JOKING BIRDMAN DIES IN CRASH

HOWARD W. GILL OF BALTIMORE, KILLED IN CHICAGO EXHIBITION

MONOPLANE AND BIPLANE COLLIDE

Dead Aviator Had Premonition That He Was to Perish—Jokes With Friend Before His Death

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—Aviator Howard W. Gill of Baltimore, was fatally hurt on the Cicero aviation field tonight. George Mestach, of France, whose monoplane collided with Gill's biplane when they were participating in a race, 75 feet in the air, was picked up unconscious, but later he revived and his condition was found to be not serious. Gill died an hour after the accident.

At the hospital Mestach was able to talk. "I was going at top speed in my monoplane to win the 12-mile race," he said, "when looking behind, I saw Gill in his Wright biplane turning around a phylon and rapidly approaching me, a few feet below. I jerked my elevator, thinking to give him ample space to clear. I was unable to get a good view of just what was happening, but it seemed that Gill, driving straight ahead, hit my understructure."

Gill had a premonition of an accident. Just before he entered his machine and started he called to a friend to throw him a heavy oil coat which the man was bearing.

"I'm liable to bring back some blood on this," said Gill, with a laugh, as he slipped it on.

The friend jokingly remarked: "Gill is as safe in those machines as if in a bus on the ground."

To which Gill replied: "When you go up you can never tell when you come down."

Ten minutes later Gill's mangled body lay beneath the wreckage of a machine.

Seven Men Accused of Killing Gambler Rosenthal in Custody—Conversation Gives Clue

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—"Gyp the Blood" and "Lefty Louie," the missing gunmen indicted as two of the actual slayers of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, were found by the police tonight, living with their wives in a flat in Brooklyn. They were arrested by Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty and a squad of detectives and locked up. They will be arraigned Monday.

The two men had been occupying the flat since August 15 and were alone until last Tuesday, when they were joined by their wives, through whom clues to their whereabouts were obtained by the police.

The four were seated at tea when Dougherty and his men burst open the door of their apartment and with revolvers drawn ordered them to hold up their hands.

Neither of the men showed surprise. "Drop your guns. You've got us," said "Gyp the Blood" calmly.

"Give us a little time to get dressed, will you?" said "Lefty" with equal composure.

With the arrest of "Gyp the Blood" and "Lefty," whose real names are Harry Horowitz and Louis Rosensweig, the seven men accused of killing Rosenthal, of which Police Lieutenant Becker is the alleged instigator, are now in custody.

COUNTY FAIR TO BE BEST EVER HELD

O. E. FREYTAG WILL BE IN CHARGE OF EXHIBITION IN PAVILION

BAIBES SURE TO BE ATTRACTION

Samples Brought to Promotion Office Daily to be Used in Display—State Fair Exhibit Moved

That Clackamas County will have its finest fair at Canby September 25, 26, 27, 28 is assured. O. E. Freytag, who has charge of the pavilion, is sparing no pains to have the big building filled with products of Clackamas County. Mr. Freytag is well and favorably known throughout the County and many exhibits have been promised. Many fine products have already been brought to the office of the Oregon City Commercial Club on Main Street between eighth and Ninth Streets, where they are given the immediate attention of Mr. Freytag, who has charge of this building. Among those who have given exhibits for the fair are Mrs. Rains, of Bolton, who has brought a fine display of apples, which compare favorably with the Hood River apples. Mrs. Jacob Steiner, of Beaver Creek, who has brought in some needle work for the textile department at the fair; B. A. Anderson, of Maple Lane, has brought in a fine sample of Bartlett pears. These are only a few of those who have brought in products. The exhibit that was at the Oregon State Fair has been brought to this city. Part of this will be sent to Portland for the Land Show and the remainder taken to the County Fair at Canby. Among the big features of the Clackamas County Fair will be the Baby Show, which was one of the drawing cards of last year when several hundred babies were entered for prizes. Mrs. A. J. Lewis, of Maple Lane, who has charge of this attraction was in the city Saturday obtaining prizes for the babies that will strive to win them. There will be three judges selected on the grounds for this affair, all of whom may have to get out a life insurance policy before entering the platform. Clackamas County can boast of having some of the finest looking youngsters in the state, as two captured big prizes at the Oregon State Fair.

