THE STEAMSHIP SCARCITY—EXPORTS IN DANGER

After building up a business with the Orient for the products of Oregon farms and providing freight for a number of tramp steamers, and other vessels out of Portland, finally resulting in what was thought to be a permanent line of steamers for the large business offering, Portland wakes up at the beginning of a new grain season with a large and bountiful crop, but no one to accept the business of handling Portland to consumer. No legitimate reason has been offered for the withdrawal of the vessels; business was first class and the existing rates sufficient; considerable money was made but inducements were offered by other Northwest cities and without warning the farmers of Oregon were left without an outlet for the reward of their year's labor.

Portland must take care of its laurels; she must take care of Oregon's one greatest industry—farming—the one we must all fall back upon sooner or later.

MIDDLEMEN AND CITY MARKETS

Closing old and long established public markets in cities is not a thing easy to understand just now. None the less, while the demand is for the wiping out of the middleman, what we seem to be wiping out instead are the places where the producer and consumer can come face to face. The historical Fulton market of New York is soon to go if it is not already gone. The necessary action toward ending it has already been taken. It fol-

Foreign Population a Big Aid In America's Success

By Professor HENRI BERGSON, Famous French Philosopher I HAVE been much struck by the fact that, though different races have come to America, there is an original type here; though so many elements go to shape the population of your great centers, there is a DISTINCT AMERICAN TYPE. Since there is no tendency on the part of the immigrants to remain separate I feel that MUCH GOOD WILL COME FROM THIS MIXTURE OF THE RACES. You have more reading of newspapers, current literature, and you have more schools. TO MY MIND THE RICHER A TEMPERAMENT THE BETTER. THE MORE ELEMENTS CONSTITUTE THE POPULATION OF AMERICA THE MORE PRIVILEGED AMERICA WILL BE, THE RICHER AND THE STRONGER. I am greatly struck by the generosity and hospitality of the American people, who are receiving the immigrants generously. It is certainly a great moral lesson to Europe.

OREGON HOP CROP TO BE NEAR RECORD

The Oregon hop crop now is counted practically safe, and that it will be one of the biggest and best ever harvested in the state is all but a certainty. At a number of Valley points the growers are again spraying their vines to some extent, but this treatment, it is said, is rather a preventive than a remedial measure. Pests have not yet appeared in a way of seriously menacing the crop, and the aim of the growers is to make sure that their vines are kept in their present healthy condition. Dealers have for two weeks been paying more attention to the progress of the coming crop than to the market, for orders have not been coming in a way to permit of much business, and during the lull in trade many of them have been traveling about the Valley, inspecting the fields and endeavoring to get a fairly accurate line on the 1912 output. As a result the estimates put out some time ago of a yield running from 100,000 to 110,000 bales have not been materially altered.

Reports brought in by these traders indicate that in the Valley generally hop crop conditions at this time are the best seen in years, and while for the time as much cannot be said for the market prospect, the outlook on the latter score is still far from unfavorable. The high prices of last year are of course not to be expected, but at the figures that are now offering, the crop promises to be a much more profitable one for the producers than those of a few years back, when prices ranged around the cost of production. In a general way 18 cents now is counted about the limit on 1912 contracts, though a little business is said to have been put through at 17 cents within the past few days. For the present at going quotations there is no very great demand, and sellers appear to be about as much inclined to hold off as buyers. Both sides seem to be waiting for a clearer market outlook for the coming crop, which is expected to develop within the next week or two.

At the Top of the Woolworth Building, Tallest in the World

Photo copyright, 1912, by American Press Association

THE last piece of steel was recently riveted in place on the Woolworth building, in City Hall square, New York city, the tallest habitable building in the world. The photograph here reproduced shows the workmen at the top of the structure celebrating the event. It also shows a number of downtown New York office buildings, dwarfed by the gigantic proportions of the Woolworth. This building is fifty-five stories in height, and its tower light, 100 feet in the air, will be visible ninety-six miles at sea. Its total cost will be about $13,000,000. This includes the cost of the land on which it stands—$1,500,000. The floor space will be about twenty-three acres, with room for 2,000 offices, which will accommodate about 10,000 people. The rent roll is expected to be somewhere in the neighborhood of $2,500,000 a year. Cass Gilbert is the architect. The new building will be fifty feet higher than the Metropolitan tower, 138 feet higher than the Singer building and 245 feet higher than the Washington monument. The Eiffel tower, in Paris, is 985 feet high, but that is not a building.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE

SMALL HINGES. A little runt of a boy came shyly forward to meet Mrs. Jones, who, tired with her shopping, sat down on a stool in the towel department of the big store. Mrs. Jones owned a large hotel and was buying supplies. It was the boy's first day at the counter. He had just been promoted from the stock room, where he had made good. "What is this bot of toweling worth—hotel rates?" The stripling's eyes bulged. "I'll have to ask the head of the department. This is my first day selling goods. Please excuse me, madam, for just a moment." Rushing to his senior, he eagerly made the inquiry. "Are you sure she wants a whole head?" said the department head. "I'll have it there in a moment and wait on her myself." The boy's face fell. And— "What was it? Something in the drooping face of the young salesman? Anyway, when the head clerk came forward, briskly rubbing his hands, Mrs. Jones said: "Excuse me, this boy is waiting on me. If you will give him the prices we shall get along very well." "They did get along. And when the woman's bill was footed up it came to $90. Ninety dollars! Wouldn't they stare when he turned in his little sales book on his first day's showing?" And this is the sequel: Mrs. Jones became a regular customer of the boy, who was always attentive and obliging, and brought her friends to the counter. Very soon the boy got a raise in salary and is now the head of the department. And he will go higher. It was a little thing for a tired woman to do, but— It was a big thing for the boy and gave him his first chance as a salesman. The fact is— Little things are the hinges on which big things turn. Why not emulate the woman's thoughtfulness? You and I probably never will do any big things in our lives, but we can do little things in a big way. Can we not? A thoughtful hint, a kind word, a little boost—these are worth more than reams of paper read at the woman's club or banquet speeches on the "uplift."

