The Word "Asphalt"

Of deceitful ancestry is the word "asphalt." Apparently it means "not slippery." The Greeks themselves were tempted to derive "asphaltos" from "a," not, and "sphallo," slake to fall or slip. However, the word is really of unknown barbarian origin—Phoenician, some say. Asphalt was in use very early in history. It is said to have been the slime with which the infant Moses' ark of bulrushes was daubed and which the builders of the tower of Babel used instead of mortar.

WEST LOSES FIGHT TO OUST CAMERON

PORTLAND, Aug. 31.—With District Attorney Cameron sustained in his office by the ruling of Judge McGinn, and H. M. Esterly, appointed by the Governor to supplant Cameron, recognized as a special prosecutor to handle the vice cases exclusively and independent of the District Attorney's office, Governor West started a movement against the common carriers and the liquor interests of Portland, which was made public in an open letter to these interests given out by the Governor today.

The Governor's letters to the common carriers and the liquor dealers declared that investigation had convinced him that liquor was being sold and shipped into "dry" territory, and notified them of his intention to take drastic steps against such procedure.

Judge McGinn's decision follows: "The order of Governor West dismissing Cameron is void at law, and Cameron still retains the office of District Attorney.

"Governor West is within his constitutional rights in taking the enforcement of the law into his own hands, believing as he does that the local authorities are remiss in their duty.

"Cameron will retain control of the general business of the office and will conduct ordinary prosecutions before the grand jury and in the courts.

"All business connected with the Governor's crusade will be in the hands of the Governor's appointees, who will be recognized by the courts."

Governor West intimates that his attempt to dismiss Cameron will be carried no further; he declares that his object has been accomplished and that Cameron is welcome to be District Attorney "in name only."

The Governor and District Attorney shook hands before leaving the courtroom.

"It was true 'Deadwood justice' which the Governor meted out to the District Attorney," said Circuit Judge McGinn when delivering his opinion reinstating Mr. Cameron as District Attorney. "It reminds one of the time when they hanged the man first and later tried him at their leisure."

Judge McGinn already was prepared to deal with the legal tangle which has resulted from the Governor's peremptory dismissal of Mr. Cameron, when the case was called this forenoon; and he lost no time in announcing his decision. With his characteristic disregard of formal procedure, the judge did not permit the attorneys an opportunity of arguing the question at issue, or even of stating the case.

HARVEST HAND HURT SCORE OF TIMES

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Aug. 31.—"Hap" Davis, a harvest hand, who worked this season west of the city, is in the city after finishing the season with a thresher; and is telling the most unusual story of the year. He is a transient harvest hand and leaves tomorrow for Colfax to finish work in the Palouse country.

"Hap" started sewing sacks, but got the wrong end of the needle in his hand and had to go forking. A fractious team jerked the fork into his foot, and he was laid up two weeks. On the hoe down, in threshing barley, a forker dived a load in his face, and barley beard may cost him the sight of one eye. He then went to firing the straw burning engine, and when the glass in the water gauge blew out, he was badly scalded. He then, as a last resort took a roustabout job and the team ran away with him, dislocating his arm.

He has just about recovered from this last injury and hopes to finish the season.

HOP GROWERS WAIT FOR RAIN TO STOP

Every eye of the hop trade is upon the hop yards yards of the Willamette valley and western Washington. Rains have stopped picking and there are all sorts of reports regarding damage, but none can be confirmed.

According to Frank Johnson of the Seavey Hop company, the rain of Friday and Saturday did no more than passing damage to the yards of the west side and he still remains of the opinion that no more mold than a year ago will be shown.

Not a single transaction is reported in the market here and contracts are nominally continued at 18c to 19c a pound.

Picking is now general in California and no rain is shown there. In western Washington conditions are similar to those shown in the Willamette valley, but in the Yakima section the government reports good weather.

Dainty Dishes of the Papuans.

The Papuans eat extraordinary things. A particular delicacy is the white larvae of a beetle found in the decayed wood of a tree trunk. They split up the log with their mighty stone axes and cut up the fragments with sharpened shells in the quest of the larvae. Sometimes they eat them raw, but usually roast them first.

"There are two kinds of water tortoises which they like to eat, and rats, lizards, frogs and snakes and the eggs of crocodiles they devour greedily." Their meat is the wild pig, the wallaby and the cussowary, all of which they hunt with dogs—"Pygmies and Papuans."
