VOL. IV—No. 45

OREGON CITY, OREGON, SATURDAY, AUGUST 24, 1912

GOVERNOR STARTS PORTLAND CRUSADE

"YOU DOUBLE-CROSSED ME" SHOUTS EXECUTIVE TO DISTRICT ATTORNEY

SPECIAL PROSECUTORS PROMISED

West, Emulating Bull Moose, Tells Officials in Multnomah County That He Will Do Their Work

PORTLAND, Aug. 23, (Special).—"I'm prepared to go down the line on the enforcement of the law in Portland and I am here today to ask your co-operation. If I don't get that, I will go it alone, and from now on I will be on the job every minute as long as I am in office. I will clean up Portland if it takes me until January 9, 1915."

With this declaration, Governor West announced his crusade against vice in Portland at a meeting today with the Mayor, Chief of Police, District Attorney and members of the Municipal Association and Vice Commission at the office of the Mayor, Sheriff Stevens did not attend the meeting, sending word that he was too busy.

During the whole session the air was charged with tension. Governor West sweepingly declared that none of the city or county authorities had been doing their duty, accused District Attorney Cameron of having "double-crossed" him, and laid down a definite declaration that he will appoint special deputies to prosecute vice cases and that the work will begin Monday.

"I'll put names of the special prosecutors, who will represent my office and will be deputies in Mr. Cameron's office, in his hand. That will give time to get ready for work by the following Monday. This matter has been pending so long that the people want action at once."

Governor West declared that, knowing that the evils set forth in the report of the Vice Commission do exist, the police officials, the District Attorney and the municipal authorities have not made the proper effort to suppress them.

"Now I'm going to demand that the apprehension of these criminals be left largely to agents appointed by me. I shall place special deputies in the office of the Sheriff and if the Sheriff does not show a disposition to co-operate with me in this work, I'll feel called upon to put him under arrest and to commence suit against him on his bond."

"There has come a time right now when every man of you has got to choose his companions. Either you line up with the decent element; with the mothers, wives and sisters, or you line up with the pimps and macqueriaux and the women of the streets. I know well enough where I stand, and I expect to know today whether the officers of this city stand with me."

"Future prosecutions in these cases shall be in the hands of agents appointed by me and such cases as are now in the hands of the District Attorney shall, if I ask it, be turned over to them. If the District Attorney refuses this I shall have him arrested."

OIL TRUST HEAD SCORES COLONEL

ARCHBOLD ASSERTS ROOSEVELT WAS BENEFICIARY OF OIL TRUST FUND

T. R. WANTED MORE SAYS WITNESS

Standard Oil Head Declares At Senate Probe That Ex-President Sent Officers To Grave

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—That Theodore Roosevelt attempted political extortion on the Standard Oil company during his second administration because the trust failed to follow up an alleged $125,000 contribution with a second and larger contribution to the presidential campaign of 1904, was the substance of testimony given the senate campaign contributions committee here today by John D. Archbold, president of the Standard Oil company.

Archbold's denunciation of the former president was extremely bitter, the witness openly asserting that the attacks waged on the Standard Oil company by Roosevelt, which he stated were unwarranted, directly resulted in the deaths of Henry H. Rogers and Henry Tilford, two of the company's directors.

Archbold freely admitted that his company had contributed $125,000 to the Republican national campaign in 1904 but he stamped as a willful and malicious forger letters published in certain magazines and newspapers purporting to have passed between himself and Senator Boies Penrose, and in which it was intimated that $25,000 was paid Penrose to secure favorable Standard Oil legislation.

Archbold testified that he had every reason to believe that Roosevelt knew and approved of the contributions made by the Standard Oil company in 1904. Cornelius N. Ellis, treasurer of the Republican national committee in 1904, Archbold, declared, told him that Roosevelt had been told of the contribution and would be pleased with a second and larger contribution. Archbold said he regarded Ellis as an entirely reliable and truthful man.

Later, Archbold, said, when Standard Oil directors refused to further loosen their purse strings, Bliss again, called at his New York office and advised him that it would be for the good of the Standard Oil company to make another and larger contribution. Archbold said that $150,000 was the amount suggested. This, he said, was taken up with Standard Oil directors, and the request voted down. Then Archbold alleged that immediately after Roosevelt's election he started his attacks on the Standard Oil company. Archbold's jaw set hard when he reached that stage of his testimony.

"There is nothing like it," he snapped, "in the annals of American history. Nothing has ever occurred in even Darkest Africa to compare with it. We have all the available data concerning these attacks, and some day the inside facts will be given to the world."

An effort to prove his contention that the Standard Oil attacks inaugurated by Roosevelt were unjust, Archbold cited the case of the Vacuum company of Buffalo, a Standard Oil subsidiary.

