

Postponing Wrath.

"Herr Boetzie is looking for his hat, and I've just discovered that I'm sitting on it!"
"Don't let him know it—he'll be pretty ugly about it!"
"But I've got to go! You sit on it till I come back!"—Fleegende Blätter.

"My attitude to the Standard Oil Company was precisely the same before election as after election, as any one can find out by turning to the files of the newspapers at the time of the passage of the Bureau of Corporations bill, before I was nominated or elected, when the Standard Oil Company opposed the law and I got it through by making public the telegrams of the Standard Oil people opposing the law and showing their activity.
"As for any connection of mine with the Standard Oil before or after election, any human being is welcome to make anything public about it of any sort, kind or description; and if I had appeared before the committee today I should have testified to every feature of it of which I had any recollection or knowledge, and submitted from my letter books any letters of mine dealing in any shape, or way with the matter."

EVENING GOWN
The model shown today has the delightful effect of richness and elegance though extremely simple, both as to material and design. The blouse of citron yellow satin is draped with shadow lace forming sleeves. The underskirt of the satin is plain and over it falls a tunic of the satin from which falls a deep ruffle of lace which disappears at the back beneath the left side tunic. A spray of yellow roses trails its length across bodice and skirt following the diagonal line of the tunic.

BULL MOOSE MEN NAME DELEGATES

methods would not be tolerated. Mr. Eastham, in answering, said he would not allow a fanatical spirit to sway his judgment. He asserted that the charge made by Mr. Telford were not true, but admitted that he had fought to have the best men named for the offices. He thought Mr. Telford would repent and be sorry for what he had said.
J. Frank Burk and Elisha A. Baker, of Portland, made pleas for harmony. They excoriated Taft and Wilson, and declared the salvation of the country rested with the election of the Progressive ticket. It was whispered that after the visitors left, the Burns men began their meeting with the reciting of those famous lines by the president, "Kings may be blessed, but Tam was glorious o'er all the ills of life victorious," and then—paraphrasing—"Pleasures are like poppies spread—all busy men wish Bull Moose dead."

The Word "Papa."
For some time after the word "papa" was taken into the English language in the seventeenth century it was restricted to courtly and polite speech and was common even among adults. Long after it had become childish it was still accounted genteel. Hood wrote of one who was "genteelly taught to say, not father, but papa."
"Papa" may be comparatively a newcomer into the English language, but it is as old as Homer. Nausicaa in the "Odyssey" calls her father "pappa philie"—dear papa.

LOEB SAYS HE'LL DEFEND COLONEL

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Aug. 26.—What Colonel Roosevelt knew and did in the matter of John D. Archbold's alleged $100,000 contribution to the Republican campaign fund in 1904; what President Roosevelt said to the late E. H. Harriman, and what Harriman said to President Roosevelt about Harriman's $260,000 contribution, are matters to which William Loeb, Jr., formerly Roosevelt's private secretary, is prepared to testify before the Senate committee investigating campaign contributions, Colonel Roosevelt said today.
"Mr. Loeb told me last night that he had seen statements that he was to be brought down before the committee," Roosevelt said. "He wished to come and tell me about these rumors. I told him that if he was called he was to go of course, and to testify to everything."
Colonel Roosevelt was greatly pleased at the prospect of Loeb's testifying before the committee.
"While under no circumstances would I myself have asked Mr. Loeb to testify," Roosevelt said, "I am more than pleased that the committee choose to do so."
"For instance, when I made my statement about Mr. Harriman in Mr. Harriman's behalf, it was only on my written letters, yet as the committee has chosen to listen to hear-say gossip by Mr. Odell and Mr. Archbold as to what Mr. Harriman said took place at that interview, I shall be glad to have them listen to Mr. Loeb, who was present at the interview."
Mr. Loeb heard Mr. Harriman ask me to get Mr. Bliss or Mr. Cortelyou to contribute funds to himself and Mr. Odell for the state campaign, neither Mr. Harriman nor I so much as spoke of Harriman's contributions to my campaign," Loeb himself telephoned to either Mr. Bliss or Mr. Cortelyou, transmitting Mr. Harriman's request to me.
"Mr. Loeb also telephoned to Mr. Bliss and Mr. Cortelyou about the alleged Standard Oil contribution, making it my belief that he said the request that I had made directly in the two letters and telegrams that have been published, and received the same assurance that I had received that no Standard Oil money had been received or would be received."
Concerning the statement made by William Randolph Hearst in London, in which Mr. Hearst urged him and Mr. Archbold and Senator Penrose to tell the "full story" Colonel Roosevelt had this to say:
"My attitude to the Standard Oil Company was precisely the same before election as after election, as any one can find out by turning to the files of the newspapers at the time of the passage of the Bureau of Corporations bill, before I was nominated or elected, when the Standard Oil Company opposed the law and I got it through by making public the telegrams of the Standard Oil people opposing the law and showing their activity.
"As for any connection of mine with the Standard Oil before or after election, any human being is welcome to make anything public about it of any sort, kind or description; and if I had appeared before the committee today I should have testified to every feature of it of which I had any recollection or knowledge, and submitted from my letter books any letters of mine dealing in any shape, or way with the matter."

CORRESPONDENCE

ESTACADA
A. G. Ames, city marshal of Estacada, will be an independent candidate for constable in Justice District No. 14. He will oppose W. A. Jones, who has the Republican-Democratic nomination. His petition is ready for filing.
F. M. Gill, Republican candidate for representative has moved his family to Estacada for the winter and, with Mr. Dale, Estacada's dry goods merchant is on his way by team to visit his father at Derfur.
Porter's school, district 88, opens September 2.
The Estacada school will open September 16.
Estacada keeps moving right along with improvement. A much needed sewer is being laid.
W. F. Cary returned from the coast Sunday where he had spent two weeks.

Home Remedies in Verse.

The head of a family who thought to save some of his hard earned dollars by trying out simple home remedies when one of his household became ill came in a few nights ago with a book under his arm, which he handed to his wife, remarking:
"Here is a work on burns. I found it at an auction this afternoon. As one of the children is almost sure to get burned some time I thought it would be a good investment. Look it over carefully and be prepared in case of an accident."
The wife opened the volume dutifully and then exclaimed:
"How odd! It's all poetry!"—Kansas City Star.

CATTLE MARKET CONTINUES STRONG

The Portland Union Stock Yards Company reports as follows:
Receipts for the week have been: Cattle, 1551; Calves, 68; Hogs, 1244; Sheep 626; and horses and mules 82.
There has been no let-up in the strength of the market in any line. Steers that would have brought not to exceed 6c a year ago sold readily for 7c. Cows and heifers sold exceptionally high—one lot of spayed heifers sold for $8.70.
The hog market was strong with tops at $9.25. An unusual feature of the hog receipts was the arrival of a car load of hogs from a lumber camp in Western Washington that had been slop fed until they were about the desired weight and then finished on a short feed of corn. They were as good hogs as have been seen on this market.
Lambs sold at $5.35 and there was an upward tendency throughout the sheep market.
The following sales are representative:
71 steers $7.00
247 steers 6.90
220 steers 6.75
13 steers 6.25
33 cows 6.00
53 cows 5.75
