The Catlike Fox.

The fox is an excellent mouser. He will lie and watch for a field mouse in the long grass like a cat, pounce upon it, kill it with a bite and lay it on one side until he has caught another and another, when, picking them all up, as many as he can carry in his mouth, he will canter away with them to serve them out to the cubs.

GROWERS OFFERED

In a limited way as high as 18c a pound is still being offered for hops in the Oregon markets. While only nominal business has been reported at any price recently, demand for real good quality ic keen, although most of those who grew this quality had already contracted prior to the opening of the season.

None of the better quality hops are pressed upon the market at the pres-ent time. The only real weakness in the situation just now is the stuff that would almost be unsalable when best stuff is quoted around 12c Much of this poor quality is now being offered, but dealers in lower grade recently have been for speculative purposes.
