BIBLE STUDY IS ATTRACTIVE THEME

(Communication)

How is the Bible inspired? Conciderable interest has been shown in a series of Bible Studies inaugurated at the Congregational Church last Thursday evening. The leader proposes to take up the practical but fundamental questions that any intelligent person will inevitably ask who attempts seriously to tudy the Blble. This evening the subject will be "Inspiration." How is the Bible different from other books? What is meant by "divine authorship?" Is there any real difference between its quality and that of any other 'inspired' work of genius? From the earliest times there have been theories of inspiration, some of them very curious. What does the modern Christian believe about the Bible? Is it essentialilly different from the sacred books of other religions like Mohammedan-ism and Buddhism? Is all the Bible inspired alike or are some parts su peror to others? The class is held every Thursday evening at 7:30. Strangers are cordially welcome at any or all of these meetings.
