GIANTS AND SOX BATTLE IN VAIN

(Continued from page 1) easy stride. His alert eyes quickly summed up the vast expanse of the battlefield, where any long hit meant either three bases or a home run. The field at Fenway Park is much deeper than that at the Polo grounds. The day dawned gray, with a stiff wind sweeping down on the field from the northwest. This presaged cold weather. The Boston Speedway boys began practice work at noon. The Boston fans were quiet but confident. At 2:08 when the game started, there were few vacant seats, the attendance of women being particularly large. McGraw sent Willie Matthewson and Marquard to the side lines. A band appeared in the grandstand rousing up the Boston fans to a high pitch of enthusiasm. An automobile was presented to Manager Jake Stahl from the Boston fans. Mayor Fitzgerald, wearing a high silk hat, made the presentation speech. Then Captain Wagner was presented with a silver bat.

The club will commence its fall and winter work immediately.

CLACKAMAS COUNTY APPLES IN DEMAND

The apples grown in this county this year are attracting attention and the merchants who are handling them state that the growers are taking more interest in the fruit and in the packing than ever before. It is believed that Clackamas County can produce as fine apples as those of Hood river. Many varieties are being brought to this market. Many of the growers are complaining of the scarcity of pickers. R. S. Coe, of Canby, is hiring women to pick his crop this year, there being a scarcity of male help. The women are filling the bill, and some of them are picking as many as the men formerly did. Mr. Coe has had 300 bushels picked and will have at least that many more. The grape season is at its height and Concord grapes are bringing a retail price of 1 1/2 cents a pound. Never before has the grape market been better supplied than at the present time. The grapes are large and delicious and are finding a ready market as California grapes. This week will probably end the peach business. Those being brought here now are mostly from The Dalles. The peach crop this year was larger than for years. The lowest price quoted by the merchants was 49 cents a box. Tomato plants were somewhat damaged by the recent frosts, but tomatoes are still being brought to the market. Some are green, but they are ripening in the boxes. There is a good demand for good tomatoes, which are ranging from 45 cents to 50 cents a box. The flour market is stationary, but there are indications of an advance in price, as some of the mills in the valley are closing owing to a scarcity of wheat. The wheat was damaged by the heavy rains that prevailed throughout the valley during the latter part of August and the first of September. There is a scarcity of eggs in the market, and those that are being brought in are selling at retail for 49 cents, the whole lot price being from 35 to 38 cents a dozen. The vegetable market is well supplied daily with fresh vegetables for which there is good demand.

Prevailing Oregon City prices are as follows: DRIED FRUITS—(Buying), Prunes on basis 6 to 8 cents. HIDES—(Buying), Green hides 6c to 7c; salted dry hides 12 c to 14c; sheep pelts 30c to 85c each. EQUAL SUFFRAGE CLUB MAY BE ORGANIZED

A cordial invitation is extended to all Oregon City residents to be present at the Methodist church tonight at 8 o'clock, following prayer meeting. Miss Ethel E. Griffith will speak on Equal Suffrage and if enough favorable sentiment is evidenced, an organization will be effected to further the movement in Oregon City.

YOUNG WOMEN FORM NEEDLEWORK CLUB

A club was organized by several young women Monday evening at the home of Miss Hazel Francis. The club will meet every other week, and devote several hours to needlework, and playing cards. There are about twenty members, and the first meeting on Monday evening was most enjoyable one. Refreshments were served by the hostess. Vocal and instrumental music, cards and needlework were the features of the evening.

Heart to Heart Talks.

THE GREATEST DISCOVERY.

Can you name, offhand, the seven wonders of the ancient world that you knew so well as a schoolboy? Try it. There were the Egyptian pyramids, the Colossus of Rhodes, the hanging gardens of Babylon, the temple of Diana at Ephesus, and— Well, what's the odds? Those seven wonders were the work of slaves done under the lash, and millions mourned and died to make them possible. When it comes to an enumeration of the wonders of the modern world—that's different. The modern world has not only seven, but seventy times seven, wonders, all of which put to shame the curios of the ancients. Recently a scientific magazine asked 1,000 eminent scholars and scientists of the whole world to select the seven modern wonders. This was the result: Among the 700 answers wireless telegraphy comes first with 244 votes; next the telephone, with 186 votes; then radium, 165; antiseptics and anti-toxin, 149; spectrum analysis, 126; the X ray, 111; the Panama canal, 100. Wonders indeed, but there are others. There's the electric light. Realize the worth of that discovery which has reduced crime, insured safety, banished ghosts, promoted order and social up lift. Then note this fact: The wonders of the modern world have not wrought suffering, but have relieved pain and advanced the well being of the race. The antitoxin which saves one child from death by diphtheria is worth more than the pyramids. And the greatest of these? It is not named at all. It is not of invention, great as that is. The greatest wonder of the modern world is a moral discovery. And that is— The dawning consciousness of the brotherhood of man! This age, which has builded asylums and homes and refuges, and founded countless societies for practical charity this age, in the tendency of its thought and feeling, in the framing of its laws, in its demand for social welfare, is beginning the work of real Christianity—twenty centuries after it was founded. This age is beginning to understand what the ancient world never could understand—that the most valuable thing in the universe is a man.

To Cure Snoring.

"At a banquet," said an editor, "I once heard Jerome K. Jerome make a speech on snoring. I remember that it ended with these words: 'To cure snoring it is advised that a piece of soap, be dropped into the mouth of the snorer. The oil in the soap will lubricate the pharynx and other Latin parts of the throat. This remedy must be applied with caution; otherwise the snorer will arise and lubricate the floor with the person who dropped in the soap.'"

The Best Light at the Lowest Cost

ELECTRIC LIGHT is the most suitable for homes, offices, shops and other places needing light. Electricity can be used in any quantity, large or small, thereby furnishing any required amount of light. Furthermore, electric lamps can be located in any place thus affording any desired distribution of light.

No other lamps possess these qualifications, therefore it is not surprising that electric lamps are rapidly replacing all others in modern establishments.
