THE SAFEST MAN IN SIGHT

That Illinoisan, revealed in a Lincoln story as a member of the Legislature of that state who was in favor of a pending bill but opposed to its enforcement as a law, may not have been so apocryphal after all. Mr. Lincoln presented him to us as a Democrat, and the Democrats, in making their platform at Baltimore, gave a number of evidences that he was serving in their Platform Committee, or that other men of the old Democratic party were perpetuating his methods there.

The most striking evidence of this can be found in that part of the Baltimore deliverance dealing with the conservation of national resources. The Democrats at Baltimore were in favor of the principle of conservation, of course for conservation is a very popular thing. They are, as they express themselves, in favor of the principle but opposed to the practice of conservation. They favor withholding forest and mineral lands from settlement, but they condemn the Taft administration for making such withholdings. They demand reductions in the size of reservations, and they insist that land on which there is no tree growth shall not be reserved at all. Mineral land entries would doubtless have a great boom under a Democratic administration elected on such a platform.

It is a high sign of Mr. Taft's honesty and sincerity, as well as level-headedness, that he is this year condemned by extremists of all sorts and the instruments they can control in politics and public affairs. Before the Chicago convention met, Mr. Roosevelt robbed him of thousands of votes in the Republican primaries by charging that he had used the influence of his office against the unseating of Lorimer. Since the Chicago convention the Senate at Washington has taken action criticising him for having too far exerted the pressure of the executive office against Lorimer. The obvious inference is that the president must have held, in that case, a fair and just course of action. The Roosevelt, Pinchots and Garfields have charged him with favoring land and mineral rights in releasing lands which should have been reserved. But the land and mineral rights of half a dozen Western States, speaking at last through the Baltimore platform, have denounced him for reserving too much of the public domain which he should release into their hands for speculative use. The obvious inference here is that he has done, and is doing, the right thing. By November it is likely that the common sense of the country will have found itself so far as to see and say that, for the presidency, Mr. Taft is the safest man in sight.

Suggestive Questions in Sunday School Lessons

The old-fashioned preacher was a great exhorter, for no matter what the subject of his sermon, he always wound up with a fervid exhortation for instant compliance on the part of his hearers. The present writer wishes he had the power to effectually exhort all the readers of the Enterprise to join the International Bible Question Club. No matter whether you are old or young, Protestant or Catholic, or an outsider, it will be an infinite benefit to you to read and ponder the Suggestive Questions on the Sunday School Lesson, now running in this paper, reading them in connection with the International Sunday School Lesson. These questions grip everybody; they are as varied as human experience, and while they teach nothing direct, they draw

S. P. TO BUILD LINE IN M'KENZIE VALLEY

EUGENE, Or., Aug. 17.—That the Southern Pacific Company has determined to build an electric line from Eugene up the McKenzie valley in the near future is evidenced by the fact that a party of 11 civil engineers, who arrived here from Portland last night left early this morning for LaSburg, 20 miles east of Eugene, where they have established camp and will begin the preliminary work of making a preliminary survey for the railroad. The surveyors make no secret of their identity, registering "S. P. Co." after their names at the hotel and telling the hotel people that they were on their way up the McKenzie. At Springfield, where they purchased supplies to last them a week and opened an account at the grocery store, they told where they were to make their camp. The trip of these engineers up the valley follows closely a recent trip of Robert E. Strahorn, president of the P. E. & E., who went from Eugene as far as the upper McKenzie's summer resorts, ostensibly on a fishing trip, but it is known that he stopped at many different places to examine the country and probable bridge sites, taking several days to make the trip each way. Upon his return he waxed enthusiastic over the richness of the country and said he believed that a railway up that valley would pay well.

A writer on flamingoes, which he has studied in their haunts in the Bahamas, says of them: "They are probably as near to the geese as to any other order of birds, having a similar structure of bill and feet and somewhat similar feather character. They are unique, however, in their curiously bent bill, which, though goose-like in general economy, is constructed in every detail upside down, as the bird in feeding reaches down to the bottom and places the top of the bill down. The tongue is also constructed in the same inverted way. The webbed feet are for sustaining the birds in the soft ooze they love to feed in, acting like snowshoes."

She Could. The Stout Lady—All this talk of the civility of man toward woman is rubbish. This morning in the tube three men offered me their seats. He Slim Niere—Did you take them, am I—London Opinion. If you saw it in the Enterprise it's so.

Poor Old "Bill"

Have you heard the story of poor old Bill? Perhaps that wasn't his name; it may have been Ebenezer, but I reckon it's all the same. 'Twas one of those painful accidents that happen on Molalla Slide, where the ditches have been dug deep as sin. No wonder Bill fell in and died. Josh heard the story but yesterday; it hasn't been published I guess. 'Tis queer that the things which happen out there never seem to be known to the "press."

How "Bill," or "Ebenezer" fell in. Perchance will never be known; but the fact remains that he wouldn't get out. And so he died there alone.

MORAL:—Since one mule has met a tragic death Out on Molalla Slide, Be careful, my friend, that you don't get piled In the ditch, where old "Bill" died. SAMANTHA, of Clackamas County.

Why Do American Physicians Go to Europe to Study?

By Dr. A. L. SORESI, New York Physician

AMERICAN physicians GO TO EUROPE IN ORDER TO PERFECT THEMSELVES in the different branches of medical science. Few European physicians come to America for the same purpose. European business men, however, come to America to investigate American business organizations. Few Americans go to Europe for that purpose.

Is it only a fad on the part of the American physician to go to Europe and of the European business man to come to America, or IS IT ACKNOWLEDGING THAT MEDICAL SCIENCE IS MORE ADVANCED IN EUROPE than in this country, as business methods are in America than in Europe?
