WEST URGES EVANS TO DETHRONE VICE

GOVERNOR ABANDONS PLAN OF GETTING HELP FROM DISTRICT ATTORNEY

JUDGE EXPECTED TO RENDER AID

Deputy Visits McGinn And Has Long Conference—West Says He Is "Swamped" With Applications For Place

PORTLAND, Aug. 26.—Having definitely abandoned the idea of securing co-operation from the office of the District Attorney of Multnomah County, Governor West will make the next step in the anti-vice crusade he has inaugurated in Portland, an effort to secure the appointment of United States Deputy District Attorney, Walter H. Evans, as a special prosecutor to have full charge of the cases that may come up in the campaign.

The Governor declared today that he believed it is possible to secure such an appointment through the presiding judge of the Circuit Court, District Attorney Cannon desires that the Governor has the power to do so, maintaining that such action must come through his office and that such appointment could be made only at his instance.

First steps in carrying out the plan to secure Mr. Evans' appointment will be made tomorrow by West, who will devote all his energy to the achievement of that object.

He said today that Mr. Evans had practically agreed, after a long conference today, to accept such appointment and undertake the work, if it can be arranged legally.

Mr. Evans, however, is still non-committal, and would not announce a definite decision tonight. United States District Attorney McCourt will return to Portland tomorrow and confer with Mr. Evans again upon the plan, and after that time he expects to make final announcement of his position in the matter.

Mr. Evans this afternoon visited Circuit Judge McGinn at the courthouse and was joined later in his conference by the Governor, but the results of their discussion were not made public.

"It is held by some," said the Governor tonight, "that the appointment cannot be made. I believe it can, and shall not stop until I have tried the matter out fully."

In case Mr. Evans finally declines to assume the position the Governor has not considered any alternative appointment.

"If Evans can't take it," he says, "I don't see how anyone else can."

Both the Governor and Mr. Evans have been waited upon by numberless applicants for positions in the proposed campaign.

"I have been swamped with applications from people who want me to appoint them as my deputies," said Mr. Evans today. "For the benefit of the general public I wish it could be announced that I have not yet accepted any appointment and am in no position to consider such applications."

OREGON CIVIL WAR CLAIM IS DEFEATED

BOURNE AND CHAMBERLAIN GIVE UP AFTER STUBBORN BATTLE

CONGRESS ADJOURNS SINE DIE

Resolution Calling For Full Inquiry Into Campaign Gifts Adopted—Cannon Calls Foes "Parsimonious"

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—After a stormy session which lasted 262 days congress adjourned without day at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon.

President Taft reached the capitol at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, apparently glad of adjournment.

Awaiting action by the Senate on the deficiency bill, the house "killed" time, before adjournment, Chairman Fitzgerald of the house appropriations committee and Congressman Cannon briefly summed up the financial record of congress.

"Uncle Joe" sharply criticized the Democrats for what he termed "their parsimonious policy."

"After fighting five days in committee and delaying the adjournment of Congress for two days, Senators Bourne and Chamberlain today yielded to the demands of the house and the senate and receded on the amendment appropriating $193,000 to pay Oregon's Civil War claim. The claims of Maryland, Virginia and Texas were also yielded.

Senator Bourne, who is a member of the appropriations committee, and who secured the adoption of Chamberlain's amendment, said this evening he did not feel justified in helping hold congress indefinitely when it is apparent the house will not agree to this item.

Senator Bourne goes to Oregon the last of the week. Senator Chamberlain will remain here two weeks.

The Penrose-Reed-Pointdexter resolution calling for a wide and thorough investigation of campaign contributions since 1904 was adopted in the Senate.

The Penrose resolution as adopted in the senate by a viva voce vote, provides a sweeping investigation of all correspondence and transactions between John D. Archbold, president of the Standard Oil Company, and members of congress. It also calls for an investigation of the alleged activities of George W. Perkins in behalf of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt.

Before adopting the adjournment resolution, the senate adopted the conference report on the general deficiency bill after Senators Smith of Maryland and Culbertson of Texas had withdrawn their objections.

After the Chilton-Watson resolution was disposed of, the Penrose-Reed-Pointdexter resolution was taken up.

Senator Penrose at once withdrew the amendment authorizing the employment of attorneys to aid the committee. At the suggestion of Senator Clapp, the resolution was so modified as to permit counsel to those under investigation "subject to the rules of the committee."

Senator Bailey, of Texas, here threatened a delay by asserting that the senate did not have a right to investigate the election of any president. Senator Smoot then offered an amendment limiting the correspondence to be investigated to letters relating to campaign contributions.

