A FANTASY OF THE DARK CONTINENT

Even in a presidential campaign year the killing of James Ward Rogers in Central Africa by Capt. C. V. Fox and his detachment of British soldiers can hardly be made an international incident. Theoretically Rogers was a citizen of Michigan, but he was a good many miles from home when his end came, and the occupation in which he was engaged was not one which his countrymen would recognize as legitimate. The members of Congress who called our government's attention to the affair did not cause any surprise in official circles. Our State Department had learned of the killing from one of its consuls in Africa before the cable carried the story to the world, but the British Foreign Office tells us that no communication from Washington about it has been received, and probably none will be.

Rogers was an elephant poacher. He hunted the big animal in an illicit way, sent out stocks of ivory to the market which surprised the dealers, and which made him rich beyond the dreams of avarice. Thousands of natives were enlisted under him. He exercised autocratic sway over a large region, participated in wild orgies with his subjects, and his success in eluding or defeating the soldiers who were sent against him exalted him in the eyes of the natives, who regarded him with a sort of awe. He practiced his calling hundreds of miles away from civilization, and, except two or three, who were useful to him, no white men, were among his retainers. In a decidedly real sense he was monarch over everything which he surveyed. His rule lasted so long that his subjects believed that it would continue forever, but, according to one of the white men who was captured when he was killed, he often said that he would die in his way, and he would welcome such a death.

As the world has at least a sentimental interest in preventing the extermination of the elephants, Rogers may be said to have had ever man's hand against him. His capture alive would have pleased the world better than his killing, but probably his capture under any conditions short of a fatal wounding would have been impossible. The hero of a hundred battles and retreats, he knew the penalty attaching to his pursuit, but was not deterred by it. Living in the midst of the most savage surroundings, and far away from his kind, the call of the wild in his case must have been imperative. Ward, in the service of the China of half a century ago, Walker as president or king of Nicaragua in 1856, and other Yankee adventurers figured in strange surroundings, but their followers had at least a thin veneer of civilization about them. Rider Haggard, in his African tales, has conceived no character more fantastic than this American pirate who has just been shot to death in the darkest spot in the Dark Continent. So far as his countrymen can perceive nothing in Rogers' life became him like the leaving of it.

JUVENILE FAIRS AMAZE CROWDS

er exhibits at the Juvenile Fair at Oswego was probably the most attractive in the county, the decorations of the room, the color scheme of which was white, green yellow, added to the attractiveness. The exhibits were arranged in the basement of the Oswego schoolhouse, and this was beautifully as well as artistically decorated in great stalks of green corn, sunflowers, and from the archway, which was formed of sunflowers, were suspended large baskets, from which were hanging huge bunches of yellow Golden Glow blossoms intermingled with asparagus ferns. These were used in other parts of the room, baskets being arranged on the walls. The table, where a sumptuous repast was served, was centered by a cutglass bowl filled with the Golden Glow. Adjoining this room was a smaller room, this being prettily decorated with Caroline Testout roses, LaFrance roses and maidenhair ferns, the color scheme throughout being of pink and green, and this being the place where Dr. Guy Mount judged the baby show. The babies who were judged being as follows: Audrey Cline, Vera Curtis, Frances Haynes, William White, Cecil Hallinan, Richard Haynes.

Following the baby show, which was the first on the program in the morning, addresses were made by County School Superintendent T. J. Gary, L. R. Alderman, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, E. D. Ressler, who is at the head of the educational department of the Oregon

Suggestive Questions in Sunday School Lessons

It is doubtful if any Bible study plan ever received such enthusiastic endorsement by the leading men of the nation as the "Suggestive Questions on the Sunday School Lessons" now running in the Morning Enterprise. University presidents, leading Sunday school men, pastors of large churches, as well as of smaller places, and the rank and file of the churches praise these questions to the skies. It is hard to make a selection from so many hundreds of testimonials, but here are a few, with a word or two pulled from each.

