herrings in apple jelly, but you don't mind, do you?—Satire.

MEASURE OF SUCCESS. It is one of the appointed conditions of the labor of men that in proportion to the time between the seed sowing and the harvest is the fullness of the fruit and that generally, therefore, the farther off we place our aim and the less we desire to be ourselves the witnesses of what we have labored for the more wide and rich will be the measure of our success.—John Ruskin.

The Old London Watch. London's police force owes its origin to the London watch, instituted in the year 1253.

TEXAS CATTLE-IS SHIPPED TO PORTLAND

PORTLAND, July 13.—Two cars of cattle arrived in the yards in North Portland this morning from Sweetwater, Texas, shipped by A. B. Vreenmaier. They are feeders. The run was light, however, the other shippers for the day being C. E. Luckey, Condon, one car hogs and sheep, and W. E. Eddon, Carabana, Or., two cars cattle. The markets were reported steady but sales was confined to a few bunches of cows. Some weakness has been shown in the lamb and sheep markets during the week and some predict a slump in the near future, but there is nothing to indicate this with much of a certainty. The demand for feeder steers is good. South Omaha reported hogs lower this morning.

Prevailing Oregon City prices are as follows:

Some Brief Epitaphs.

The following are among the brief and curious epitaphs seen in European cemeteries: At Worcester, England, the slab erected over a departed auctioneer is inscribed with a single word, "Gone." In Sussex the initials and date of the death of the deceased are followed by two words, "He was." On the monument of Charles the Great of Germany the brief inscription is "Carlo Magno." The most remarkable is at Cane Hill cemetery, Belfast, where the inscription says, "Left till called for."

Lucky Man. He (a former suitor)—So you are married after all. You told me once that you never intended to belong to any man. She—Well, that remark still holds good. "But your husband?" "Oh, he belongs to me."

Happy Suggestion. "Ma, do folks live happy ever after when they get married?" "They ought to, my child." "Ma, why don't you and pa get married?" "Why, we are, of course!" "Maybe it didn't take."