MEN 'HIGHER UP' ARE SOUGHT IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Blackmail extorted from gambling and disorderly houses in New York city is said to find its way into the pockets of three men "higher up," who are the real heads of the graft syndicate that provides police protection for a price to the underworld. Information has been given District Attorney Whitman by private detectives working on the Rosenthal case that these men "higher up" are a lawyer, a hotel proprietor who claims strong political affiliations, and a police official. Two Police Inspectors are said to be implicated. District Attorney Whitman now is convinced that "Bald Jack" Rose told the truth when he said at least $2,400,000 was collected from gambling houses in one section of New York city alone. It appears that for more than a year a system has been in operation by which all gambling and disorderly houses have been bled. The investigation already has shown there always has been police blackmail through intimidation by which police officials fattened their bank accounts; but when it was recently "organized" better results were shown. Private detectives reported that under the present system the gratifiers were protected from the complaints of the victims, it being one of the boasts that one of the men "higher up" was influenced enough to prevent trouble. District Attorney Whitman is said to have been furnished with a list of names of prominent persons who played in gambling-houses. It is said these persons may be subpoenaed to give information. "Bald Jack" Rose, "Bridgie" Webber and Harry Wallon are to be taken before the grand jury and if the work of that body can be completed, a blanket indictment charging seven men with the murder of Herman Rosenthal will be found. Bernard H. Sandler, counsel for Sam Schepps, alleged "paymaster" of the gunmen who killed Rosenthal, complicated the situation today by hurriedly departing for Hot Springs and warning Schepps not to start for New York until his arrival. Schepps had said he would waive extradition and come home at once with Assistant District Attorney Rubin and a detective. Before leaving for the Southwest Sandler sent Schepps this telegram: "Don't talk to Rubin or any other person and don't leave for New York until I arrive." Sandler offered no explanation of why he had taken this action.

POST AT VANCOUVER WILL COST MILLIONS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Tentative plans for making Vancouver Baracks a brigade post, with detailed estimates of the necessary additional cost, have been submitted to Congressman Hawley by General Leonard Wood, chief-of-staff, in response to Hawley's request in transmitting resolutions of the Portland Chamber of Commerce. According to Wood, plans now under consideration contemplate the establishment of two or three tactical groups along the Pacific Coast, one of which is sure to be at Vancouver. Detailed estimates of the necessary expense of making Vancouver a brigade post aggregate $1,160,000 for infantry and $1,518,000 for cavalry. Since troops must come from other posts it is proposed to abandon, no additional maintenance charge would result, while, according to Wood, the additional cost of necessary new buildings at Vancouver would be more than saved by the abandonment of isolated posts throughout the West.

When Women Smoked Hard.

One of the compilers of the "Statistical Account of Scotland," published in 1791, remarks that "the chief luxuries in the rural districts are snuff, tobacco and whisky." Tea and sugar are little used, but the use of whisky has become very great. The use of tobacco may almost be said to be excessive, especially among the female sex. There is scarce a young woman by the time she has been taught to spin but has also learned to smoke. Smoking seems to have been introduced as an antidote to rheumatism and ague. The favorable alteration with respect to these diseases has produced only a greater avidity for tobacco."—London Chronicle.

PERSEVERANCE.

Perseverance is the key to success. Robertson Nicol's four qualifications for success in life are a definite object in view, a determination not to be defeated, the capacity for exercising continual self denial and a certain belief in one's own powers. George William Curtis expressed an evident truth when he said, "An engine of one cat power running all the time is more effective than one of forty horse power standing still."

Let's Get Ready For the Fair

We are going, are you? We can't all go to the beach or the mountains, and besides we are interested in stock and agriculture and I am going to see what kind of swine will do the best on a given ration or what kind of a potato is the best suited to my soil, and which is the most productive and how does the market like this or that kind. But Boss says, "I am going to keep my eye on that pure breed of chickens, and I am going to try and raise some as good or better ones than what George raised and took to the Fair and got a blue ribbon on." Josiah said, "Children we will go and see how the professor can make that there cow give 48 pounds of milk a day with 6 percent butter fat. I am going to see how he does it, and then we will have a ride on the merry-go-round, and then buy a balloon or airship and go home." Then Samantha will say, "Josiah why do you want to go home so early, we want to get some of those baked potatoes and barbecue meat. My, I've been hungry ever since I heard about it. And you know dear, Mr. Schnoerr is a good hand at fixin' them kind of potatoes roast and baked, well I know that I will get enough for once. Will you stay?" "Yes, I will stay, and after dinner we will watch the races and base ball and I heard them say there would be about 400 automobiles in the parade. Then we can see what kind looks best to us, because you know Joe is getting old and Frank is getting older. Well I believe we will go, and go again the next day, because you know I really forgot to look at those big vegetables last year, and see what kind they were. And did you notice the apples and pears; you see we must put out some young trees, do you remember what kinds are the best? If you don't we will take a pencil and book and mark down the kinds that look best and taste that way. Yes we will have our vacation and go to the fair. Then why not take the tent and camp in that beautiful shady grove, where we can enjoy ourselves and at the same time learn a lesson that will help us the whole year and make money for us. For in this way, views and ideas are exchanged, and methods improved and we feel as though the world is ours once more."

The Plant In His Garden.

"Is that plant I see in your garden a perennial or an annual?" "Neither. It's a failure."—Exchange.