President Hadley, Yale University: "They are certainly calculated to stimulate thought." Rev. Wayland Hoyt, Professor of Religion and Science, Temple University: "I think your questions suggestive and valuable." Vice-President Gobin, DePaul University: "I am very much pleased with your questions. . . . I will see what I can do to have them published here." President Burwash, Victoria University: "I have read with great interest your questions. Your method of dealing with the subject strikes me as most excellent." Principal Gordon, Queen's University: "The Method adopted by you of issuing questions for the use of Bible Classes is a good one; I have tested its value in my own experience." Rev. Newell Dwight Hillis, Pastor Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, N. Y.: "Your questions are suggestive and calculated to provoke thought and investigation." Rt. Rev. Bishop Fallows: "I hope you will continue to give them to the church and the world." Rev. Dr. Schaeffer, Chairman International Lesson Committee: "I have read your questions and find them most capital." Rev. Dr. Arbuckle, M. E. Pastor, Columbus, Ohio: "Your International Press Bible Question Club is a happy thought."

Your Questions Answered

If you would like to have answered any particular question each or any week from "The Suggestive Questions on the Sunday School Lesson" by Rev. Dr. Linscott, send in your request to this office giving the date of the lesson and the number of the question you wish answered. You may select any question except the one indicated that it may be answered in writing by members of the club. Dr. Linscott will answer the questions either in these columns or by mail through this office. Don't forget to state what benefit these "Suggestive Questions" are to you. Give your full name and address. Send your letters to the Question Editor of the Morning Enterprise.

Questions for Sept. 1

(Copyright, 1911, by Rev. T. S. Linscott, D. D.) The Death of John the Baptist, Mark 1:14-20 (to be used as a temperance lesson.) Golden Text—Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee the crown of life. Rev. 11:10. (4) Verse 14—Who was King Herod and how did the fame of Jesus affect him? (5) What other examples can you give of the results of an aroused conscience? (6) Verse 15—How do you account for the variety of opinions which the people had concerning Jesus? (7) Verse 16—What are the possibilities of conscience in tormenting bad men? (8) If a man's conscience is clear, no matter how startling an event may be, is he ever likely to be afraid? (See Prov. xviii:1.) (9) Verse 17—Why did Herod put John in prison? (10) Is a good man always under obligation to reprove evil even if he risks his life in doing it? Why? (11) Is it the duty of a good man to reprove all the bad men he knows? Why? (12) Did John's reproof of Herod have a good or a bad effect upon him? Give your reasons. (13) In what way should we follow Christ's command, "Neither cast ye your pearls before swine lest they trample them under their feet and rend you?" (14) Would you say, or not, and why, that notwithstanding the results, John's action was wise? (15) State the circumstances and say why it was wrong for Herod to marry his brother's wife. (16) Even if an act may not be wrong in itself, is it ever wise, or not, and why, for a person to do that which outrages the moral sense of the community? (17) Ought a man or a woman, even for just cause, ever seek a divorce for the purpose of marrying another? Why? (18) Verses 19-20—When a person is reproved for his sin and does not repent how does he generally feel toward the reprover? (19) If Herod had such faith in the goodness of John why did he not put him in prison? (20) How much virtue is there in doing some things that are right if the life is the main life? (21) Verses 21-22—What is the general influence of having big dinners or suppers at anniversaries in the home? (22) It was a Greek custom after a banquet to have professional winedance in a mimetic and licentious way. What would be the effect of such dancing? (23) When a man is under the influence of wine and a licentious dance what would you say as to the goodness of his resolutions? (24) What is the influence today of drink and dancing? (25) Verses 23-25—Would Herod have given the order to have John beheaded if he had not been under the influence of passion? Why? (26) What were the steps that led up to the brutalizing of this woman's nature, which caused her to demand John's head on a charger? (This is the subject of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club.) Lesson for Sunday, Sept. 8, 1912. The Mission of the Twelve. Matt. ix:35-x:15; x:40-xi:1.

GRAND JURY ASKS FOR NEW PROSECUTOR

PORTLAND, Aug. 29, (Special).—Governor West this afternoon appointed H. M. Esterly as District Attorney to take the place of George M. Cameron. The Governor also wrote Sheriff Stevens a letter telling him what his duties are.

PORTLAND, Aug. 29.—Walter H. Evans said today that the Governor would not appoint him as District Attorney, and had withdrawn the nomination. Governor West stated in explanation of the situation that no final action would be taken in the premises until Monday, as he would give Evans that much further time to consider, as he hoped to have him come in. Evans however, said that he would not accept.