The federal district attorney at Buffalo, he said, notified the department of justice at Washington that there was no merit in the case and that it was doubtful if a conviction could be secured. Archbold alleged that this word was then flashed back to the government's Buffalo representative:

"Damn the merit; go ahead and get a conviction."

Archbold then told the committee how he and Henry H. Rogers, now dead, had paid a visit at the White House to Colonel Roosevelt. While Roosevelt, he said, made no direct reference to the 1904 contribution he was extremely polite and affable.

"There has been some criticism," he alleged Roosevelt told them, "but that is always to be expected."

STREET WORKERS QUIT BECAUSE OF HEAT

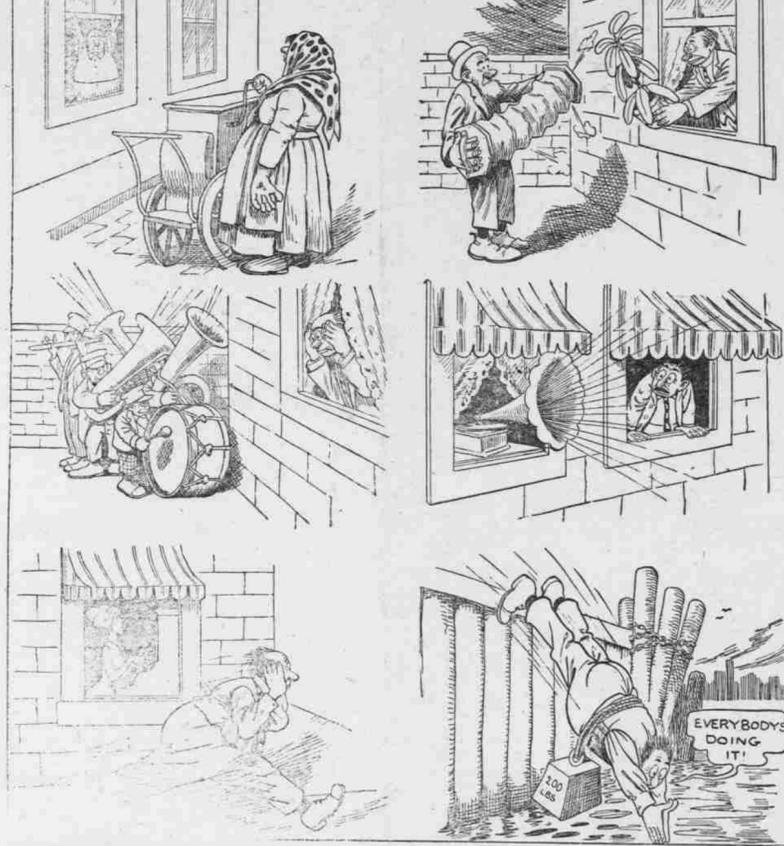

Because of the intense heat Thursday ten or fifteen men employed by the sub-contractors who are grading Jackson and John Quincy Adams streets, refused to work Friday. The men said they feared they would become incapacitated if they attempted to work in the middle of the day. The contractor has had at least twenty teams engaged in making the grades. It is believed that the men will return to work Monday. The contract was let to the Oregon Engineering & Construction Company, which sub let it.

STATE MANAGER AND HAYES ADDRESS LODGE

State Manager Gore addressed a meeting of the Modern Brotherhood of America Thursday evening. After the transaction of business Judge Gordon E. Hayes delivered a beautiful speech upon the work of the order. There was a large attendance and the speeches were thoroughly enjoyed. The lodge in this city is growing rapidly. After the serving of refreshments Friday evening dancing was indulged in.

SCHOOL BUILDINGS BEING REPAIRED

The work of repairing the school buildings is progressing rapidly, and Superintendent Tooze announced Friday that it would be finished long before the opening of the fall term. A new foundation is being built for the Barclay school building, and the old gymnasium will be converted into two class rooms. The plan to move the structure to the north of the school has been abandoned for the present year. Mr. Tooze said Friday that the grading of the high school campus was progressing satisfactorily and that it was about ready for the planting of seed. The campus will be one of the prettiest in the state.

If it happened it is in the Enterprise.

POWERS NOT DEAD, JUST HARVESTING

Joseph Powers, quondam worker for the Hawley Pulp & Paper Company, has returned to the city. He was reported several days ago as a probable victim of highwaymen, and the police and friends made strenuous efforts to solve what seemed a mysterious crime.

"Why it's all a mistake," said Mr. Powers. "You can see for yourself. Here I am. I've been out at my father-in-law's harvestings. Haven't a man got a right to leave town without putting it in the newspapers? I know who reported to the police that I was mysteriously missing. Those old women up there, who haven't anything else to do."

