Perhaps you remember the timethe west using their corn for fuel. They burned it-burned their corn-for two very good reasons; to begin hat it didn't pay to haul it to market, says The Era. In 1894, and for two years thereafter, corn sold in Kansas for ten cents a bushel. In other words, a man had to faise a bushel of corn for the price of a shave. If a farmer wanted to buy two bushels of corn to get it. Today binder twine sells for about 1-2 cents a pound. And what is the price of corn? Why, corn is 65 cents bushel. Well, back in '94 a farmer er for $60. It was a good wagon, and the farmer took good care of it. It makes it better, and gives it a long

The other day the farmer came back to this same Hutchinson dealer and said he wanted to buy another wagon just like the one he got in me for it?"

'That's right,' said the farmer; '$60. 'All right; that same kind of a wagon-a little better, perhaps, for some improvements have been added-that wagon will cost you now $75."

'What!' exclaimed the farmer. He was surprised, and began to object, and then wanted to know the whys and wherefores of the rise in prices. 'Well', said the dealer, 'the material, like lumber and iron and steel, has gone up in price, wages have advaned, and it costs me more to buy a vagon now. Maybe the tariff has some thing to do with it, too.' At the mention of the word "tariff" the farmer went straight up in the air. He began to expound against the theory of the whole thing.

The dealer let him run along for while and then asked again, "say then you bought that wagon from me in ninety-four, I think you paid for it in corn, didn't you?" "Yes-sure I did," "but what's that got to do with it?" "And, let me see. Corn was 10c a bushel, and you had to give six hundred bushels of corn for that wagon, didn't you?" asked the dealer again. "Yes, I did," answered the farmer, after recalling in his own mind that corn was selling at only 10c a bushel

"I'll tell you what you do," said the dealer; "bring me in six hundred give you this wagon-"

Well, say, hold on-"began the farmer. The dealer interrupted him "But that isn't all," he said. In addition to the wagon, I'll let you and your wife go over to the ware house and pick out a carriage. Then you go and help yourself to the best six-foot binder in the shop. And—"
"Here, wait a minute—"started the

"I'm not through yet," said the dealer. "When your wife comes in, I'll let her go to the hardware department and pick out one of the best ranges we've got.
