

MIDSUMMER HATS.

The Umbrella Shaped Hat is Very New.

REASONABLE HEADWEAR.

A striking model—known as the umbrella hat—has just arrived from Paris for midseason wear. The underbrim trimming is new and chic. The other hat pictured is of ivory pedal straw trimmed with two shades of pink, paradise mount and pink ribbon embroidered in blue and silver.

THE BEST WAY

In Which a Few Helpful Things May Be Done.

To get the best results in canning fruit use good, ripe fruit. It is a mistake to think by waiting till fruit is poor and cheap one can get from it just as good results in canning.

To clean an enameled bathtub wipe it dry and then rub it with a cloth dipped in turpentine and salt. Afterward wash it with clean warm water, then wipe it dry, and it will look like a new tub.

To turn a cake easily out of a tin set the tin on a wet cloth for a few seconds immediately after removing it from the oven and then turn it out.

To remove ink from carpets without injuring the carpet make a paste of butter milk and starch and cover the ink with it.

For Early Fall.

That the tight skirt will hold over until the early fall days is evidenced in the model for autumn which has recently been sent over from Paris. The material is sponge or sponge cloth in a lovely shade of russet brown. The buttons are of dull metal in ball shape.

Demijohn Lamps.

A couple of old wicker covered demijohns are doing duty this summer in a neat seashore bungalow as the bases of lamps. One of them received only a thorough cleaning before being pressed into service; the other was treated to a coat of brown enamel paint. On the light one has been fitted a spreading wicker shade and on the brown one a Japanese openwork shade lined with yellow flowered chintz. The latter stands in the family sitting room, which is done in brown and buff, and the former illumines the veranda from a wicker table at the window, to which the electric light cord can be extended. Both demijohns, of course, are weighted so that they cannot topple over easily.

Lace Hand Bags.

Hand bags made of lace are a pretty summer possession that will take the fancy of the lover of dainty dress accessories. They are swung from the lingerie frock, which is receiving a crescendo of patronage this summer. Irish and venise, both real and imitation, compose them, as well as black and white chantilly and filet combined with embroidery.

Why She Was Scandalized.

The young lady, visiting her aunt in the country, came in late one afternoon. "Where in the world have you been?" asked her aunt. "In the hammock all afternoon," she responded, "with my beloved Robert Browning." The aunt eyed her sternly. Then she said, "If I hear of any more such scandalous proceedings I shall certainly write to your mother."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Losing Ball Club in New York Blow to American League.

OTHER TEAMS SHOULD HELP.

Pennant Winner in Gotham Would Mean Big Revenues For Other Managers—Hans Wagner Making Good as Captain—Other Notes.

By TOMMY CLARK.

To have a losing ball team in New York is proving a serious loss to the American league. The largest city in the circuit should under ordinary conditions produce the greatest revenues, but New York has never and will never support a loser.

Had the owner of the New York club been an experienced baseball man he would probably have had a pennant winner by this time. He made his mistake when he let out Clark Griffith four years ago simply because his team had a bad slump. That team properly bolstered up would have delivered sooner or later, but it was inexperience which blamed the manager for a condition for which he was not responsible.

Conditions are such now in New York that the American league ought to get together and place a stronger team in Gotham. The aggregation which represents it at the present time is hardly strong enough to hold its own in a class C league and is a disgrace to major league baseball.

Not a little of the credit of the present good showing of the Pittsburgh Pirates is being given to Hans Wagner, who as captain has shown rare judgment in handling the team on the field. Since the Pirates have been winning there is less of a demand for Manager Fred Clarke to re-enter the game, and it is dawning on the fans that with Wagner at the helm the club is well directed.

Most of the Pittsburgh fans have their eyes on first base. Right there they will win or lose the pennant, as they see the race. They are satisfied with the way "Dots" Miller is playing it now, but at the first of the season he came in for some hard knocks. He has been fielding well, but seems to be a bit slow on the throw. "Dots" is batting about .315.

Miller is more than a first baseman. He is the club poet—this, too, in a club that boasts a wearer of the cloth in Carey and a don of the sock and buskin in Donlin. Miller dedicated this little tribute to Fred C. Clarke. It looks better in prose, although it does rhyme: "Of all the men who'er played ball, the great men, tall men, big or small, there's one who's always toed the mark, and this man's name is Fred C. Clarke." Second stanza: "He tells us now he's quit the game, and the Pittsburgh team is not the same, but just as sure as my name's Jack I know some day he will come back." Mike Donlin, the club dilettante, said in criticism that Miller played first base well.

Ad Wolgast, the lightweight champion, has yet to show that he can come back. His recent victory over Joe Rivers, the Mexican, in Los Angeles was not as clean cut as a champion should win when in his prime. Wolgast's illness undoubtedly took from him much of his stamina, though the fact must not be overlooked that in Rivers Wolgast met one of the toughest little fellows in his class.

Baseball League in Shanghai.

Shanghai, China, has a six club baseball league.

Fate and the Names of Ships.

If present day sailors were superstitious they would doubtless hesitate to ship on a vessel whose name ends in "ie." Steamships with this termination to their names that have been wrecked include the Arctic, lost in 1854; the Pacific, in 1856; the Atlantic, in 1873; the Naronic, in 1893; the Republic, in 1909, and the Titanic. On the other hand, good luck seems to follow vessels whose names end in "ia," for it is said that one company with a fleet of "ia" ships has never lost one of them.—Exchange.