Senator Pointdexter said this would eliminate all the matter in the Roosevelt-Penrose controversy. Pointdexter's suggestion that the letters be limited to financial matters was accepted and the entire resolution was then passed. As adopted, the resolution includes a clause directing an inquiry into the party, requires an accounting from the candidate of 1912 regarding the pre-convention campaigns, including the sources of these contributions.

Chairman Warren of the appropriations committee, in summing up the appropriations made by the present congress, said the aggregate reached $1,019,000,000.

Prisoner Makes Fortune

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Joseph G. Robin, who is in the Tombs awaiting sentence following his conviction for grand larceny in connection with the wrecking of the Northern Bank, is said to have made another fortune through speculation which he carried on while a prisoner.

If you saw it in the Enterprise it's so.

A SUMMER TRAGEDY.

J. Mahlon Barnes, Campaign Manager for Eugene V. Debs, Socialist Candidate for President of the United States.

HOP PICKING IS STARTED IN VALLEY

At some of the hopyards up the valley the gathering of the 1912 crop began Monday. Others will start picking later in the week. In most of the yards, however, the pickers will not be set to work until the first of the coming month. Harvest operations will be generally under way next week, and the weather permitting, there will be no letup until the crop is under cover.

For the most part the picking that started this week was actuated by the fear that damage to the crop might result if the hops were left longer on the vines. In some of the yards, where the growers neglected spraying at the critical period just prior to the recent rains or where the work was improperly done, mold is said to have developed to some extent and the growers in such cases are anxious to get their crops gathered with the least possible injury to the expectations a few weeks ago.

The market, as usual at the opening of the harvest season, shows no signs of life, but remains steady to firm in tone. That the market has stiffened somewhat during the past two weeks is generally conceded, and this is of course attributed to developments in some of the distant producing sections. In New York the growers have had unfavorable weather to contend with, and in England weather conditions the past few weeks appear to have been even worse, the rains there have been such as to cause the growers a good deal of apprehension. On the Continent the hop crop promises to be a large one, but in quality it is believed now that the world's crop will not be up to the expectations a few weeks ago.

The yield of the three Pacific Coast states will of course be well above that of last year, and on the whole promises to show good quality. The Coast growers, in view of the latest developments in the general situation and the fact that the harvest season is just opening, naturally are paying little attention to the market. On 1912's dealers are quoting 18 to 20 cents, but there is little or no business passing.

MRS. JOHN SCHOCH DIES OF APOPLEXY

Mrs. John Schoch, one of the most prominent residents of the West side, who died of apoplexy Sunday at noon, will be buried today in the Catholic Cemetery. The funeral will be held at 9 o'clock this morning at St. John's Church, Father Hillebrand officiating. Mrs. Schoch was fifty-seven years of age, and had taken an active interest in religious work for many years. She is survived by her husband and the following children: Mrs. Lizzie Dickerman, Mrs. Christina Cox, Mrs. Rosa Pettit, Miss Sarah Schoch and Stephen Schoch. Mrs. Schoch came to Oregon City about sixteen years ago. Her husband is an employe of the Willamette Pulp & Paper mill. She is survived by two brothers, Jake and John Schmidt.

D. K. BILL, LEADING G. A. R. MAN, DIES

FORMER COMMANDER OF MEADE POST EXPIRES AFTER SHORT ILLNESS

SERVED THROUGHOUT CIVIL WAR

Born In Vermont He Went To Minnesota Early In Life Where He Enlisted In Army—Was Brave Soldier

David K. Bill, veteran of the Civil War and well known in Oregon City, died at his home at Gladstone Monday morning after an illness of a few days. The funeral will be conducted at the Christian church, Gladstone, Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Rev. A. H. Mulkey officiating. The services will be in charge of the Meade Post, G. A. R., of which Mr. Bill had been a member since coming to Oregon City about sixteen years ago. Mr. Bill was past commander of Meade Post, having served as commander in 1911. He took much interest in the work of the post. He also was a prominent member of the Grange, having been a member for many years of Abernethy Grange at Parkplace.

Mr. Bill was born in Vermont and enlisted in Company B, Third Minnesota Infantry, and was orderly for General Powell until the regiment went home for a furlough, after which he acted as duty sergeant. He was brave and loyal to the flag, and was held in the highest esteem by his comrades and by the higher officers. In the regiment Mr. Bill served for four years in the army, and in 1866 he married Miss Hattie Bolser in Minnesota.

In 1882 Mr. Bill came to Oregon City from Anoka, Minn., and settled on a homestead east of Portland. He remained there for some time, and in 1894 he became a member of Sumner Post, G. A. R., of Portland. From Portland Mr. Bill moved to Hillsboro, Or., and later came to Clackamas County, where he and his family made their home on the Clackamas river until about fourteen years ago when they came to Oregon City. Mr. Bill for several years has resided at Gladstone.

