HERE is a section of this American continent within which at some future day there will be developed a civilization richer, greater, more extensive than that evolved today in our Mississippi valley. It is a might river basin, twice as great as the basin of the Mississippi and pouring into the ocean a volume of water perhaps four times as great as any other river that we kildw. And when I say that you will easily guess that I am describing THE AMAZON.

There are steamboats on the river, but so there were before Bates left it. Man has done nothing as yet, comparatively speaking, with the river Amazon. In fact, you might say that he is SCARCELY IN EVIDENCE there at all.

BUT THE TIME WILL COME WHEN THIS WHOLE REGION WILL BE TRANSFORMED INTO ONE OF THE RICHEST GARDEN SPOTS OF THE EARTH, THE SEAT OF A CIVILIZATION GREATER AND MORE FARREACHING THAN THAT FOUND TODAY IN THE MISSISSIPPI VALLEY.

I don't mean to say that there are any evidences of such a growth, such a transformation of the Amazon country at present. It is simply there potentially. You have a river system on a gigantic scale. Bates quotes the natives of Para as naming the Amazon "the Mediterranean | the party on your nomination.

"Our opponents are divided into two camps, rivaling each other in their efforts to excel in distributing the civic and economic order of the country. The new party thrusts itself forward into the vacuum left by the phantoms of other third parties which have pass ed into oblivion. Oblivion, too, awaits it. The Democratic party in the Nation has many times defeated its Republican rival in August; but twice has it done so in November."

Sherman read excerpts from a volume written by Governor Wilson, whom he declared a pedagogue, not a statesman.

He upheld the protective tariff and said the thoughtful could see no promise of betterment "in the frantic cry for a change." He commended the recent vetoes of the tariff bills by President Taft and said the vetoes called for the support of every citizen.

Continuing, he said: "The crime of this new age is frenzied speech and action; lack of Hazel Howard for three weeks. thought, a spurning of deliberation and of the weighing of consequences. Mad haste is the pastime of the multi- nesday.

nomination. The President wired: "I am very sorry that the public business prevents my presence at the ceremonies. I congratulate you and Republican party continues to be the party of the Constitution, the defender of our guarantees of civil liberty, private property and pursuit of hapness and other civil rights; the upholder of law and order, the opponent of socialism, the sturdy supporter of high compensation for wage earners and our industrial success through a protective tariff.