MRS. WILSON BURIED IN MOUNTAIN VIEW

The funeral of the late Mrs. Grace Wilson, wife of E. R. Wilson, who lives near the Burley & Stafford mill about three miles from this city, was conducted by Mrs. A. O. Freel of the Christian Science church of this city. The services were held at 10:30 o'clock from the residence of Mrs. Wilson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Loney, where Mrs. Wilson lived during the absence of her husband, who is employed at Bend, and who arrived here Friday night. The interment was in the Mountain View cemetery, and many friends of the deceased and family attended the services at the grave and cemetery.

Mrs. Wilson was born in Idaho, October 14, 1889, and was twenty-three years of age at the time of her death. She was married in Idaho, August 1907. She came with her parents and husband to Oregon City last October, settling near the Burley & Stafford sawmill. She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Loney, two sisters, Miss Ada Loney and Miss Neva Loney; her husband, E. R. Wilson, one daughter Dorothy, aged two and one-half years, her grandparents, Henry Loney, of Oregon City; Mr. and Mrs. Barrows, of Fraser, Idaho.

Mrs. Wilson had traveled a great deal for the benefit of her health.

HUSBAND USED WHIP WIFE, SUING, SAYS

Alleging that she and her four children were compelled to pick hops in order to live, Sarah E. Marks, through Attorneys Dimick & Dimick, filed suit Saturday for a divorce from John E. Marks. They were married in California, Mo., July 1, 1898. The plaintiff alleges that the defendant is addicted to the use of intoxicants and treated her cruelly. She avers that her husband has often tried to get her to mortgage a farm she owns in this county, which she refused to do. Plaintiff further alleges that while she and her children were working in a hop yard, September 3, 1912, the defendant with a large blacksnake whip in his possession came into the yard and attacked S. E. Marks, one of the plaintiff's neighbors. Circuit Judge Campbell issued an order restraining the defendant from interfering with the plaintiff or their children during the pendency of the suit.

MAN, FATALLY HURT, HAS RELATIVES HERE

J. W. Elliott, a pioneer of Oregon was seriously injured at his home at Monitor Thursday. Mr. Elliott was climbing into a wagon when the team ran away. He was thrown out of the vehicle. His nose left arm and right leg were broken. It is also thought he sustained internal injuries. His physicians say his condition is very critical. Mr. Elliott is a brother of Mrs. J. P. Apperson, of Parkplace, and a cousin of Mrs. M. J. Moreland of this city. He is sixty-one years of age and has a wife and several children.

MISS GOLDSMITH HEAD OF GYPSIES

The Gypsies met Friday evening at the home of Misses Helen and Bessie Daulton, of the West Side. Arrangements for the coming winter, were made and officers elected. The officers are, President, Miss Zida Goldsmith; Secretary, Miss Aimee Bollock; Treasurer, Miss Helen Daulton. The next meeting will be held in about two weeks when a theater party is planned. Misses Daulton served refreshments during the evening, and the decorations were of red geraniums.

The members of the club who attended Friday evening were Miss O'Malley, Miss Ciss Pratt, Miss Goldsmith, Miss Aimee Bollock, Miss Deas Kelly, Miss Marjorie Caufield, Mrs. M. D. Latourette and Mrs. L. A. Morris.

BADGERS DO WELL WITH DAIRY RANCH

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Badger of Beaver Creek, were in the city on business Saturday. They are owners of a dairy ranch which they have named Sunny Knoll Jersey Farm. They have some of the finest registered cattle in the state, one of the cows being "Lady Bess." Three calves have arrived at the Badger home in the past three weeks. "Lady Bess" is a great-grandmother and she has been a great credit to the ranch. "Dollie Dimple," "Old Betsy," "Betina," other cows on this dairy ranch, are proving money-making cows. The average of "Old Betsy" is about 40 pounds of milk a day.

If you saw it in the Enterprise it's so.