His three sons and C. H. Dauchey, the latter being an old soldier and comrade of Mr. Bill during the Civil War, were with him when he died. Mr. Bill had many friends in this city as well as Gladstone, and his death was a great surprise, as his condition was not thought serious until a few days before his death. Mr. Bill's death was indirectly due to a sunstroke received during the Civil War.

Mr. Bill is survived by the following children: Leroy A. Bill, of Portland; Lester E. Bill, of Ecola, Clatsop County; Mrs. W. C. Brown, of Sheridan, Oregon; Llewellyn W. Bill, of Portland. He also leaves two brothers, J. N. Bill, of Santa Anna, California; Edward S. Bill, of Minnesota.

WOMEN OFFENDERS ARE AGAIN ARRESTED

Mrs. Baltimore and Mrs. Thomas, were arrested Monday evening on charges of being intoxicated and disorderly. The women were arrested several days ago and sentenced to serve twenty-five days in jail each. However, they were given their freedom, promising that they would leave the city.

BULL MOOSE MEN NAME DELEGATES

TELFORD, MALLET AND EASTHAM TO REPRESENT COUNTY IN CONVENTION

ROBBIE BURNS SOCIETY LISTENS

First Organization Reputed and Then Readopted—Two Portland Speakers Plead For Harmony

"We stand at Armageddon and we battle for the Lord." Well might this peroration of the first Bull Moose in the land be paraphrased by his followers in Oregon City as follows: "We stand in Willamette Hall, which has been hired by the Bobby Burns Society, and we battle for ourselves." It is inconceivable that a party could have more trouble in being formed than the Bull Moose in Clackamas County. To tell the exact truth it has not been formed yet. It is still in the Cambrian division, and has hopes of having Paleozoic swaddling clothing.

Again the Bull Moose men foregathered at Willamette Hall. It was early Monday evening, and a moving picture show next door, which is well advertised, had a big crowd. There was a good crowd at the Bull Moose meeting also, for the Scotch are a clanish people, and Robbie Burns will never be forgotten. The Scotch, however, are not all Bull Mooseers by a long sight.

They are generous, however, and they believe in giving everybody a chance. So when the Bull Mooseers preempted the hall, and oratory resigned supreme, the members of the Burns society waited patiently for a chance. However, eventually Mr. Nobel, president of the society had to limit the time of the speeches, and while he made his announcement politely, there was no question as to his meaning.

The sum and substance of the meeting was the abrogation of the organization made at the meeting Saturday night, and then the re-adoption of it. E. E. Bridges was re-elected temporary chairman and W. M. Stone was re-elected temporary secretary. Upon motion of Mr. Toozie Max Telford was named a delegate to the Progressive convention. J. J. Mallett and O. W. Eastham also were named delegates. The Toozie motion provided for the naming of three delegates.

It was said that Mr. Eastham opposed holding the meeting Monday night. However, it was unanimously agreed Saturday night that the meeting be adjourned until Monday. George F. Rodgers, National Committeeman of the Progressive Party telephoned Monday that two speakers from Portland would attend the meeting. Mr. Telford arranged to obtain the hall. It was charged that Mr. Eastham arrived first and tried to adjourn the meeting before the arrival of his Bull Moose foes. At any rate he moved for an adjournment. At that time Mr. Toozie arrived and opposed the motion. He explained that speakers from Portland were present and it was more than courtesy to them that they should be heard.

Mr. Telford accused Mr. Eastham of having tried to put through a slate, declaring that Mr. Eastham wished to name himself county central committeeman. Mr. Eastham denied the charge and pleaded for harmony. Mr. Mr. Telford said that the steam roller

AUTO, STOLEN BY JOY RIDERS, FOUND

An Automobile, stolen from W. A. Avery, of Portland, was found in Wilsonville Monday afternoon. The machine, evidently stolen by joy riders, was found by a storekeeper who notified Deputy Sheriff Staats. Mr. Staats called Sheriff Stevens of Multnomah County, and it was found that the car belonged to Mr. Avery. It had been stolen from in front of his garage. The owner came to Oregon City and Sheriff Staats told him he could go to Wilsonville and get his car.

DR. FORD WANTS TO STAY IN OREGON CITY

Dr. T. B. Ford, pastor of the Methodist Church, will go to Ellenberg, Wash., today to attend the conference to be held there. Dr. Ford is a member of the Columbia River Conference, but the quarterly conference has asked Bishop Cook to transfer him to Oregon Conference and that he be continued in the Oregon City charge for the coming year. Dr. Ford announced that he would like to have the appointment for another year. He has added almost 100 members to the church during his short service. Dr. Ford says he greatly appreciates the kindness extended him by the people and press of Oregon City. He will return to the city next week. A minister from Portland will occupy the Methodist church pulpit next Sunday.