JAPAN'S NEW RULER BEGS AID OF SUBJECTS

TOKIO, July 31.—Yoshihito, the Emperor of the new era of Taisel, read his first proclamation this morning before an immense gathering of officials and representatives of all branches of the service. The emperor said:

"The death of the former Emperor has caused great sorrow to the nation but the throne cannot be left empty and the state administration cannot be neglected even for a day. We therefore immediately ascended the throne of the country under the protection of our imperial ancestors and under the provisions of the constitution. "In this administration we hope not to be misled. We shall endeavor to sustain and further the great work done and undertaken by the former Emperor.

"You, our subjects, do your best for your country, as you did for the former Emperor and be loyal to us." The proclamation of the new Emperor says a lengthy tribute to Matsuhito, the dead ruler.

Marquis Saionji, the Japanese Premier, replied to the Emperor's proclamation, beginning his speech with the words:

"I most respectfully reply to your imperial majesty. "After a laudatory tribute to the late Emperor, Premier Saionji pledged his unremitting loyalty to the new sovereign.

SEVEN STRIKERS SHOT IN BIG LONDON RIOT

LONDON, July 31.—Seven strikers were shot, one of them dying later in a hospital, and 20 others seriously wounded today by sticks or stones, as the result of rioting at Victoria and other docks in London.

The chief encounter occurred at the Victoria docks, where 2000 of the laborers who had been on strike for more than 20 weeks, appeared at the docks in compliance with the manifesto of the Dockers' Federation ordering them to resume work. They found their former places occupied by non-unionists, taken on during the strike, who defied the union men to eject them. A severe fight ensued. Bullets, bricks and stones flew in all directions.

The police, of whom only about a dozen were present, were taken by surprise and were powerless to suppress the disturbance.

Another hot fight centered around the steamship City of Columbia, which was being loaded at one of the wharves. Unionist workers tried to board her but were repelled by the non-unionists with revolvers, bottles and boiling pins. Many of the men were injured here, some of them with bullets.

Large reserves of police were called and finally succeeded in quelling the disturbance.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

A CREED FOR THE DISMAYED.

I believe, therefore I affirm— When God made me he made me to be true and useful and happy.

If I am to be true— I must regard the ills that befall only as a discipline to my spiritual self. I must believe the perils through which I pass will "work out a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory."

If I am to be useful— Each test must be the touchstone to character and ennoble my soul. Suffering must make me worthy and experience make me wise.

If I am to be happy— I must not waste my days with repinings nor my strength in useless regrets. With a calm mind and an unperturbed spirit of optimism I must go forward.

I believe, therefore I affirm— If God made of me a quickened spirit he must have made that spirit to be, under him, the master of my destiny.

Therefore my soul shall not be crushed by failure nor ruined by disaster. Circumstance shall not be my lord.

I believe, therefore I affirm— That out of sore defeat I may be able to win a victory. I may rise on stepping stones of my dead self to higher things. Because—

God gives us no yesterdays. God always gives the best; therefore he gives today—and tomorrow.

Today, therefore, I shall face a new world of opportunity with hope and courage.

Today, though clouds may lower, I shall be sure that in his wondrous place the sun will be rejoicing to run his race.

Today I will do the best that is in me and be therewith content.

Today I will not dissipate my soul with fears.

Today I will not boast of yesterday nor regret it.

Today I will not be sure, but hopeful, of tomorrow.

And today and tomorrow—and tomorrow—I will go my way and be a man.

Because— I am an immortal soul and there is nothing in all God's created universe that can hurt me.

The Difficulty.

She—I am sure there are many girls who could make you happier than I could.

ANOTHER U. S. JUDGE MAY BE IMPEACHED

MACON, Ga., July 31.—Probability of a third United States judge facing impeachment charges on grounds alleged to be not unlike those in the cases of Cornelius H. Hanford and Robert W. Archbald, became known here today when it was intimated that Emory Speer, United States judge for the southern district of Georgia, probably would be compelled to defend his action in declaring former Mayor Huff of Macon, in contempt for writing a letter assailing Speer's record on the bench. Friends of Huff stated today that the latter intends to present charges of such a nature against Speer as would warrant congress ordering an investigation.

When Huff's letter reached Judge Speer he cancelled arrangements for a trip to Nova Scotia and ordered Huff arrested. The Huff estate here has been in court for 13 years on bankruptcy proceedings. In his letter Huff said that as Speer had been inactive for 13 years he proposed to get justice.

"You have improperly juggled this case for the financial benefit of yourself, your relatives, special lawyers and others," Huff wrote to Judge Speer.

Huff alleged that $94,000 tied up in the proceedings had been left in the bank for years without interest and that Speer's relative is vice-president of the institution.

In his letter Huff referred to Speer as a "petticoat pensioner and a venal and corrupt judge." In another paragraph the jurist is referred to as a "splenetic and spectacular, as well as a crooked, cruel and churlish judge."

Several automobiles have been speeding through Elwood of late.

A nine and one-half pound boy has taken up its abode with Mr. and Mrs. Dan Stahlnecker. All doing well.
