Tailored Suit of Serge Presented in the drawing above is a chic little tailored suit for the first cool days. The perennially popular navy blue serge was the material used for this. It shows the coat with high waist line, with shawl collar and wide revers of self-tone silk, and a peplum with cutaway lines in front and lapping in the back where it is trimmed with silk covered buttons. The skirt has a long tunic which follows the line of the peplum in both front and back. This is also trimmed with the buttons while the underskirt is plain.

THE OSTEOPATHIC PRIMER A Second Cause of Disease—Undue Muscular and Other Contractions In the same way that parts of the skeleton will slip out of correct position and interfere with nerves and blood vessels, so will unnatural and long continued contractions and congestions of muscles and their coverings of skin and fascia obstruct nerves and blood vessels. And so will contractions of ligaments. Like-wise displacements of cartilages which are pads between bones, all act to produce disturbance, disease. Did stop to think that "disease" means you ever stop to think that "disease" means bad or faulty order, absence of ease in running of the human machine. Exposure to cold, a fall, may cause undue contraction of the muscles, thus abnormal pressure on the nerve is the result. Supposing this to be the case with a nerve to the shoulder. Pain in any region, we may now conclude, may be due to a pressure on the nerve supplying the region. Pain is also caused by a nerve receiving a deficient or perverted blood supply. Now, how can the pain in that shoulder be relieved or cured? Not by taking medicine; that is a makeshift, a temporary relief. Let us rather by a mechanical manipulation remove the pressure on the nerve, be it caused either by a contracted muscle, or a slight variation in the position of one or more of the vertebra. Isn't that more rational? It certainly is. Unobstructed circulation means health. This, then, permits a second osteopathic derivation, namely: If all obstructions to the flow of the body fluids such as the blood, the lymph, and nerve force have been removed, Nature will restore the region affected to health. The natural tendency of a disease is toward the normal. That is why health is restored when you remove the cause of disease.—Osteopathic Health.

(To be Continued.) WHY DON'T YOU TAKE BETTER CARE OF YOUR HAIR! Don't let it turn grey. Don't let the Dandruff get a foothold and start the hair falling out. It's not natural that young women should have thin grey hair that they cannot dress becomingly. It should always be natural-colored—luxuriant—full of life and radiance—free from ugly grey hairs and annoying Dandruff. Nature intended that a woman's hair should be one of her chief attractions. Why not help her to keep it so? USE HAY'S HAIR HEALTH