War is being taken into the very camp of District Attorney George J. Cameron this morning, in the struggle between himself and Governor West. From the array of new witnesses appearing before the grand jury, it is clear that some inquiry bearing upon the conduct of the office of District Attorney is in progress.

That this inquiry is going to the substance of the situation, and is not some technical sleight, is apparent from the tone of the witnesses. These are coming forward with declarations that the District Attorney and his deputies have forestalled prosecutions in a way which leads the witnesses to believe he committed willful violation of his duties as a prosecutor.

Presiding Judge Morrow this morning was handed a written request of some kind by the grand jury, presumably to have him name a special prosecutor to fill in the interim. Tom Word, Democratic candidate for Sheriff, who has been tendered a position as special agent of the Governor, with plenary powers of arrest and gathering evidence, said he would decide whether to accept the position when the commission was tendered him. Governor West is confident that Word will accept the office, and is relying upon his co-operation in that capacity. W. H. Fitzgerald, Republican nominee for Sheriff, has not indicated whether he will take such a position and until he does, it is unlikely the position will be tendered him.

The real storm center is shifting to the expiring grand jury and Circuit Court, where it is apparent that a determined move is being made against Cameron. All the settings in that quarter indicate that a searching inquiry is being prosecuted there into Cameron's work as District Attorney. "The Governor says Cameron has doublecrossed him," said L. H. Carter, of the Lents district. "I say he has treblescrossed me. I have the proof of it, too. I have three cases in which we had convincing evidence against our men of this city, and a man who had attacked a feeble-minded girl. When I went before the May grand jury with the charges, Cameron acted as the defender of the accused, rather than a prosecutor. We could get nothing from him or his office." "My experience with former District Attorney Cameron in the effort to get him to press charges against the willful law violators of the Lents district, has been unfortunate," said R. E. Beegle, an attorney of Lents. "I had five cases before the May grand jury. You can no more get the Cameron office to do anything against such interests than you can fly. I am here this morning to tell the grand jury what I heard and saw with my own eyes in trying to get Cameron to do his duty."

J. A. Dunbar, also of Lents, was a third witness waiting upon the grand jury this morning. His statement in regard to the situation out in his district was largely similar to those of Cameron and Carter. C. W. Garland, a former deputy under Cameron in 1909 and 1910, who has not been identified with the office for nearly two years, was also called before the grand jury this morning. He would not say whether he had been tendered a position as special prosecutor or special agent, of which a rumor had been in circulation, but insisted that he had testified about some case previously heard. One of the first moves of the grand jury this morning was to go into conference with Presiding Judge Morrow in his chambers, on some subject which none would discuss. It is confidently believed that this conference was over a special prosecutor to fill the office of District Attorney temporarily, until a successor to Cameron is regularly named, or until the courts have passed on the legal points that will be raised.

MEXICAN FIREMEN, NEAR DEATH, SAVED

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 29.—Thirteen Mexican firefighters were rescued early today from Devil's Canyon, where they had been hemmed in since Monday morning without food or water by the flames that are sweeping through the brush on the San Gabriel Range. The men were taken to Azuas by the rangers and it was said that with good care they had a fair chance for recovery.

The men were impressed into the firefighting line by Ranger Brownlow last Sunday and sent into Devil's Canyon. Nothing more was heard from the Mexicans until early today, when two men reported that they were sure all those in the canyon were dead. The only way to reach the men was by descending a precipice 300 feet high. Lowering a rope, one man volunteered to slide down and investigate. On the ground he found the Mexicans in a pitiful condition. All were famished and delirious from the heat and the lack of water. Their clothing had been staged and in most cases was nearly torn from the men's bodies by contact with scrub oak.

One by one the unfortunates were tied to the end of the rope, hauled up to the top of the precipice and given medical attention. Several times it was necessary to resort to force in order to hasten the crazed men to the rope. Th flames had reached nearly to Waterman's camp today and were also threatening Twin Peaks camp, but Ranger Brownlow believed that with his force of 125 men now at work he would be able to control them.

NOTICES. Summons. In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for Clackamas County. Ethel Gero, plaintiff, vs. James F. Gero, defendant.