Mr. Powers is a hard-working man, and the management of the mill regretted losing his services. His wife is living with her parents on a farm at Springfield, and Mr. Powers has decided to move there. He left about two weeks ago without telling anyone where he was going. The fact that he had drawn his week's wages a few hours before his disappearance gave color to the rumor that he was a victim of foul play.

WOODMEN HERE TO FIGHT FOR PRIZE

CRACK OREGON CITY TEAM EXPECTS TO GARNER TROPHY AT STATE FAIR

RING GIVEN BY CONSUL COMMANDER

Three Applicants For Membership Are Initiated—Lodge Has Remarkable Growth—Phillips Heads Team

The Woodmen of the World met in their lodge room Friday evening in regular session and voted to attend the State Fair at Salem Tuesday, September 3, 1912 in a body. The local team of the woodmen will compete with other teams in Salem on that day for one of the three prizes that will be given for the best drilled team. Captain M. D. Phillips, who has command of the local team is working hard to get his men in shape so that Oregon City will carry off one of the prizes.

During the evening neighbor L. E. Blanchard, the member of the team who won the prize of a seal ring offered by Consul Commander Hammond in behalf of Head Consul I. L. Boak, was presented with the ring by the Consul Commander. The ring was so large that he was accused of trying to get a bracelet under the guise of a ring but when it was placed on his finger it fit in proper shape.

The lodge initiated three new members and took in applications for six more who will be initiated as soon as possible. The steady growth of this lodge is only one of the many indications pointing plainly to the fact that Oregon City is growing and being filled with able-bodied young men.

Clackamas County is going to carry off one of the big prizes for the best exhibits at the fair and the Woodmen through its drill team are going to add to the honor of the county and city by carrying off one of the prizes in the drill contest. All Woodmen and their families who can possibly go to Salem on September 3 are requested to notify E. H. Cooper on or before August 30 so that he can reserve seats for them on the special train that will go through here at 8:30 A. M. The fare will be one and one-third for the round trip. Numerous friends of the local camp can also be accommodated if they so desire.

HUSBAND SAYS WIFE WON'T COOK MEALS

Alleging that his wife has repeatedly refused to prepare his meals and ruin his health, Edward Johnson, through Attorney J. E. Hodges, filed suit for divorce Friday against Josephine Johnson. They were married March 13, 1910, at Wilsonville, Oregon. Geo. W. Lowe sued Louise Lowe for a divorce alleging desertion. The plaintiff says his wife left him April 20, 1912.

PAPER PLANT MAY BE LOCATED HERE

EASTERN CONCERN IS LOOKING FOR SITE FOR $100,000 WESTERN BRANCH

FREIGHT RATES IMPORTANT ITEM

Company Will Employ At Least 200 Persons—Plan Is To Ship Paper In Rough State From East

The Eaton Crane Huriburt Company, of Pittsfield, Mass., manufacturers of writing paper, envelopes, tablets, etc., may locate a finishing plant in this city. It is planned to spend at least $100,000 on the plant and there will be about 200 employees.

B. T. McBain, President of the Commercial Club said Friday evening that the officers of the organization had learned the company expected to erect a finishing plant in an inland city in the west. Denver, Colo., has been trying to get the plant, but the company, it has been learned, is not favorably disposed to that city. It wishes to locate further west, its object being to make the plant a distributing point for the Pacific Coast.

Mr. McBain has written the officers of the company regarding the advantages of Oregon City, and inasmuch as they are superior to those offered by other cities in the west, it is believed they will be effective.

The company plans to ship paper in a rough state to the proposed plant and then apply the finishing process. Much money could be saved by adopting this plan for the freight rate on unfinished paper is much smaller than on the finished article.

Mr. McBain, in his letters to the management of the company, explained that the city was in a fair way of obtaining terminal rates, and also called attention to the proposed improvement of the Willamette River.

BOYLES' FUNERAL TO BE TOMORROW

The funeral of Dan Boyles will be conducted at the St. John's Catholic church Sunday at 12 o'clock, and the interment will be in the Catholic cemetery near Mount Pleasant. Mr. Boyles was formerly connected with the Southern Pacific in this city, having been in charge of switches. He recently purchased property at Cottage Grove, and was engaged in blasting when he was struck by a rock and killed instantly. Mr. Boyles was standing about 2000 feet away from the blast when the accident occurred. Mrs. Boyles was formerly Miss Anna Relling, of Parkside, and she and her baby are with her relatives at that place. Mr. Boyles' brother will arrive here from Michigan Sunday morning to attend the funeral.
