TAX ROLL USED IN U'REN ARGUMENT DISTORTED

FIGURES CHANGED, SAYS ASSESSOR

"IT IS UNRECOGNIZABLE AS A COPY OF THE ROLL," SAYS MR. JACK-MANY CON-CERNS PAY MORE THAN FIGURES SHOW

Repudiated by J. E. Jack, county as office. sessor, as having important omissions serious errors and as being confusing throughout, a pamphlet of 159 pages a copy of which is being mailed to assessed at $52,550, and paid $1,705.70 every voter in Clackamas County, and taxes. The records in the assessor's voters in other states by W. S. U'Ren office show these figures and the bank of Oregon City, and W. G. Eggleston, has the receipts for the money. The of Portland, is branded as either an single tax roll: "Bank of Oregon City, attempt to purposely mislead the elec- 30 lots valued at $17,200. In this roll old Clackamas county is made to appear as not having a railroad within its borders, no power plants are mentioned, telegraph and telephone lines are all cut out, and with many omissions too numerous to mention I think I am justified as well as Clackamas county in making this protest."

If the public service corporations mentioned by Mr. Jack had been in-cluded in the table, they would have come under the head of personalty and been exempt under the theory advocated by the compilers of the book. Although the original roll as it was prepared in the assessor's office gives accurate descriptions of all property, the single tax roll does not give any descriptions whatever, gives names in alphabetical order, with all property owned by the individual no matter in what part of the county it may be located. This is confusing and makes it impossible to trace the property without application to the assessor's

ARM TORN OFF, HE SAYS, "STOP ENGINE"

Frank Sprague, proprietor of the Redland Sawmill, is in a serious condition as a result of an injury received Thursday afternoon, Mr. was operating the "planer" when his left arm became caught in the machinery. He yelled to the engineer to stop the engine, but his cry was not heard. His arm was torn off just below the elbow. Holding the torn ends of his shirt in his hand he rushed back to the engine and calmly said to the engineer: "I am hurt ; shut off the power." Mr. Sprague then fainted, He was carried to the house, and an improvised tourniquet stopped the flow of blood. Dr. Strickland attended him, and it is believed he will re cover.