To James F. Gero, Defendant: In the name of the State of Oregon, you are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled suit on or before the 11th day of October 1912, that being the last day prescribed in the order of publication of the summons; and if you fail to so appear and answer said complaint the plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief therein prayed, to-wit: A decree dissolving the marriage contract now existing between you and the plaintiff and changing the name of plaintiff to Ethel Smith.

This summons is published in the Morning Enterprise, a newspaper, for six consecutive weeks by order of Hon. R. B. Beattie, Judge of the County Court, made on the 29th day of August, 1912, the first publication being on the 30th day of August, 1912. S. R. HARRINGTON, Attorney for Plaintiff.

Summons. In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon, for Clackamas County. H. A. McClintock, Plaintiff, vs. Jennie McClintock, Defendant.

In the name of the State of Oregon, you are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled cause and on or before Friday, the 11th day of October, 1912, and if you fail to answer, for want thereof Plaintiff will take a decree against you divorcing him from you and freeing him of all obligations of the marriage contract. Notice of this summons is made upon you by publication in the Morning Enterprise for six successive weeks by virtue of an order dated August 30th, 1912, signed by the Honorable R. B. Beattie, Judge of the County Court, of the State of Oregon for the County of Clackamas. Date of first publication, August 30, 1912. Date of last publication, October 11th, 1912. PETER A. McDONALD, Attorney-at-Law, 302 Falling Bldg., Portland, Oregon.

Summons. In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for Clackamas County. Lucy Overington, plaintiff, vs. Charles H. Overington, Defendant. To Charles H. Overington, above-named defendant:

In the name of the State of Oregon, you are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled cause, on or before the 11th day of October, 1912, being more than six weeks from the date of the first publication of this summons, and if you fail to so appear or answer, the plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief prayed for in the complaint, which is, for a decree forever dissolving the marriage now existing between you and the plaintiff, and that plaintiff be permitted to resume her former name of Lucy Northcutt, and for such other relief as to the court may seem just and equitable. This summons is served upon you by publication by order of the Hon. R. B. Beattie, Judge of the County Court, which order is dated the 29th day of August, 1912; the date of the first publication of this summons is August 30th, 1912, and the last date of publication October 11th, 1912. FRANK SCHLEGEL, Attorney for Plaintiff.

University Life Harmful

By Chancellor SAMUEL AVERY of the University of Nebraska

THE ultra-social element in our colleges has meant a marked lowering of standards for college young women. In my own college days most of the co-eds were more or less of the schoolma'am type. There was some frivolous courtship, I admit, but relatively LITTLE SOCIAL FRIVOLITY.

No young woman of that day would tolerate the semiflirtatiousness, the near profanity, the easy going use of first names on short acquaintance.

The difficulty in combating these and other tendencies is that the young people in each institution FEEL THEY SHOULD BE ALLOWED TO GO JUST A LITTLE FARTHER THAN WOULD BE TOLERATED ANYWHERE ELSE.

IF THE PUBLICATIONS OF OTHER COLLEGES CONTAIN A NAUGHTY PICTURE THE LOCAL INSTITUTION CERTAINLY IS A BIGOTED ONE IF IT WILL NOT "STAND FOR" A DIRTY ONE, AND ANY ONE ATTEMPTING TO UPHOLD THE STANDARD OF DECENCY FOLLOWED IN THE BETTER CHRISTIAN, MOHAMMEDAN OR SHINTO HOMES IS ACCUSED OF TRYING TO RUN A UNIVERSITY ON A SUNDAY SCHOOL BASIS.

J. E. Jack, Juvenile Fair Judge

Intyre, David Nelson and Lee Rafelsky had exhibits in this department, having chairs, stool and stand. Kenneth Davidson, a 14-year-old lad has proved an artist with an enviable reputation, and as a cartoonist he has a future before him. He had many exhibits of his drawings, representing prominent men of the day, including Theodore Roosevelt, Woodrow Wilson and William Howard Taft, and also a comic cartoon of the city marshal, Kenneth Davidson, Sr. Della Davis, a nine-year-old girl, was awarded several prizes for her exhibit of jellies, fruit, sewing center piece (embroidered). The superintendent of this fair was Mrs. Elizabeth Pettinger, who was assisted by the Women's Club, teachers, Professor Vose, Miss Becker, Miss Mitchell, Miss VanHorn, and also by Mrs. S. E. Cox.
